IS NOW ON HIS WAY

President McKinley Begins his Journey to the West.

HE IS GREETED BY OVATIONS.

Party Will Arrive on the Coast and be Entertained at San Francisco and Portland.

Last Monday morning President McKinley and his party left Washington for a trip to the Pacific coast. The President will stop for a week at San Francisco, and be entertained at Portland.

PRESIDENT ON THE WAY.

Names of Those Who Are Traveling
With the President.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—There was a constant stream of callers at the white house today. Most of them called simply to say goodby to the president, who will leave here Monday for his long trip to the Pacific Coast. Secretary Cortelyou has sent to each member of the president's party a handsomely prepared itinerary of the trip. It is in the form of a booklet with a handsomely embossed cover, and contains in addition to a map showing the route to be taken by the party, the names of the members of the party, the day and hour of arrival and departure at each point, the population and elevation above sea level of cities at which stops will be made, and many other interesting facts, including the names of the railroads over which the train will travel, the distance between points, etc. The longest distance to be traveled without a stop is from San Antonio to El Paso, Tex., a distance of 624 miles.

The members of the party will be: The President and Mrs. McKinley, Miss Barber, Secretary Hay, Mrs. Hay, Postmaster-General Smith, Mrs. Smith, Secretary Long, who will join the party en route; Mrs. Long, Secretary Hitchcock, Miss Hitchcock, Secretary Wilson, Miss Wilson, Rear-Admiral George Melville, Secretary Cortelyou, Mrs. Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Barnes, Dr. P. M. Rixley, Mrs. Rixley, Henry Scott, of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco; Lawrence L. Scott, Charles A. Moore, Mrs. Moore, M. A. Dignan, J. Kruttschmitt, fourth vice-president of the Southern Pacific; L. S. Brown, general agent of the Southern Railway; six newspaper men, three representatives of three illustrated weeklies, and several white house stenographers and attaches.

The Start From Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The train that is to carry President and Mrs. McKinley and their party on their long excursion across the continent and back made its start today precisely on schedule time, over the Southern Road.

Before 10 o'clock many people had congregated about the station, and when the President and Mrs. McKinley arrived, about 10:30, the building was thronged and many persons were congregated on the outside. There was a cheer as the president's immediate party drove up to the station, and a great demonstration of affection and regard as the head of the Nation and his wife made their way through the crowd to the train. Mrs. McKinley leaned upon the arm of Dr. Rixley, and both she and the president smiled in response to the greetings which met them at every step. They were accompanied to the train by numerous friends and many persons distinguished in the affairs of the Nation. Mrs. McKinley found the drawing-room of the private coach which she and the president are to occupy beautifully decorated with roses and other flowers. Seating herself beside a window facing the crowd, she continued to smile and bow to acquaintances until the train moved out. The president took his position on the rear platform of the Olympia, beside Secretary Hitchcock, hat in hand. Promptly at 10:30 the train started upon its 10,000-mile journey. The crowd cheered enthusiastically and waved a goodby. The demonstration was continued until the train left the environments of Washington, the crowd extending well to the city limits.

First Day of Travel.

BRISTOL, Tenn., April 29.—The first day of the president's long tour to the Pacific Coast lay through a historic section in Virginia, across the valleys of the Rapidan and James, in sight of the homes of Madison and Jefferson, up past the peaks of Otter, so dear to the heart of the Virginian, into the picturesque Blue Ridge mountains. The Tennessee line was reached at 10:55 tonight with the arrival of the train at Bristol. The presidential party received a flattering ovation from the time the train left Washington. Large crowds assembled at every station, the countryside and crossroads each had its little group of watchers straining their eyes to catch a glimpse of the Chief Magistrate as the train whirled by.

Second Day of the Trip.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30.—The presidential train passed through the heart of Dixie today and at 4:30 this afternoon reach Memphis, on the banks of the Mississippi. This was the first resting place of the tour. After descending the mountains last night the train today skimmed along through Northern Alabama and the valley of the Tennessee river and loathed at Corinth, Miss., where General Grant worsted Forrest in his campaign to cut the Confederacy in two. The fresh, green Southland, with its fruit trees in blossom and its infinite variety of wild flowers in the fields and forest, was a great change from the backward spring which the party had left behind at Washington.

On to New Orleans.

MEMPHIS, May 1.—At 1:30 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning the presidential train resumed its journey for New Orleans, which will be reached at 4:30 this afternoon.

DEATH OF LESLIE COWING.

Well Known Young Man Passes Away
at a Portland Hospital.

Died, at the Good Samaritan hospital, Portland, on Thursday, April 25, Mr. Leslie Hobart Cowing. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cowing and was born at Alexandria, Minn., June 25, 1871. He lacked but two months of completing thirty years of life. It is almost twelve years since he came to Oregon with his parents. His school life was early interrupted on account of frail health. While but a boy he gave evidence of ability as a painter. It seems certain that a splendid career lay before him, had he but entered the artistic life. It was his choice, however, to be a telegrapher and as such he was known for his painstaking and conscientiousness. He had the distinction of opening the first Western Union office on Main street. Subsequently he filled important offices elsewhere. About three years ago he went to Astoria to enter the employ of a fish packing company. While there he made a host of friends. Later on he went to Anacortes, Wash., where he served his employers with great ability and fidelity. About a year ago he went into the cannery business himself. In the short time he lived to be at the head of this business, he gained success in spite of many difficulties. On January 12th of this year he was taken to the hospital where one week later he underwent a severe operation. He was stricken with tuberculosis of the peritoneum. From the first, the gravity of the case left but little hope of recovery.

