DOCTORS IN CHINA.

They Feast Themselves Before They Physic Their Patients.

When a man in China becomes ill, his family sends for a doctor, and as no Chinese physician of established reputation will walk to a patient a carriage or a donkey must be sent to fetch him. As soon as he reaches the house he is conducted into the best room and is entertained with tea, brandy and sweetmeats; or, if he has come a good distance, with a meal of several courses. No matter how ill his patient may be he will not approach him until he has thoroughly refreshed himself in this manner.

When at last he goes to his bedside, he first asks the patient if he is still able to eat, and he next examines his pulse. After the patient has bared his entire forehead the physician places his finger on the pulse and for several moments does not utter a word. Sometimes only one of his fingers and at other times all of them are employed in this work. When he breaks his silence, he describes minutely the disease, which the patient is suffering and writes a prescription. Then the doctor takes his leave, proposing to call again if necessary. His service, as a rule, no fee for this service, but if he is a druggist he charges a large price for the medicine, or if he is not a druggist he receives a satisfactory commission from the one who prepares it. Moreover, the patient, if he recovers, generally gives him a handsome present.

Advertisement for Chronic Catarrhal Ailments Cured. Includes portraits of Rev. E. G. Smith and J. J. Rossman, and an illustration of the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro, Ga.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low stations, that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna a strong endorsement. Men representing all classes and stations are equally represented. A dignified representative of the Presbyterian church in the person of Rev. E. G. Smith does not hesitate to state publicly that he has used Peruna in his family and found it cured when other remedies failed. In this statement the Rev. Smith is supported by an elder in his church. Rev. E. G. Smith, Greensboro, Ga. 'I have used Peruna for several years and can heartily recommend it to all similarly afflicted. It certainly a grand medicine.'—M. Rossman. Catarrh is essentially the same wherever located. Peruna cures catarrh wherever it is found. I have used it and am convinced that it is the best medicine for the cure of catarrh. My wife has used it and she has been cured. My children have used it and they are well. My wife has used it and she has been cured. My children have used it and they are well.
