- COUNTY TICKET. State Senator, GEORGE C. BROWNELL, of Oregon City. Representatives, C. G. HUNTLEY, of Oregon City. HANS PAULSEN, of George. HERMAN A. WEBSTER, of Clackamas. Judge, THOMAS F. RYAN, of Oregon City. Sheriff, J. R. SHAYER, of Molalla. Clerk, F. A. SLEIGHT, of Canby. Commissioner, WILLIAM BROSST, of Wilsonville. Recorder, HENRY E. STEVENS, of Milwaukie. Assessor, JAMES F. NELSON, of Mulino. Treasurer, ENOS CAHILL, of New Era. Surveyor, JOHN W. MELDRUM, of Abernethy. Coroner, R. L. HOLMAN, of Oregon City.

Enos Cahill, of New Era, was born in Tascarasaw County, Ohio, Nov. 25, 1845. His boyhood was spent on a farm and on January 5, 1862 he responded to the call of his country and enlisted in the 80th Ohio Infantry. After two years service Mr. Cahill re-enlisted as a veteran and served until August 25, 1865. He was under Rosecrans at Iuka and Corinth and with Grant at Vicksburg. He was transferred to the 15th corps and sent to Chattanooga and fought at the battle of Missionary Ridge. He was with Sherman in his march to the sea and was present at the Grand Review at Washington. During the war he was in every Southern state except Florida and Texas. Mr. Cahill came to Oregon in 1875 and took up a homestead near New Era, where he has lived ever since. He was born a Republican and has remained a staunch supporter of the party. Mr. Cahill is an active member of Meade Post, Grand Army of the Republic and of Lawton Command, Union Veterans' Union. He is respected where ever known for his integrity, and his ability to fill the office of treasurer of Clackamas County is unquestioned. On the day of election Mr. Cahill will roll up a nice, fat majority that will surprise even the most sanguine of his friends.

REPUBLICANS OF Clackamas County fail to understand why the semi-annual financial statement of the county which has just been issued shows that on April first Sheriff J. J. Cooke had in his hands $27,826.26 in cash applicable to the payment of county warrants and County Treasurer A. Luelling had $25,337.72 cash on hand for the same purpose. The total indebtedness of the county, according to the summary statement, is $183,080.58 while the resources are $83,047.24, leaving the net indebtedness only $102,063.34. Candidates on the fusion ticket are going all over the county and are making the assertion that the county is nearly $200,000 in debt, while the financial statement shows no such thing. Republicans argue that the sheriff has no right to retain such an enormous amount of money in his possession and should turn it over to the treasurer. This would place in the treasury of the county $32,663.98, which should be applied on the debt of the county to reduce the interest. The warrants drawn on the county treasurer and outstanding and unpaid amount to $169,815.42 and the estimated amount of interest accrued

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

CLYDE G. HUNTLEY.

Clyde G. Huntley, Republican nominee for Representative, was born at Orland, Ind., in 1867. He came to Oregon City in 1890, and shortly after his arrival purchased an interest in the drug store of E. G. Caufield, and about one year later bought the entire business. Four years ago he was elected a member of the City Council, and was re-elected in 1900 over strong opposition. Last June he was appointed a member of the State Board of Pharmacy by Governor Geer. Mr. Huntley is a life-long Republican. His strong popularity was attested at the county convention, when he was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 106 votes out of a total of 146, with 10 candidates in the field. His election is sure. Mr. Huntley's sound business sense will be shown in his vote on important measures in the next legislature. He is a quiet but effective worker and is a man that does not make promises unless he is certain of their fulfillment.

thereon is $15,265.16. Clackamas County expended $44,986.55 during the last six months, of which $26,551.03 was applied to the construction, repair and survey of roads and bridges.

In the question of voting for legislative candidates the people must remember that there is a senator to be elected by the next legislature. It is important that we have no more hold-ups. That the legislature elects a man to that important place that can work in harmony with Senator Mitchell in legislation is vital to this coast. The policy to be pursued in the Philippines will be shaped by this election and whether Oregon is to stand by the administration in saying to the nation: "We have a Republican legislature." This is more important than state or county ticket. We wish a senator that will look after the growing Oregon interest in the Oriental trade. To get this we must elect our legislative ticket in this county. It is a larger question than any man to be elected. It is a question that every farmer is interested in that wants to see the trade of this coast expand.

