Beasons Why Animal Figures Are Rarely Seen on Persian Rugs. Prayer Rugs of the Mohammedans and Their Use-The Rugs of Sivas,

The designs of easters rugs are often the spontaneous outcome of the fancy of the weaver. Sometimes they are taught the design by an adult, who marks it in the sand. At other times a drawing of the rug is made on paper, the instructor showing her pupils the arrangement of every thread and the color to be used. When all this has been done, the pupils must make the reg without looking at the drawing.

Persian rugs excel those of other countries in artistic design us well as in harmonious coloring. The Persians seem to have a natural intuition in the use and blending of different shades, and in the designs that contain these certain colors they achieve the happier results. It is really wonderful what exquisite fabrics these people, born and reared in ignorance and poverty, produce.

The designs in Persian rugs are generally floral, and in some districts, especially Fars, the women weavers invent the designs, vacying them every two or three years. The Mohammedan religion does not allow any direct represcotation of animal forms, cometake floral, geometric and vegetable forms. The Shiah west of Moslems, however, numbering about 15,000,000. of whom 8,000,000 are Persians, do not regard representations of aulmuis as unlawful. By the industry of this see and that of infidels and of all who distoon regard the law of the Koran asimat 1000 forms are seen on some Persian rugs.

It is not lawful for a Moslem to pray on any place not perfectly clean, and unless such one has his own special rug he is not certain that the spot has not been pollured. With regard to the purity of the place of prayer Mohammedans are: specially careful when making their pligrimages, the rugs which they take with them having been preserved from pollution by being rolled up until the journey is begun or until the hour for prayer arrives. It does not matter to these followers of Mohammed how unclean a rug that is on the floor may he, because over it they place the pray-
