NOT SO MANY AFTER ALL.—A young lad by the name of Chester Keedy was arrested in this city one day last week by Chief of Police Burns, for escaping from jail at Corvallis. The young fellow with two other vagrants had committed an assault on a young fellow at Corvallis by the name of George Fleke, a student at O. A. C. Keedy had been imprisoned in the Corvallis jail but succeeded in making an escape and had come to Oregon City thinking that he would effect an escape by reaching Parkville and was making good progress toward his escape when the vigilant officer caught him and sent him back to where he came from.

MANIC AT LARGE.—Rioburn are out that a man has been seen out in the mountains about eight miles from Molalla, whose conduct indicates insanity. He has been seen several times by the people of that section and he acts all the time as if he were afraid of his life. He spends his time in a little out of the way hut. What he lives on is a mystery, as no one brings him food and he never appears at any of the country stores for supplies. A day or so ago people came into town and informed the sheriff about the queer actions of the man and if he continues long to remain in these parts, Mr. Shaver will make a trip into the mountains and bring the bad man to town.

TO LECTURE ON OREGON.—George H. Himes, secretary of the Oregon Historical society, will appear in Oregon City in the very near future and deliver a lecture on Oregon City and its very early history. Mr. Himes has been for a long time very deeply interested in Oregon City history and has collected much valuable information about the little city by the falls and his lecture promises to be of rare interest to the public. He will talk of Oregon City before it was any more than a few huts, before the white man and demonstrated his supremacy or set up his authority over the place. He has collected much choice data relating back to this antiquated period and all who feel an interest in the romantic part of the beautiful little burg will have a splendid opportunity to learn new facts. The time and place will be announced a little later when and where this address is to be given. It will be under the auspices of the Mothers' Club of this city.

PRESIDENT BROWNELL.—Hon. Geo. C. Brownell, of Clackamas county, was elected President of the Oregon Senate, over Dr. Andrew C. Smith, of Portland. The contest was close and exciting, with the odds against Brownell, for the reason that Smith had the solid support of the five senators from Multnomah county. But Brownell is a fighter, who has been elected three times to the Senate in the face of tremendous opposition, regardless of all sorts of calumny in some of the newspapers. No combination of politicians, in or out of his own party, with wholesome lying and slander, has been able to beat him at home where he is best known, and he always gets just about what he goes after in the Legislature, as he has on this occasion. He is one of the ablest of the politicians of Oregon, and has more grit and staying qualities than any of them. He is good natured, not to mention good looking, as his pictures in the papers show, obliging, kind and extremely devoted to his friends, who are numerous and powerful. Like men who have any success in business or politics, he has some enemies who have magnified his little failings and misrepresented him on all occasions. He has supported the referendum and nearly every measure in which the people generally are interested, but has seldom received any credit for so doing. His success is a striking vindication.—The Oregon State Journal.

DEATH OF CHILD.—Mary, the two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ottobell, died last Saturday at the parents' residence on Eleventh and Jackson streets, and the funeral occurred Sunday afternoon from the house. Rev. Mr. Grimm officiated and the remains were interred at Mountain View.

SERVICES NOT HELD.—Sunday last both morning and evening services at the Presbyterian church were dispensed with owing to the fact that Rev. Mr. Frank Mizell was ill and confined to his room. His illness not being serious, the usual services will in all probability be held next Sunday to which the public is invited.

IS IT A TROUT TRAP?—Constable Harry Moody made a flying trip to Needy Tuesday and arrested one Isaac S. Miller for setting up what the complaining witness, John Dickey, claims is a trout trap in Rock Creek. This kind of a contrivance, as everyone knows, is unlawful in the state on account of the fact that it gathers in almost all the fish in the stream, permitting none to pass. The defendant, Mr. Miller, came into Oregon City Wednesday and through his attorney, Grant B. Dimick, replied to the complaint with the answer that the trout trap was no trout trap at all but rather a fish ladder. Mr. Miller further alleges that there are no fish in this part of the stream at this season of the year, anyway, and that a trap of any kind cannot do any damage or injure the rights of other parties. The case will not be heard till next week and possibly not then, as the district attorney is now at Salem.

