C. Blakley, of Portland, had a narrow escape from drowning. He, with a companion named Jones, were fishing near the old hatchery, but were about 100 yards apart. Blakley, who was wading the stream, stepped into a chuck hole and went in over his head. He cried to his companion for help, who immediately came to the rescue, and after great difficulty saved him from a watery grave. Blakley could not swim and considers himself lucky in being pulled out of the stream alive. Owing to the warm weather the past week the Clackamas has risen considerably. As the water is very muddy, fishermen who cannot swim are taking great chances in wading a swift stream like the Clackamas. A large assortment of trimmed hats to select from at Mrs. H. T. Sladen's. SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Fiftieth Anniversary of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Saturday, May 25, will be the 50th anniversary of the establishment of St. Paul's church in this city. The semi-centennial will be observed in a fitting manner and the ladies of the church will serve a collation on some evening yet to be selected during the week following the date of the anniversary. There will be addresses by some of the older members of the parish, by Bishop Morris of the Oregon diocese and by Col. John McCracken, of Portland, who was formerly a communicant of St. Paul's. On next Sunday the rector, Rev. Phillip K. Hammond, will preach on the progress of the church in Oregon in the fifty years past, and on the Sunday following his sermon will be a review of the work in this parish during the last half-century. St. Paul's church was established by St. Michael Fackler, who was its first rector. The first Episcopal church in Oregon territory was Trinity, of Portland, established May 19, 1851, by Rev. Richmond and Rev. Fackler. Services will be held to commemorate the occasion at that church next Feb. in Portland. Trimmed hats for 50 and up at Mrs. H. T. Sladen's.
