St. Paul's Church Celebrates Its Semi-Centennial.

COL. JOHN MCCrackEN PRESENT.

Interesting Ceremonies in Willamette Hall Attended by Many Invited Guests.

St. Paul's Episcopal church commemorated its 50th anniversary Sunday.
The services in the morning were solemnized by holy communion, it being Whitunday. At the 5 o'clock service the sermon was devoted to the history of the church in the half century just passed.

Monday evening 200 invited guests assembled in Willamette hall and listened to an interesting program, after which they sat down to an elaborate collation prepared by the ladies of St.
Paul's Guild. The tables were hand-somerly decorated with roses by The Daughters of the King.

The program opened with an anthem, "Praise Ye The Father" by the choir of St. Paul's. The rector, Rev. Philip K.
Hammond then introduced Col. John McCracken, of Portland, who talked for half an hour in his usual happy vein.
His address was replete with reminis-cences of the past and was listened to attentively by the large audience. He told of coming from California to Oregon by ship and landed in Astoria in October.
He went on to Portland where there was one hostelry called the City Hotel.
There was a ball in the hotel the evening of his arrival, and being unable to sleep he joined the dancers. Next day he started for Oregon City on a bateau and reached Milwaukie at dark and in the morning he walked the rest of the distance. Oregon City at that time was a more important place than Portland, the territorial capital being located here, but the population was largely confined to Main street and on the hill a thick forest reached to the edge of the bluff.

About six months after Col. McCracken came, the Rev. St. Michael Fackler arrived and held services in a hall that was used as a meeting place for the First Territorial legislature. On May 25, 1851, Rev. William Richmond, formally organized the church and Rev. Fackler was its first rector. Col. McCracken said that he was not a churchman when he arrived here but became a communicant later. General Edward Hamilton and Dr. John Fackler were chosen as wardens, and the vestrymen selected were Dr. A. H. Steele, Dr. Anson Dart, William Buck, General A. L. Lovejoy, the first supreme judge of Oregon Territory, and John B. Price, afterward father-in-law of United States Senator, John H. Mitchell. A baptismal record among the church archives shows that Rev. St. Michael Fackler administered the rite of baptism to James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McKinley, on December 1, 1847. Mr. McKinley was chief trader of the Hudson's Bay Company. There are records of other baptisms until the parish was organized in 1851, one week later than Trinity Parish in Portland. Mr. Fackler was in the habit of walking in from his country home to church but Mr. McCracken denies the Oregonian's report that the reverend gentleman came into town with mud on his surplice. He may have said that Mr. Fackler had muddy boots but he did not wear his surplice on his journeys. Col. McCracken resided here for several years and afterward went to Portland.

Mr. William Wright sang "Betsy Jane" and Miss Fairclough gave a recitation, after which Mrs. John Humphrys sang "If Only You're Willing that Cupid Should Go" and was heartily applauded.

Mr. H. L. Kelly made a speech on "Clergymen I Have Known," a topic adapted from Ernest Seton-Thompson's "Wild Animals I Have Known." Mr.
Kelly knew Bishop Scott and went down the line with comments on each incumbent. His talk was well received.

A solo "Day Dreams" was rendered by Miss Mary Conyers.

Mrs. Belle Sellwood, whose husband, Rev. John W. Sellwood was a former rector of this parish, made an interesting address. She came here in 1865 as a bride and the description of experiences she had to undergo were amusing.
Mrs. Sellwood is an interesting talker and at the close of her address was loudly applauded.

Mrs. Clark Ganong sang "My Dream of You," and Mrs. Cochrane read a paper detailing the work of the Guild during the past 27 years, all of which time she has been the secretary.

Judge George H. Williams made a short talk, which was much appreciated.
Miss Imogen Harding sang "Voices of the Wood" and was enthusiastically applauded but would not respond to an encore.

A solo by H. L. Kelly, "My Dear Old Wife and I," was so well received that Mr. Kelly was forced to respond to an encore. Rev. Simpson, rector of St.
Mark's church, of Portland, talked on the semi-centennial from a clergyman's standpoint and Anthony Noltner, editor of the Portland Dispatch, gave some humorous recollections.

The rector, wardens and church officers are to be congratulated on the success of the anniversary and on the fact that St. Paul's parish is flourishing and is in an unusually prosperous condition.

TWENTY-TWO GRADUATES.

Eighth Grade Class at Eastham School Receive Certificates Wednesday.

More than eighty people were present at the exercises of the graduating class of the Eighth grade Wednesday afternoon. The program, which was published last week, commenced at two o'clock, and the pupils acquitted themselves very creditably. The school room was prettily decorated with the class colors and motto, and roses were everywhere. Charles Albright and Dr.
Carl of the board of directors addressed the graduates and City Superintendent Wilcox made a short talk.

Clarence Green was presented with a copy of Irving's Sketch Book, by the principal, Prof. W. P. Mathews. During his eight years in the grammar school he has never been absent nor tardy, and the recognition of his faithfulness was approved by the audience. The graduates were: Charles Bell, Charles Bollinger, Evelyn Califf, Clarence Green, Milow Mack, Willie Myers, Carl Simmons, Arthur Staben, Norman White, Essie Block, Nettie Bradley, Georgia Graco, Estelle Gard, Nieta Harding, Geraldine McCown, Dolores Mead, Lennie Seeley, Rosa Strohmayer, Nellie Wood Wilkinson, Mattie Yoder.

Miss Case's Recital.