Mr. Cowing was married June 26, 1895 to Miss Fannie Gray of Portland, who survives him. The funeral services were solemnized at the home of his sister, Mrs. Frank DeParcq, Portland, Sunday afternoon, the Rev. J. E. Simpson officiating, assisted by the Rev. A. J. Montgomery. The interment took place at Greenwood cemetery.

Rarely does a young man pass away who will be more missed than he. He was faithful in every charge. To his friends he was staunch and loyal. His employers valued him for his great worth and trusted him as they did few persons. His whole life was beautiful and will be a pleasant memory to his friends in years to come. He was a devoted member of the Episcopal church, to which he has been attached since boyhood.

TO THE EDITOR:—The following lines are sent as a birthday tribute to the writer's father, now a resident of Oregon City.

TO MY FATHER.

Eighty-three! Life's bell hath tolled,
But not yet with funeral note;
Each year its pages hath unrolled,
Nor lacked a joy near or remote.
Each day hath seen thy duty done,—
Zealous thy work in Freedom's cause,
E'en when slavery in its power
Ru'd o'er our land with tyrant laws.
What'er thou deem'd was Right and Truth,
All Error's vile, besotted crowd,
Reeking with blood of ruined youth,
Never could drive thee from, though loud
Each clamoring hound sought thee to fright.
Rum-born, lust-bred, hell's crew!—In vain
They tried to stay the march of Right—
Thy pen the light of truth made plain.
Eighty-three! past fourscore years,
With all their freight of joy and woe;
'Midst all their gladness and their tears
It hath been thy favored lot to go;
Not with weak and timid tread,
As of those who at shadows start,
But as one, who with naught of dread,
Hath borne through life a manful part.
And so may these, thy waning years,
Bear peace and love upon their wings;
And to thy heart shall come no tears,
But thou shalt hear a voice that sings
A song of triumph over death,
Of victory o'er the yawning grave,
And with a peaceful dying breath
Return to Him who being gave.

GIRL IN MALE ATTIRE.

Arrest of a Young Woman Who May Have Been Abducted.

Last Sunday afternoon there came to Oregon City a poorly dressed man about 45 years of age. His appearance was anything but prepossessing. With him was what appeared to be a boy, but which afterwards proved to be a girl dressed in boy's clothes. They went to the boarding house kept by F. M. Wells. M. Wells did not like the looks of the couple, and so refused to give them entertainment. They then visited the Cliff house and registered as "Wilson and son." They remained there Sunday night and then started south. Chief of Police Burns learned that a man accompanied by a young girl dressed in boy's clothes had stopped at the Cliff house, and pursued them. Chief Burns wanted to identify the girl to see if she was the missing daughter of Samuel P. Hockett, of Condon Oregon.

Chief Burns overtook the couple a few miles out of town and placed them under arrest. They had started to walk up the valley and did not explain where they were going. The officer brought them to Oregon City and locked them in the city jail. Neither will talk very much. The man claims to be hard of hearing but gives a poor imitation of a deaf man. The girl says her name is Cora Fletcher and that she was born and raised in Grass Valley. She says the man is her husband and that they were married at Vancouver Wash. A telephone inquiry at Vancouver elicited the information that no such marriage was performed.

If the girl is the daughter of Samuel P. Hockett, of Eastern Oregon, she has much to answer for. In appearance she is about 15 years old with short dark hair, blue eyes and fair complexion. She is slender and athletic in build. Her dissipation, coupled with a rough life, have robbed her of all modesty and refinement. In November, 1899, the 13-year old daughter of Samuel P. Hockett left her home at Condon in Eastern Oregon, 40 miles from Arlington. She went away in company with a man who had worked for her father. The man had three separate and distinct names. They were Charles Raymond, Charles Upton and Frank Smith.

Shortly after the girl left home her mother became insane and was taken to the asylum at Salem. The father started out to find his daughter and has been traveling ever since. He got trace of his daughter at several places, only to lose it again. About three weeks ago he was in Oregon City making inquiries. He left for Clatskanie. Being always on the move it has been difficult to find him. It is expected however that he may be located. In the meantime the prisoners will be kept at the city jail.

When Wilson was arrested he tore up a piece of paper and destroyed parts of it by putting them in his mouth. From the mutilated paper the following address has been deciphered: "Meeker Wool, Humboldt, Kansas."

The Oregon City Transportation Company is building a fine new steamer for the Oregon City route exclusively. The boat will be ready for service about the middle of May.

Leslie H. Cowing, son of Captain T. F. Cowing, of Oregon City, died last Thursday in a Portland hospital at the age of 29 years. The funeral took place in Portland last Sunday.

Last Saturday evening, April 27, occurred the wedding ceremony of George Warren and Miss Bernice Tufts. The Rev. A. J. Montgomery performed the ceremony at the parsonage. Mr. Warren is employed in the paper mills and Miss Tufts is an estimable young woman from near Oswego.

The south-bound local passenger train on the Southern Pacific ran into an open switch at Parkside last Friday afternoon at 4:40 o'clock, derailing the locomotive, but causing no other damages. The switch had been left open by a crew of bridge carpenters. The train was delayed two hours by the accident.

At the meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners last Friday evening, it was shown that the monthly revenues from the water works amounts to $800. Eighteen patrons refused to pay their rent and the water was shut off. Reports were received from an analysis of the river water, both filtered and unfiltered.

The executive committee of the Yamhill County Pioneer association at their meeting last Monday selected Hon. C. B. Moores of Oregon City as orator on the occasion of the annual meeting of the pioneers this year. The place of meeting, however, was not decided upon, but will be announced later.—Yamhill Reporter.

Miss Florence Newman, who has been a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism, says Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only remedy that affords her relief. Miss Newman is a much respected resident of the village of Gray, N. Y., and makes this statement for the benefit of others similarly afflicted. This liniment for sale by G. A. Harding, druggist.