In voting for men to fill various places on the ticket the voter should be governed by the fitness of the aspirant for the place and the principles he represents. There is no question that a majority of the voters of this county are Republicans. If the question is one of politics, as to the doctrines and principles involved, this county would go Republican by at least 600. These doctrines and principles are very important when we take in account the Philippine question and that of the trusts. If it is a question of men, is there a single nominee on the Republican ticket that is not better fitted for the place he seeks than the man on the fusion ticket?

The total money in circulation on April 1, according to the Treasury figures, was $2,252,047,357, or $28.59 for each person in the United States. This has been doing pretty well, when it is remembered that July 1, 1896, before the Republicans came into power, the money in circulation was only $1,506,434,966, or $21.18 per capita. We refrain from making any remarks about Mr. Bryan and free silver in this connection.

WHAT IS it that holds the Citizen's ticket together? Nothing except a desire to get to the pie counter. One half of their legislative ticket is Republican and the other Democratic. If they have any principles to contend for one half will try and nullify the work of the other

ALBERT HECKART KILLED. Son of James Heckart, Formerly of this City, Victim of Car Accident.

Albert Lloyd Heckart, the 9 year-old son of James Heckart, a teamster, living at 818 Olive Street, was struck by a Lake Union street car directly back of his home on Howell Street between Eighth and Ninth Avenues at 12:07 o'clock on Thursday afternoon of last week and almost instantly killed. The accident occurred at Seattle. The Seattle Times gives the following account of the tragedy:

There was a crowd of little boys playing policeman on the street. All those who were playing the fugitive except the little Heckart boy had been caught. Francis Dulon was after him, the two boys running one after the other as the car was passing. Suddenly, it seems from the statements of eye-witnesses to the accident, the Heckart boy started to cross the street directly in front of the moving car. He was too late, however, and was struck, falling in front of the car. E. J. Etherston, employed in a grocery store on the corner, saw the boy just after he was struck and rushed to his assistance. As soon as the car was stopped, assisted by the other bystanders and the men in charge of the car, he removed the boy to the sidewalk and Etherston then ran to call Dr. Miles, arriving with the physician a few minutes after the accident happened. In the meantime the injured boy was removed to the home of his parents and he died there a few minutes after the arrival of the doctor and before anything could be done for him.

An examination showed that the fender had evidently struck him a hard blow on the back of the head, crushing the skull at the base of the brain. There were no other injuries found on the body. The one blow was sufficient to have caused almost instant death.

Dr. Coe, official physician for the General Electric Company, was also notified soon after the accident and he arrived after the boy had been dead but a few minutes.

The coroner was notified after the boy's death and Deputy Coroner Wiltse went to the scene of the accident and made an investigation. Later in the afternoon he subpoenaed the motorman and conductor, who told about the same story of the accident that secured from bystanders.

The body was removed to Butterworth & Son's morgue, where it will be embalmed for burial. It will then be shipped to the former home of the parents in Oregon for interment.

The street car was Lake Union No. 6, outward bound, in charge of Motorman John Schofield and Conductor Fred Spray. According to the statements of both bystanders and the men in charge of the car, it was moving at a moderate rate of speed, and the accident was unavoidable. E. J. Etherston, who saw the accident and assisted in caring for the boy, stated to a reporter for The Times that the car was going, if anything, at a slower rate of speed than is usual for street cars at that place. He said the motorman seemed to be slowing up to stop at the next crossing. The car was stopped within half of its length after the accident.

The Heckart boy was known to be near sighted, wearing glasses at the time of the accident to overcome this defect, and it is supposed he did not see the car when he attempted to cross the street.

The body was brought to Oregon City Saturday and taken to Highland where the interment took place. Mrs. Heckart, the boy's mother, is a daughter of the late Albert Harrington, who died at Highland several months ago.

Whooping Cough. Only One Way To Do It. A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby boy being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—Jessie Pinkney Hall, Springville, Ala. This remedy is for sale by G. A. Harding, Druggist.