The recital given Wednesday evening at the Methodist church by Miss Mary Case, contralto, assisted by Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann, of Portland, soprano, and Mrs. L. L. Porter, accompanist, was fairly well attended by a representative audience of the music lovers of this city. Miss Case was never in better voice and her solos were heartily applauded. Special mention should be given to Rondegger's "Sleep, Dearest, Sleep." Miss Case sang two songs by Homer Norris, "Three Roses Red" and "O Mother Mine." Mr. Norris complimented Miss Case in Boston on her rendition of these songs. Her last number was received so favorably that she responded with an encore "Little Boy Blue."

Mrs. Mann was heard in two solos and sang a duet, Neidlinger's "Parting," with Miss Case. Mrs. Mann is so well known to the public that praise is superfluous. Her clear, full soprano was never heard to a better advantage.

The audience, while not near so large as it should have been, was an appreciative one. It is to be hoped that Miss Case will again be heard in recital. The program follows:

1. Judith.....Concone
Mrs. Mann.
2. (Three Roses Red) Homer Norris (O Mother Mine.)
Sleep, Dearest, Sleep.....Rondegger
Miss Case.
3. Parting.....Neidlinger
Miss Case and Mrs. Mann.
4. O, Rest in the Lord.....Mendelssohn
Miss Case.
5. (Scotch Melody).....Becker
Mrs. Mann.
6. (He Loves Me Not).....Barnes Night.....Neidlinger
(Morning).....Neidlinger

Doing Land Office Business.

Tuesday morning two small boys wandered into the postoffice and took a survey of the boxes through the glass fronts. The U. S. Land office box was full of mail and it looked good to the boys, so they stepped up to the clerk's window and asked for it. Quite naturally the clerk suspected nothing and supposing the boys had been sent for the mail, gave it to them. Now was the boys' opportunity for what they termed sport and they didn't do much to the letters.
One of them attends the Catholic school and two letters were given to the sisters and found their way unopened into the hands of Father Hildebrand, who delivered them to Register Moores. But the rest of the mail was scattered from the postoffice to the Barclay school building. A money order was picked up on the railroad track by the depot and strips of a check were found near the school house. Some of the mail has not yet been recovered and probably never will be. It is evident that the boys did not realize the seriousness of their wrong doing. They are children of good families and for that reason their names are withheld.

THE HEROIC DEAD

Memorial Day Fittingly Observed in Oregon City.

SERMON BY REV. E. S. BOLLINGER.

Schools Were Visited During the Week by Delegations From G. A. R.

and Relief Corps.

Memorial day was observed in this city yesterday. Business houses and residences were appropriately decorated and flags were at half-mast. Hundreds of people were in town from the surrounding country. At 9 o'clock the pupils of St. John's and the public schools marched to the G. A. R. hall where exercises were held. Addresses were made by City Superintendent Wilcox, County Superintendent Zinser and Father Hillebrand. Meade Post was presented with a profusion of beautiful flowers by the children.

At 10 o'clock the procession was formed on Main street under the direction of Geo. Lee Harding and aids. First came the Park Place Band, followed by Company A, Third Regiment, O. N. G. in command of First Lieut. Leighton Kelly, Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps in carriages, and many citizens in carriages. The line of march was taken up to Shively's opera house where the exercises were held.
The following program was rendered:
Selection.....Band
Reading of Orders.....Adjutant Address.....Commander
Song.....Geo. T. Howard Prayer.....A. J. Montgomery Recitation—"Waiting for the Bogle".....
.....Miss M. Dolie Cross
Oration.....Hon. George C. Brownell Song—"Taps".....Miss Imogen Harding
The column then moved to Mountain View cemetery where appropriate services were held. Ritualistic work by the Grand Army Post was given and three volleys were fired over the graves by Company A. This closed the ceremonies.

Religious services were held in the Congregational church Sunday morning.
Rev. E. S. Bollinger preached on "The Nation's Acceptable Sacrifice." A solo, "Battle Hymn," by Lucius Vannod was excellently rendered and a male double quartet sang "United We Stand."

During the week the various schools were visited by committees from Meade Post and the Relief Corps. Canemah school was visited Monday. Exercises were held and addresses made by Commander Colbert, L. W. Ingram and F.
Bolo. Remarks were also made by Prof. M. S. Shock and R. C. Ganong, chairman of the board of directors.

Willamette Falls school was visited Tuesday morning, twenty members attending. Each one was presented with a bouquet of roses by the pupils, who sang patriotic songs. Speeches were made by members of the G. A. R., Principal M. O. Hyatt and Mrs. Schadle, of the Relief Corps. In the afternoon the delegates went to the West Side school where short addresses were made by Prof. Geary and others.

Wednesday morning many G. A. R. members visited St. John's Parochial school, where an elaborate program was rendered. In the afternoon they met at Parkplace school. Principal F. H.
McCann welcomed them, and patriotic exercises followed. Capt. E. H. Longley met with the Grand Army at Park-place.

Oregon City's New Transportation Line.

The new steamer "Leona" owned by the Oregon City Transportation Co., who for so many years operated the steamers Latona and Altona on the Portland-Oregon City route have had this boat built especially for the freight and passengers business between the two cities, and have faith enough to believe that with a low rate, enough business can be attracted by the river route to support a boat the year round.

The passenger fare will be 25 cents round trip and freight rates to meet all competition. The Leona will start May 30th on four round trips every day, leaving Oregon City at 7 and 10 a. m., 1:30 and 4:30 p. m.; leaves Portland 8:30 and 11:30 a. m.; 3:30 and 6 p. m.

"Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup," quickly secured a bottle of Quinine Lough Cure, giving her three doses. The croup was mastered and our little girl speedily recovered." - So writes Spafford, Chester, Mich. G. A. R.
