THE LOCAL NEWS.

OREGON TIMBER EXHIBIT.—The Oregon timber exhibit for the Buffalo Exposition is already going forward. It will consist of a sugar pine tree 225 feet high, 325 years old and seven feet in diameter. There will also be a solid piece of fir, three feet square and 75 feet long. There will be other samples of timber which are supposed to be the finest that can be gathered anywhere in the world.

PURE FOOD CRUSADE.—Food Commissioner Bailey proposes to enter on his war against fraud sometime about May 1. As nearly everything sold in grocery stores is a rank counterfeit, he will have to turn the groceries wrong side out before he purifies them. When he tackles the "pure Vermont maple syrup," there will probably be an explosion. His action will be looked forward to with a good deal of interest.

TO WELL DRESSED MEN.—For a long time the residents of Oregon City have had no local tailor of Caucasian blood to make their clothes. They had a gentleman of Mongolian tendencies, but nobody has been particularly stuck on him. Joe Knowlton sr., of Sacramento, Cal., a tailor of wide experience and good skill has located in Oregon City and asks the patronage of men who like to be well dressed. His shop is opposite the Enterprise office.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.—The infant son of Philipp Bucklein, who lives at Third and Madison streets met with a peculiar accident last Sunday afternoon. The little fellow, who is about 18 months old, had secured a pocket knife and was playing with it. He fell and the knife blade pierced his tongue. Dr. Strickland was called and dressed the wound. Philipp Bucklein is a machinist and works for one of the paper mill companies.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE C. FENIMORE.—The funeral of George C. Fenimore took place last Friday. Fenimore died from consumption. He was a professional baseball player and injured himself while pitching. By violent exertion he brought on hemorrhage of the lungs, which resulted in his death. Owing to his long and expensive illness his wife is left in destitute circumstances. Those who have kindly motives toward the deserving will not fail to appreciate the helpfulness of the sorrowing widow.

SUIT IN ATTACHMENT.—G. A. Heinz & Co., the grocers, have begun a suit in attachment to collect the sum of $58.65 for groceries delivered to J. M. Eccleston, Jesse Sheberd and Adam Sheberd. Heinz & Co., allege that the defendants are cutting wood for the paper mills. The woodcutters bought groceries for two months without paying for them and in order to protect themselves the grocers have attached the money in the hands of the paper mill company. The action is in the circuit court.

SEVENTH STREET BAKERY.—Joseph Kurten, the Seventh street baker has sold out his business to Herman Schrader. The latter is well known as the boss baker for Heinz & Co. Mr. Schrader understands his business thoroughly and as Oregon City is big enough for two bakeries there is no reason why both of them should not prosper. Mr. Schrader will endeavor to give the residents of the hill district the very best bread, cakes and pies that he can turn out.

OLD PROSPECTOR DEAD.—Somebody has asked what becomes of the old mining prospectors who spend their lives in the mountains looking for hidden treasures. One of them died at Clackamas Heights the other day. It was James Ryan, and he was 76 years old. He had tramped over the mountains for years and came from California to end his days in Clackamas county. Sol Walker was his friend because Sol's father knew Ryan in early days. Ryan lived alone in a little cabin in Clackamas Heights. Last Sunday night he went to bed and never got up again. An inquest was held Wednesday at Holman's undertaking rooms and the jury brought in a verdict that Ryan died from natural causes. He was buried in the city cemetery.

HOWARD FAMILY TROUBLES.—Almost the last act in the matrimonial drama of D. W. Howard and his wife Emma, became a part of the justice court record a Canby this week. It is not so many years ago that the credit of D. W. Howard was as good as that of any man in Clackamas county. His wife was careful and industrious. Together they raised a family and saw them happily married. It was then that D. W. Howard, instead of gaining wisdom with his accumulated years, seemed to lose all the good sense he ever had. The property vanished, until now there is nothing left but about $200 worth of farm machinery. This week the once happy husband and wife were quarreling for the possession of the remnant of their wasted estate. Mrs. Emma Howard claimed the farm machinery and had it stored. D. W. Howard obtained a search warrant and took the machinery. Before Justice Herman Lee, of Canby, the case was tried. Attorney William S. U'Ren, of Oregon City, represented Mrs. Howard. He convinced the court that the trial of property rights was beyond the jurisdiction of a justice of a peace. The machinery was returned to Mrs. Howard on the order of the court.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Regular Meeting of the Clackamas County Teachers' Association.

The March meeting of the Clackamas County Teachers' Association was held in the school building at Mount Pleasant, Saturday, March 30. It was called to order at the usual hour by Superintendent Zinser.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Superintendent Zinser opened the program with remarks on the Library Association, urging the need of a good library. The matter of the time of holding the annual institute was also introduced by the superintendent. Considerable diversity of opinion existed.

M. Hyatt gave an interesting address on "Animals of Clackamas County," beginning with the cat family and dwelling on the habits and peculiar traits of each family. "The study of nature is most fascinating," said he, "growing in interest, as ones powers of observation are trained." The subject was discussed by Prof. Zinser, and Mr. Andrews.

The afternoon session was called to order at 1:30 by President Zinser. The following discussion took place:

"Resolved, That the present district system of schools be abolished."—Affirmative, T. J. Gary, Ara McLaughlin; Negative—Gegore Strickland, Robert Ginther.

Mr. Gary favored the plan of combining about five districts, with one board of directors, establishing a primary and grade schools; pupils past the seventh grade to attend the central school to be located near the center of the "combined" district. He believed that this plan would systematize the work and give better and more uniform results.

M. McLaughlin followed on the same lines. He believed that at present, teachers have too many classes, to be able to accomplish the desired results. He thought the new system would not increase expenses but rather have the opposite effect. Mr. Strickland and Mr. Ginther believed the present system the best that could be evolved at the present time.

Superintendent Zinser spoke in favor of the new system, explaining that the greatest good to the greatest number could be attained in that way.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery gave a delightfully interesting and instructive address on "trees." He said a text for a sermon on trees would be "The tree of the forest is man's life." He dwelt on the necessities of forests, showing that the government should protect them, to preserve the present climatic conditions. Children should be taught to plant and care for trees, and shrubs, on the school grounds, "a thing of beauty is a joy forever" said he.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Montgomery for his address, by the association. Mr. McArthur's pupils added much to the enjoyment of this occasion, by carefully selected songs and recitations. A vote of thanks was offered to the good people of Mount Pleasant for the royal entertainment provided for the Association.

On motion the Association adjourned to meet again in April. BERTHA M. GIBSON.
