

CORRESPONDENCE

Our correspondents will please send in articles before Wednesdays of each week, otherwise it reaches us too late for publication.

Logan and Stone.

Ned Hutchins is erecting a barn and house on his farm.

Fred Gerber's new barn looms up very prominent on the landscape.

Miss Lydia Steinman, of Currinsville, is visiting Logan relatives and friends.

The Logan boys defeated the Oregon City boys in a game of baseball on Sunday last.

Carl Kirchem is walking with crutches again, the result of a lacerated foot, torn on a nail.

The upper Logan school gave an entertainment last Friday evening, for the school library fund. It was a success.

At the June school election T. P. McCubbin was elected director and W. W. Austen, of Grant County, hired as teacher.

Road work and gravel hauling is in progress now. They are putting some on the rock road in places. It will be an improvement.

Everybody is busy now. Farmers are wishing for some good hay-making weather. There is some complaint that the hay crop is short this year.

Messrs. O. D. Robbins, J. C. Sprague, Mrs. Fallert and others are having their silos filled with green clover. William Mumpower, of Stone, is running the ensilage cutter.

W. P. Kirchem thinks he has the best cream separator on the market. His is the DeLaval No. 2. Up to the present time it has made the closest skimming record of any other make in the county.

The patrons of the U. C. Creamery, received for the June payment for butter fat sixteen cents per pound or thirty-two cents per roll net, above the running expenses, which is a very good beginning. Long live the creamery.

On Saturday, June 21, Harding grange observed Flora, Pomona and Children's Day with appropriate exercises. The little tots had a good time. Flora, (Miss Lou Kirchem), read a paper on "Influence of Flowers on Character." Pomona, (Miss Emma Fallert), one on "Fruit." Some good vocal music interspersed with recitations, etc., concluded the exercises. A fine dinner was served to one hundred and twenty-five.

Viola.

It is not Viola grange, but Viola charge that is to hold a campmeeting. It will begin July 9 and hold over two Sundays. The Beck family, noted singing evangelists, will assist throughout the meeting. Everybody invited to come.

Last week Chas. Miller and wife went to Portland to attend the wedding of their son, Alfred.

Rev. J. W. Exon spent Saturday and Sunday at the Canby campmeeting.

Judge Phelps is at the point of death and is expected to pass away most any time.

Please excuse this scribe for not saying last week that we had a new comer in town, in the way of a fine baby boy at the home of C. G. Stone.

Our new mail carrier is on the route with a brand new outfit.

Olive Tenny has returned home from visiting her sister at Pioneer, Wash.

Mr. Hettman has just returned from Eastern Oregon, where he has been visiting his sons, John and Ed. Ed was

Your Hair

"Two years ago my hair was falling out badly. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and soon my hair stopped coming out." Miss Minnie Hoover, Paris, Ill.

Perhaps your mother had thin hair, but that is no reason why you must go through life with half-starved hair. If you want long, thick hair, feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor, and make it rich, dark, and heavy.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Rattlesnake Flags.

After the rattlesnake had been adopted as an emblem and had appeared on the flags of several of the colonies Benjamin Franklin defended the device on the grounds that the rattlesnake is found only in America; that all serpents' emblems were considered by the ancients to be symbols of wisdom; that his bright, lidless eyes signify vigilance; that he never attacks without first giving fair warning of his presence; that his rattles, while distinct, are so firmly joined that they cannot be separated without being ruined forever, and that as he grows older the rattles increase in number, as it was to be hoped the colonies would.

Indeed this idea was made use of in a flag device which represented a rattlesnake with nine joints, each joint lettered with red silk. The head was marked "N. E." (New England), the remaining sections "N. Y.," "N. J.," "Pa.," "Md.," "Va.," "N. C.," "S. C.," and "Ga." This curious standard was discarded for the one made by Mrs. Ross in Philadelphia in 1777, a flag similar to the United States flag of today, only with fewer stars.

Only Pursuing His Profession.

A Brooklyn magistrate recently had four darkies who were caught in a gambling raid before him. The first of the lot to be brought to the bar was an undersized man, with a conical face, as black as night. The dialogue between the magistrate and the prisoner created some merriment in the court.

