Tus river and harbor bill gives $300,-000 immediately for the mouth of the Columbia and $1,000.000 on the continuing contract plan.

The state committee of the populist party has resigned and the party has been officially adjudged a corpse. Now for something new in the line of political parties.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY found the memhers of his cabinet entirely acceptable and has asked them all to continue in 34 pounds neutral lard, 37 c per lb $1 32 the service of his official family.

FEW men have reached the standing of the late Wm. M. Evarts, as an attorney, or left a greater impression on the jurisprudence of the country. A man of strong mind, high legal attainments and unswerving devotion to his duty and his country.

THE house and senate have agreed and for d law at its recent session which came to Oregon in search of timber land. They met an agent who showed them a fine piece of property near Roseburg. The property was not for sale, but the agent induced the visitors to make a filing. They supposed they were getting the land shown to them, but in reality, the land they filed upon, was several miles away, on the top of a mou tain. As the visitors paid the agent for his trouble, they have bought some new experience

THE PURE FOOD LAW.

At last the people of Oregon are to have some relief from the adulterations and decoctions that have been sold in imitation of tood products. So skillful have the counterfeiters become that the market has been flooded with all kinds of bogus things. The fact that these vile mixtures ruined the health of those who were unfortunate enough to consume them, mad_ no difference either to the makers or the dealer . The commercial spirit that leads to the art of grave robbing for profit, knows no limit in the manufacture and sale of adulterated food products. The statement can safely be made that but little pure food is sold anywhere in the state of Oregon. The farmer, when he attempts to market his products can find no sale, for the reason that cheap adulterations have crowded out the pure food from the farm. The law of supply and demand no longer relates to the products of the farm, but is confined to the poisonous mixtures made in imitation of the genuine article. The other day in Portland State Food and Dairy Commissioner Bailey seized a ton and a half of oleomargarine consigned to a dealer. The farmer cannot sell his butter in competition with the stuff that is made by the Armour Packing company at Chicago at a cost not to exceed six and a half cents a pound. The New York state commissioner of agriculture has prepared a statement of the cost of oleomargarine, which is as follows:

27 pounds ole oil, 3½ per lb...... 84 12 pounds cotton-seed oil, 4e per lb. 48 18 pounds milk, 1c per lb 18 81

proceed to the white house, and the time had come for the marching boats to move. Column after column of the uniformed ranks swung into position. At the head rode Major-General Francis V. Greene, grand marshal, surrounded by his brilliant array of mounted aids and staff officers. Back of them rode Major-General Brooke, chief marshal, with line on line of staff officers. Heading the rank and file of the military divisions came Major-General Ludlow and another showy group of officers. The rain kept pelting down, and the great coats of the officers were turned up around their cars. Leading the first brigade marched the gray-coated cadets from West Point, and after them the naval cadets from Annapolis

The top of the president's carriage was covered, and he was quite concealed from the public gaze. Senators Hanna and Jones of Arkansas, and Representative Cannon entered the carriage with him. The vice-president was accompanied on his trip by Senator Spooner and Representative Dalzell and McRae. It was 2:30 when they took their place in the parade and the procession, which had straightened out, started fairly for the white house. The rain ceased falling as the presidential party turned into Pennsylvania avenue at the Peace monument.

passed the bill reducing the war revenue stamp tax. The reduction amounts to about $41,000,000 and takes the stamps off checks, notes, contracts etc. This is a sufficient answer to the claim of the democrats that the tax had come to stay.

THREE is a tendency in certain quarters to find more or less fault with Representative Hedges for casting his vo'e for John H. Mitchell for United States senator. There is not the slightest doubt that Mr. Hedges had the best interests of the state at heart when he used his vote to elect a senator. As a man of good judgment he no doubt comprehended the situation. As a democrat he undoubetedly would have preferred the election of a democratic senator. There is not a sensible voter in the state who will not commend his course in deciding to cast his vote with the majority rather than to see the state lose a representative in the United States senate. Mr. Hedges has proved to all thinking men that he is not an in all dining-rooms where such process is obstructionist. Not being able to elect a man of his own political faith, he cast his vote for a candidate who is able to distinguish himself among the best statesmen of the entire country. It behooves Mr. Hedges to pay no attention to his critics, for he did his whole duty to his constituency and to the state at large.

THE TIMES AND THE YOUNG MAN.

Whenever a rich man dies, a man who has risen from obscure poverty to great wealth, it is a common thing for young men to say : "Oh, yes, he started when with nothing when he has good health, and believes in frugality and honesty. He has everything that has made thousands of men useful, honored and happy, There is no condition of mind so fatal to a young man as that which puts him out of sorts with the times in which he lives. The most useless men in the world today are the unsuccessful loafers who regard the riches of others as an insult to themselves. The young fellow who has anything in him never stops to regard other people except as he can learn from them. He has no time to abuse the methods of others. That is a practice he leaves to the loungers who kick their heels at station platforms, or rural groceries, or corner groggeries. It is the chief greatness of America that a there were lots of chances.
