John Miller, a passenger on the Albany local train last Monday afternoon, had an experience which nearly cost him his life. Miller was coming from Portland to work on the section here for the Southern Pacific, and was riding on the platform of the car. As the train was rounding a curve near Gladstone, Miller's hat was blown from his head, and in attempting to recover it he lost his equilibrium and was burled to the ground. The train was stopped and Miller picked up and brought to this city. He was afterward removed to a Portland hospital where his injuries, which fortunately were not serious, will be cared for the company's physician.

The city council held a special meeting Water Power & Railway Company, to construct and operate a railway line on Third street and Main street, for the purpose of carrying freight and express matter. Discussion on the matter waxed quite warm for considerable time. The council resolved itself into a committe of the whole and discussed the ordinance section by section. President Morris and Assistant Superintendent Fields were present at the meeting. Many alterations were made in the proposed ordinance but final action was deferred until some time in the future, probably at the next regular meeting of

The marriage of two of Oreron City's popular young people was selemnized in Portland Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 466 East Sherman street, the contracting parties being Mr. Ernest Linwood Jones and Miss Erma La Mae Laurence, Rev. A. J. Montgomery officiating. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only relatives and a few intimate friends being present. The house was very tastefully decorated in green and white, the bride being attired in a charming gown of white organdie and wearing a tulle veil, carrying a boquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Anna Grace Samuels, of Portland, was dressed in green organdie, carrying a boquet of pink carnations. Mr. Herman K. Jones, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The public schools of Oregon City opened last Monday morning, when there was a rush among the young people for books and other supplies necessary for the term's work, and if the first day is a criterion, much will be accomplished during the term. As is always the case, things must be unsettled for a few days, but a thorough system controls the different schools and in each department things have already settled down to working order. The city superintendent, Mr. Faulk, has everything now systematized and the work will progress in a most satisfactory way throughout the very crowded but provision is being made for the future, and in this respect no trouble will be experienced outside of the crowded condition in Miss Foster's toom, in the Barclay school, and Miss at Shiveley's opera house next Wednes.