ADJUDGED INSANE.—One Fred Watkins was examined before the county court Wednesday for insanity, adjudged insane and sent to the asylum. He is a bad man and gave the men who captured him a hard struggle before they succeeded in subjecting him to their will. The man has been cutting up strange antics for a long time, has been living in a sequestered life, eating only occasionally and begging for what he then ate. The people in the Willhoit country where this strange man has been living for some time, have naturally been fearful of him, not knowing at what moment he might do some violence or commit some crime. When the boys demanded his surrender he resisted and undertook to use an axe and a butcher knife in self defense. Ernest Russell, who effected his capture, was obliged to shoot the man in the left arm to protect himself as Watkins came rushing at him with the knife and was about to do him harm. When being brought into town the man talked in a delirious way about the Masons and kept going from one subject to another, talking all the time incoherently and very foolishly.

A FINE LAW POINT.—A matter that has been of much interest to lawyers was decided by Judge McBride last Monday. In June, 1900, H. O. Jones procured a divorce from his wife, Catherine, and was given the custody of their daughter, Vera E. Jones, a child five years of age, his wife making no appearance in the suit. Last October Mr. Jones died and the grandfather, J. A. Jones, through his attorney filed a petition in the County Court asking to be appointed guardian of the child. Mrs. Jones, who has since married, filed a motion in the Circuit Court asking the court to modify the decree of divorce and award the child to the mother, thus ignoring the petition for a guardian entirely. Gordon E. Hayes appearing as counsel for the mother of the child. A spirited legal discussion was had in the Circuit Court upon the motion. Judge McBride took the matter under advisement for about ten days and rendered a decision holding that the Circuit Court still had jurisdiction of the child notwithstanding the death of the plaintiff in the suit and that the defendant had since married another man. Judge Hayes cited decisions which convinced the court that it had not lost jurisdiction of the child by the death of the father, although the opposite opinion has heretofore been entertained by Judge McBride.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

DEATH OF JAMES HART.—Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, James Hart passed away at his home near Arthur's Prairie, aged 88 years. The deceased leaves a wife and several grown up children. Mrs. Peter Neher and Mrs. Steve Green are step-daughters of the deceased. The funeral was held Wednesday and the remains were laid to rest at Arthur's Prairie.

AWINING GETTING OLD.—Many of our good people in Oregon City need to replace their old awnings with new ones, especially in the south end of town. Some of the awnings in front of the business houses are a sight to behold, are ragged and beset with dirt. This condition of affairs might do for a town where the business men are not strictly up-to-date but in the village where all the store buildings are attractive edifices and where the business men know how to do business in the front of their stores ought to be in keeping with the enterprising spirit of the men who run them.

ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.—J. H. Westover, editor of the Courier went to Salem Tuesday in company with Grant B. Dimick and was admitted to practice law in the state on the recommendation of Mayor Dimick. Mr. Westover has been for many years a law practitioner and the only requirement necessary for one in the case is to show his credentials and be recommended by some one familiar with his record. He declares that it is not his intention to practice law much but wants to be able to do so if the occasion requires it.

SPIRITED REVIVALS.—Rev. Daniel Shepardon and wife are holding a protracted series of gospel meetings in the Baptist church in this city this week and it is justice to this talented gentleman to say that never in the history of the church have such pleasing services been held. Mr. Shepardon is a man of fine talents, a speaker of great force and best of all is in every sense of the word a Christian man in deed as well as in precept. He is delivering a series of lectures every evening and every afternoon and the auditorium of the church has been well filled. These sermons will continue all this week and through next week to Saturday night. Mrs. Shepardon is a talented musician and her efforts together with her husband's are very effective indeed. The public is invited and no one will regret attending.

PROPERTY SOLD.—The desirable lot owned by W. B. Wiggins north of the Wiggins residence has been sold to A. Goetting, and already Mr. Goetting has commenced to erect a slightly eight-room cottage on it.

MOVED SHOPS.—F. A. Parker, the popular tonsorialist, has moved his barber parlors from the old Jagger building into the store room formerly occupied by Howell & Jones. The room has been divided by a partition making two rooms out of the one, and in the other department will be moved the firm of Cramer & Freytag, cigar makers. These rooms are considerable of an improvement over the old stands and an immediate increase of business is expected.

YOUNG DEBATORS MEET.—Tuesday night the Academy debaters met at the schoolhouse and held a roasting debate of the question of "Resolved that the reading of fiction is a detriment to students." The speakers on the affirmative were G. W. Rogie and Alvin Mack; negative Ivy Park and George Calif. The discussion was spirited and close and ended in a decision in favor of the negative. The time set for the debate with the Thursday Night Debating Club, of Portland, has not yet been decided, it remaining for the Portland club to arrange the same.
