THE LOCAL NEWS.

Big Day For U. S.—Last Friday, a week ago, Receiver William Galloway and Register C. B. Moores took in $4,000 at the United States land office at Oregon City. There were eleven cash timber entries made by parties from Dallas. The lands were taken up in 160-acre tracts and lie in Polk county.

CLARK CREEK CREAMERY.—It is learned from W. P. Kirchen, of Stone, that the Clark Creek Creamery will be ready for operation by the first of March. The plant will be run by the hand-separating and cream-gathering process. Each milk boiler, of whom there are 55, will have his own separator and the cream from the routes, one through Redland and Viola and one through Eagle Creek and Corvallisville, will be collected from day to day. The milk will be supplied by 250 cows, and the farthest call will be 15 miles from the creamery. The co-operative company was organized over a year ago, but owing to the difficulty of securing a sufficient number of cows within a working radius, the plant was never started up. By the plan adopted a plentiful supply of milk can be had.

WATERFISH PLANTED.—Field Superintendent J. Nelson Wisner, United States Fish Commission, until recently in charge of the Southern Washington districts, arrived in Oregon City Sunday and will make his headquarters here while looking after the interests of the fisheries in this locality. Mr. Wisner states that a short time ago 500,000 Whitefish fry were planted in Lake Squallishew, in Pierce County, Wash., and that Monday Messenger Leighton Kelly, was despatched from Oregon City with an additional 350,000. The intention of the Commission is to stock the land-locked lakes with these fish. Those that were planted last year are not far enough along to offer any thing definite as to whether or not the fish can prosper in these waters.

FRANCHISE NULLIFIED.—Oregon City won its suit in the Circuit Court last Saturday when Judge T. A. McBride handed down a decision in the case of Geo. Adams versus Oregon City. Adams had been previously tried and convicted in Recorder Bruce Curry's court, charged with running a street car through Main street. The city, represented by Hedges & Griffith and City Attorney A. S. Dresser, had contended that the ordinance granting the F. C. & O. Ry. Co. the right to run freight cars over Main street 43 years, had been improperly passed. That it had been read at only one regular meeting of the Council, when the Charter requires that there shall be two separate readings. The second time the measure had been read at an adjourned session of the council, which session, the City claimed, was not a regular meeting but a continuation of the old one. Judge T. A. McBride heard the case on a writ of review, and decided that the ordinance had been illegally passed, and that the defendant, Geo. Adams, was properly convicted in the Recorder's court. The case meant much to the railroad people and they were represented by able attorneys from Portland, associated with C. D. and D. C. Latourette, of Oregon City. It is understood that the case will be appealed.

MADE QUICK CAPTURE.—Sheriff J. J. Cooke and posse made the quick capture of a colored man, Henry Jackson, who escaped from the Albany Local train at New Era Saturday night while en route from Portland to the State penitentiary. Jackson made a bolt for liberty just as the train was pulling in to New Era, about 5 o'clock p. m. Handcuffed as he was, he jumped from the moving train successfully, lighting in a pool of water. Before the train could be stopped the fugitive had scaled the steep mountain that parallels the track at this point and hid himself among the thick woods. Sheriff Frazier, of Portland, was at once notified of the escape and that official immediately telegraphed to Sheriff Cooke to try and capture the colored man. Orders were given to watch the suspension bridge at Oregon City, while the Clarkamas authorities armed themselves and struck out for the scene of the escape. The different roads leading into New Era were patrolled, also the railroad track. Finally, about nine o'clock Henry Cooke, the sheriff's brother, met the negro walking along the road a short distance from Killen's place. He surrendered without offering any resistance and was taken to Oregon City where the Multnomah officers took him in charge for Portland.

