Oregon City now boasts of filtered water. It is not quite so good as Bull Run but the microbes are not there. Before the filter was placed in operation it was impossible to tell, owing to the water, whether microbes existed or not. But now there is no doubt. The water is clear and sparkling and looks good. The filter plant is running regularly and the people of this city are invited to call at any time and see the plant in operation. It is well worth seeing.

Cap Vickers, as he calls himself, was committed to the insane asylum yesterday by County Judge Ryan. He was arrested by the city police Wednesday morning on the charge of vagrancy and displayed remarkable signs of insanity. The examining physician says that the man has been on a protracted spree and is evidently suffering from acute alcoholism. He is destructive and violent and declares people conspire to kill him. He was born in Canyonville, Oregon and has a sister, Violet Keeper, living in Oakland, Cal. Sheriff Cooke took him to Salem last night.

STORY WAS A FAKE.

No Decision Has Yet Been Made as to Whether a Line Up the Clackamas.

President Harlbert, of the Portland City & Oregon Railway, says there is nothing in the report to the effect that his company decided to build a trolley line from Portland to Garfield, away out in the Clackamas County foothills. "Why, I never heard of that place until I saw mention of it in Wednesday's paper," said he. "We certainly have made no arrangements to build a railroad there."

"I may say, however," continued President Harlbert, "that we have been looking through the Valley of the Clackamas with the idea of finding a practicable route for a trolley line to the site for the proposed electric power station of the Oregon General Electric Company. We have spent considerable time in reconnoitering the country. But we find it a very difficult section for a railroad, and have not yet got a line that is at all practicable. If we shall find such a route we may build the line, provided the people along the way manifest a friendly spirit. But the more we examine the matter the more do difficulties come to light, and it is entirely too much to say that we have determined to build. It is quite possible that the country will be found too difficult for economical railroading, or that the people may show hostility to the enterprise, if engineering difficulties are solved."

"Many people are evidently misled into supposition that we will build a trolley line up the Clackamas from the fact that our electric power project is going right ahead. But that will go on regardless of whether there shall be trolley line extension or not. The two enterprises are entirely separate, though the same people are interested in them. We hope to extend the trolley line, but I must say the prospect is by no means so encouraging as we could wish.—Oregonian.

Albright & Logus have piano tickets.

25c BOOK SALE

We want to reduce our book stock before we invoice. To do it we are willing to sacrifice not only our profit but stand some loss. So we have grouped 500 books for 25 cent selling. Taking them from lines that are published at 40c, 50c and 75c; we have even included a few copyrights published at $1.00 to $1.50. Most of them are standard titles by the best known English and American authors, books of travel—history—biography—fiction—poetry. They are bound in strong cloth, many with gilt tops and are equal in appearance to $1.00 to $1.50 copyright books.

This is a rare opportunity for school libraries. This one lot only at this price—better make your selections early. And come prepared to buy more than one—for you'll want a shelf full when you see these values. Sale commences Saturday the 18th. See display in our window.