"What is your name?" inquired the magistrate sternly.

"Mah name's Smiff," replied the darky.

"What is your profession?"

"I'm a locksmith by trade, sah."

"What were you doing when the police broke into the room last night?"

"Judge, I was pursuin' mah profession. I was makin' a bolt for the door."

"Officer," said the magistrate, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "lock Smith up."—New York Tribune.

A Matrimonial Inducement.

Algeroon—Ah, my dear boy, so glad to see you. And how is your suit with Miss De Rich getting on?

Augustus—Weally, my boy, I can't say that I've made much progress so far, but I believe I've hit on the right idea now. Do you see this dawg?

"Of course. What a delightful pug! Just like the one Miss De Rich admired, by the way."

"It's the very one, my boy. She went into ecstasies over it at the dawg show."

"Ah, I see. So you've bought it for her?"

"No, for myself."

"For yourself? What good can that do you?"

"Why, my boy, can't you see? Hal Jove, the dear girl will have to take me or lose the dawg, you know!"

What He Had Read.

An unlettered Celt's application to the Philadelphia court of naturalization resulted in the following dialogue: Judge—Have you read the Declaration of Independence?

Applicant—No, sir.

Judge—Have you read the constitution of the United States?

Applicant—No, sir.

Judge—Have you read the history of the United States?

Applicant—No, sir.

Judge—No? Well, what have you read?

Applicant—Oh have red hair on me head, your honor.

Too Regular.

"For ten years," said the new partaker at a boarding house, "my habits were as regular as clockwork. I rose on the stroke of 6. Half an hour later I sat down to breakfast. At 7 I was at work, dined at 12, ate supper at 6 and was in bed at 9:30. I ate only healthy food and hadn't a sick day in all that time."

"Dear me!" asked the deacon in sympathetic tones. "And what were you in for?"

An awful silence ensued.—Kansas City Independent.

What Ethan Allen Said.

A lecturer on the mistakes of history says that Ethan Allen did not utter at the taking of Fort Ticonderoga the ringing phrase associated with that event in the mind of every schoolboy. Instead of informing the British commander that he demanded the surrender of the stronghold "in the name of the great Jehovah and the Continental congress," he shouted, "Come out of that, you old rat!"

The Boundary Line.

A well known judge on a Virginia circuit was recently reminded very forcibly by his approaching baldness by one of his rural acquaintances. "Jedge," drawled the farmer, "it won't be very long 'fo' you'll hev to tie a string around yer head to tell how fer up to wash yer face."—Harper's Magazine.

The Modern Method.

"I am writing a story of a struggling inventor."

"It won't do," answered the abruptly critical friend. "Inventors don't struggle nowadays. They let the people who are eager to buy stock do the struggling."—Washington Star.

Your Biography.

Here is your biography in a nutshell: "Born, welcomed, caressed, cried, fed, grew, amused, reared, studied, examined, graduated, in love, loved, engaged, married, quarreled, reconciled, suffered, mourned and forgotten."

Plastered.

Harriet—Doesn't Julia use a good deal of face powder?

Jenny—Face powder! She ought to belong to the Plasterers' union.

CLOSING OUT SALE. ALL GOODS BELOW COST. Ladies' and Gents' Furnishing Goods. I only decided to close out a short time ago. I ordered Spring and Summer goods last Fall for 1901 and 1902, and they have just come from Eastern factories. I invite all the people of Oregon City and Clackamas County to see our new goods and new prices. An order will be surprised to see all articles marked way down. This will give you an opportunity to buy clean goods cheap. Come early and see what you want. What remains of the stock I will move to Portland. I rather sell below cost, so as to save trouble of packing goods elsewhere. Just one word about our shoes. Just from J. B. Lewis' factory, Boston. They are going out of business, and sold me an order and you can get the benefit of this. Call for J. B. Lewis shoes. The closing out sale of some stores is merely a scheme to get rid of old stock, but this sale is bona fide. I have already purchased a building in Portland, so I am unable to move there so as to save expense of rent and car fare. Do not fail to call. W. YAKEDA. CAUFIELD BUILDING. Main St., between 7th and 8th. Oregon City.