WARRANTS RETURNED.—B. F. Linn, of Linn's Mills, who lost a batch of county warrants about a month ago, was surprised Tuesday night to find an envelope containing the missing papers in his postoffice box in this city. The envelope was not stamped, and there was nothing about the same to show the identity of the sender. The warrants had been procured from the county clerk December 20, 17 in all, valued at $411. Mr. Linn put them in his overcoat pocket, went home, and shortly afterwards was confined to his room with a spell of sickness. Subsequently his son wore the overcoat to a dance in Oregon City, and in some way lost them out of the pocket. Ernest Forbes found them the next day. He held the warrants for two weeks, intending to give them to Mr. Linn next time he should come to town. One evening about dusk a man passed by whom he took to be the rightful owner. Hailing him, he told how he had found the papers and handed them over to the supposed Mr. Linn. The man took the batch of warrants, looked them over and appeared glad to recover his property, and showed his appreciation to Forbes by handing him one of the warrants, of the value of $29.40. About a week later Mr. Forbes met one of Linn's sons, from whom it was learned that Mr. Linn had been sick in bed for three weeks. It was then known that the warrants had been given to the wrong person, and an attempt was at once made to recover the property. Advertisements were inserted in the Oregon City papers, and in the Oregonian, giving description by numbers of the warrants, and offering a liberal reward for the return of the warrants, in consideration of which no questioning would be asked.

BLUES WIN BOTH GAMES. The Play Was Rough But Full of Interest Throughout.

Last Saturday night was a lucky one for the Blues, they having won both games. The first game, between the Juniors, was won by a score of 13 to 7. The game was fast and close and not until the last five minutes of play did the Blues feel sure of a victory. The next game was between the Seniors and was won by a score of 24 to 7. This game started off with a great deal of roughness but was interesting from start to finish. The Blues took a lead from the start and for a while the Reds were unable to do anything with them. The Reds finally succeeded in scoring but it was too late. Towards the close of the game the Reds took a stand and had the contest lasted five minutes longer the score might have been in their favor.

For the Blues, Capt. Walter Muir and Paul Gantenbein, of the Juniors, played a fast and aggressive game. Norman White showed up good at guard, for the Reds. E. Williams and N. Humphrys held their own in a way that made the wearers of the Blue as well as the Red applaud often and long.

Last Monday the first team, consisting of A. Williams and H. Wilson, forwards, E. Williams, center, and N. Humphrys and W. Peters, guards, began practice for a series of basket-ball games to be played with Portland Y. M. C. A.

HOME TEAM WON. Best Battery A., at Indoor Baseball 24 to 15.

The Y. M. C. A. Seniors defeated Battery A., O. N. G., of Portland, at indoor baseball, 24 to 15, at the association hall Friday night. Following is the line-up; and score by innings: Battery A. Y. The game up to the sixth inning was spirited and interesting. From then on the Battery boys went to pieces and the home team easily won out. The attendance was unusually large and more money was taken in at the door than at any game of indoor baseball yet played.

Baseball and Basket-ball Tonight at Y. M. C. A. Oregon City will play Portland Y. M. C. A. at indoor baseball to-night at the association hall. This is the third game of a series of six being played between these two teams. Each team has a game to its credit and a good time is expected to-night.

Before the baseball game the local Juniors will play Portland Y. M. C. A. Juniors the third of their series of six games. Capt. Walter Muir, who was hurt in the first game between these two teams, will probably play to-night. He is welcomed by all of the Juniors as a fast and gentlemanly player. As both teams have to return on the 10:20 car, the Junior game will begin promptly at 8 p. m., so the baseball game can be played through.

FAVOR OLEOMARGINE. Woolgrowers' Association Resolves that "Colored" Butter Is All Right.

The Pacific Northwest Woolgrowers' Association are against the oleomargarine bill, as will be seen by the following resolutions passed at Helena: "Whereas, There is pending in congress a bill to compel the manufacturers of oleomargarine butter to refrain from putting coloring matter in the compound so that it looks like butter, under penalty of paying a heavy tax that would practically be prohibitory; and, "Whereas, If the said bill should become a law it would practically abolish the manufacture of this healthful and desirable substitute for butter; and, "Whereas, The use of oleomargarine among stockmen on the plains and in the mountains has been almost universal, and it is the only butter practicable for such use because of its keeping qualities; and, "Whereas, We believe that the addition of coloring matter to oleomargarine in its manufacture is harmless and adds greatly to the appearance and consequently makes it more palatable; and, "Whereas, The proposed legislation is vicious, uncal'ed for and class legislation of the worst kind, as it builds up one industry for another equally as meritorious; therefore be it "Resolved, That the Pacific Northwest Woolgrowers' Association most emphatically protests against the passage of the said bill, and that the members of this association are urged to write their members of congress and senators, demanding that they use their efforts to defeat such obnoxious legislation."
