The rainfall during the early days of the month of July was the heaviest ever known in that month at many points in Oregon.

The hop crop of Oregon in 1899, as shown by the United States census, was nearly 15,000,000 pounds, the average value being about 6 cents a pound.

Newspaper readers have been confronted during the past few days by glaring headlines, giving warning to Eastern Oregon and Washington farmers to be aware of the politicians.

APPEALS to the governor to call an extra session of the legislature continue to be made. A great many people in the state are heartily in favor of such an act, especially since there was so much said during the last campaign in regard to reducing state expenses.

COMPTROLLER of the Currency Ridgley has been in office since the first of last October, and during that period, almost ten months, only two banks have failed.

FAVOR TARIFF CHANGES.

Iowa is everywhere looked upon as the rock-ribbed republican state of the Union. But the republicans of that state while they believe in a protective tariff, they also recognize that in some lines the tariff can be so changed as not to even appear to help the trusts and monopolies.

It is safe to say that the people will find the republican party ready and willing to make any changes in the tariff, if any are found advisable, that will protect the people, hold the trusts in check and advance the prosperity of the country.

SPECIAL SESSION TALK.

Governor Geer Receives Resolution from Clackamas County Grange.

There has been little said of late regarding the special session of the legislature which it was thought Governor Geer would call before the regular session.

Resolved, by Highland grange, No. 261, P. of H., that His Excellency, Governor Geer, be urged to call a special session of the legislature for some convenient date before the regular session, for the purpose of considering the above mentioned propositions.

MEMORIAL DAY COMMITTEE.

Chairman Harding Submits His Financial Report.

At a meeting of Meade Post, No. 2, G. A. R., held in this city Monday evening, G. A. Harding submitted a report showing the condition of finances handled by the committee having had in charge the arrangements for Memorial Day observance.

"To the officers and members of Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R.—We, your committee, appointed to conduct Decoration Day ceremonies, have the honor to make this financial report:

CONTRIBUTIONS. Collected from citizens $49 00 Offerings by Methodist church 2 90 From Post fund 7 19 Total $59 00

DISBURSEMENTS. Paid Park Place band $30 00 Paid Rev. Robert McLean 5 00 Paid for hall 5 00 Paid Enterprise, printing 3 00 Paid W. H. Young, teams 16 00 Total $59 00

The $5 offered to Rev. Mr. McLean would be accepted by the reverend gentleman only upon the condition that he might be permitted to turn it over as his contribution to the monument fund, which was accepted and there placed. The post and citizens generally appreciate the kindness of Mr. McLean.

CAMPMEETING TABERNACLE.

Site for One May be Chosen Near Oregon City.

There is some likelihood that Clackamas county will have another large tabernacle, in capacity, probably equal to the one at Gladstone, to be used for campmeeting and convention purposes by the Willamette Valley Campmeeting Association, of the Oregon Conference of the Evangelical Association.

The officers of the new organization are: President, Rev. N. Shupp, presiding elder Salem district; vice-president, Rev. J. E. Smith, presiding elder Portland district, and Rev. G. W. Plummer, pastor First Evangelical church, Portland; secretary, Rev. P. J. Green, pastor Memorial Evangelical Church, Portland; treasurer, A. E. Weinert; executive committee.

Enough of the stock has been subscribed to permit the organization to go forward.

It is proposed to purchase not less than ten acres at some convenient point on the Willamette river and near the railway, where the tract can be easily reached from all points in the Oregon conference.

Such a site as is desired can be found between Oregon City and the Multnomah line, and the prospects are that a selection of grounds not a great ways from Oregon City will be made.

Tree Through Skull.

A pine tree growing through a human skull is the strange spectacle that has been brought to light near Brownstown, in the southern part of Josephine county. Brownstown is one of the pioneer mining camps of Oregon. Among the many miners who flocked to the gold-graveled streams of that district in the early days were a horde of Chinese. A number of these were killed by the whites or met death by disease and were buried in a group near Brownstown. Recently several Chinamen have come over from Happy Camp, Cal., to collect the bones of their fellow countrymen that lie buried along Sucker Creek in the vicinity of Brownstown. In opening the grave of one of these it was found that a pine tree had pushed through the decayed box in which the remains of the Celestial had been buried, and in doing this had passed through the eyeholes of the skull.

BIG LUMBER SHIPMENTS.

Oregon Has Exported 200,000,000 Feet in First Half of This Year.

Oregon lumber to the extent of fully 200,000,000 feet has been shipped from this state since January 1, this year. Of this amount 54,692,201 feet have gone by water, and about 150,000,000 by rail. Rail shipments have gone south and east. A little less than half the water shipments have gone direct to foreign ports. Besides this great volume of lumber in all forms—shingles, boxes, sashes and doors and sawed and round lumber—the local consumption has been large, and all the mills have been crowded to their full capacity to keep up with the demand. The lumber business of Oregon never saw such activity before.

The demand for timber land has kept pace with the march of the lumber industry, and comparatively little of the valuable forest land of the state remains free. The price of standing timber has advanced in keeping with the advance in sawed lumber. The mills have been able to pick their orders, for the Eastern lumber market has been eager to take everything turned out in Oregon. Washington has been similarly active in the lumber trade, and a correspondingly large volume of its timber product has gone into the world's markets this year. No sign of abatement in the demand can yet be described, and the whole lumbering fraternity is bumping itself to meet the most pressing general demand ever known in the Pacific Northwest. The general prosperity, great building activity and the waning supply of the East are factors that are materially increasing the profits of the lumbermen of this country.
