McKITTRICK

"The Shoe Man"

Of Oregon City. Will Dispose of his Entire Stock of Boots and Shoes.

Sale will begin on Thursday Mar. 19th, at 10 o'clock a. m. and will continue until all goods are sold. We invite all our friends (and that means everybody) in Oregon City, throughout Clackamas County and in Portland; to attend this sale. All our goods are new and up-to-date. We will not quote prices here-but if you need anything in the shoe line within the next six months, it will pay you to buy now. We take this opportunity of thanking our many friends for their liberal patronage during the last 14 years. We are very sorry to have to break the many ties of friendship that has existed between us for so long a time—but deem it wise to extend our business to broader fields. Anyone finding themselves indebted to us will please call promptly and settle their account.

Any parties holding coupons had better use them once. Every boot and shoe in the house will be marked in blue-pencil figures—so you can see at a glance what the goods will cost you. A sample pair of every kind will be on an open table—so you can pick the shoe you want instantly. We will have a number of clerks on hand so that all can be waited on promptly. The earlier you come the more choice you have.

Please remember the date--
Thursday March 19th, 1903

Yours to Command,
McKITTRICK, "The Shoe Man"

H. W. CORBETT DEAD

The Wealthiest Man in Oregon Passes Away.

LEADER IN ALL PORTLAND EVENTS

His Career Has Been a Notable One—Done Much for the Northwest—An Old Pioneer.

CAREER OF H. W. CORBETT.
• Born at Westboro, Mass., February 18, 1827.
• Arrived at Portland, March 5, 1851.
• United States Senator 1866-72.
• Elected President Lewis and Clark Centennial January 31, 1902.
• Died March 21, 1903.
• Funeral from First Presbyterian Church, Portland, April 2, 1903

Hon. Henry W. Corbett, one of the best-known public men of the Northwest and of the state of Oregon, with which his name has been closely identified for a lifetime, died this morning. Although his health had not been the best for some time past, with that characteristic energy that had been his always, he was active in looking after business until within a few hours of his final disposition. Mr. Corbett's death at this time was entirely unexpected. The immediate cause was heart failure. He was conscious to the last, and expired peacefully, before relatives outside of the household could be summoned. The end came at a quarter to 7 a. m.

The public and business career of the late Henry W. Corbett is inseparably interwoven with every epoch of the upbuilding and settlement of this state. He is not only a conspicuous figure in financial enterprises, but has ably represented this section in the United States senate from 1867 to 1873.

Mr. Corbett was one of the builders of the state of Oregon and the city of Portland. That his heart was always with enterprises calculated to advance the greater interests of the state is revealed in the fact that he was a strong supporter of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, organized about a year and a half ago, to which he was the first subscriber in the sum of $30,000.

It was in this month, 52 years ago, that Mr. Corbett arrived at the village of Portland. It was composed of 400 people. On January 20, 1851, Mr. Corbett left New York on the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's line for the Pacific coast by way of the Panama route. At Panama he met the steamship Columbia on her way north to San Francisco and the Columbia river. Mr. Corbett landed at Astoria on this vessel March 4, 1851. At first and Oak streets he rented a small frame building and engaged in the mercantile business, having shipped a small stock of goods around Cape Horn for that purpose. His first enterprise here was to build the brick building which is now occupied by the firm of Corbett, Failing & Robertson, the wholesale hardware firm. Since the erection of this building, the city has grown to a vast extent, and a number of magnificent business buildings at various locations in the city stand today, appropriate monuments to his enterprise.

His attention was early turned to the improvement of the water transportation facilities first enjoyed by Portland. He was the first to advocate the construction of the Northern Pacific conventional railroad. While he occupied a seat in the United States senate, he labored long and earnestly for the consummation of this great project.

In the winter of 1865-66 Mr. Corbett secured the government contract for carrying the mails between Portland and Sacramento. The line, some 650 miles in length, he stocked with four-horse stages. He successfully continued in this business until his election to the senate of the United States in 1867, when he relinquished his contract with the government, holding his connection with the business of mail carrying incompatible with his duties as a public servant.

In 1869 Mr. Corbett, in connection with Henry Failing, purchased a controlling interest in the First National Bank, an institution that had been established in Portland four years previous to the time Messrs. Corbett and Failing first became its financial heads. This is today the oldest and strongest national bank in the Pacific Northwest. After his retirement from the United States senate Mr. Corbett became vice-president of the bank. Upon the death of Mr. Failing Mr. Corbett became the president of the institution, and he has filled his duties there without interruption.

Aside from the bank, there are a large number of business and industrial enterprises with which he has been closely connected, having been instrumental in organizing corporations to found them, and furnishing largely the means by which these institutions were inaugurated. He was a director of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company; he was largely in the Portland Cordage Works, one of the principal stockholders in the City & Suburban Railway Company, and other street railroads; also stockholder and officer in other banking institutions. Mr. Corbett and Mr. Failing were backers of the magnificent enterprise which founded the Portland Hotel, which has helped materially to give Portland a reputation among the world's globe trotters, for there is no finer hostelry west of Chicago or Denver.

Private enterprises have always acknowledged liberal support from the president of the First National. One of his first endowments was the gift of $36,000 to the erection of the Presbyterian church, and large sums within the past few years to various eleemosynary institutions.

Mr. Corbett was married first in February, 1855, to Miss Cara E. Jagger of Albany, N. Y. This lady died some years later, leaving two sons, the younger of whom, Hamilton F. Corbett, was carried off by a sudden illness in 1854. The elder son, Henry J. Corbett, died in 1894.

Mr. Corbett was married a second time in 1867 to Miss Emma L. Ruggles, of Worcester, Mass., a lady of rare worth of character and strong mental inclinations, whose grace and social accomplishments and whose prominent part in charitable affairs of this city has drawn to her a wide circle of friends, who universally esteem her most highly.

The immediate connections who survive the financier are: Mrs. Corbett, his wife; three grandsons, Harry Ladd Corbett, Elliott Ruggles Corbett and Hamilton Corbett, and Helen Ladd Corbett, his daughter-in-law.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF THE LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION.

On Wednesday Mrs. William Galloway organized the first club in this city in aid of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested, and the following officers were elected:

Mrs. George A. Harding, president; Mrs. S. M. McCown, first vice-president; Mrs. M. M. Charman, second vice-president; Mrs. W. S. U'ren, secretary; Mrs. Ernest Linwood Jones, assistant secretary; Mrs. Frank A. Sleight, treasurer.

A meeting will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Willamette Hall to perfect organization and appoint committees. One of the leading women in the work said this afternoon that before very long there would be 300 women in Oregon City as members of the club and helping in the work. The following women signed the charter list:

Mrs. J. C. Bradley, Mrs. J. W. Loder, Mrs. S. M. McCown, Mrs. M. M. Charman, Mrs. William Gardner, Mrs. J. R. Humphreys, Mrs. A. S. Dresser, Mrs. T. E. Traut, Mrs. W. S. U'ren, Mrs. Geo. W. Bibe, Mrs. F. A. Sleight, Mrs. May A. Waldron, Mrs. J. J. Cooke, Mrs. T. W. Fouts, Mrs. W. L. Block, Mrs. Mary A. Ingram, Mrs. J. J. Tingle, Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, Mrs. Ernest L. Jones, Mrs. T. F. Ryan, Mrs. George A. Harding, Mrs. Roswell Holman, Mrs. F. E. Weed, Mrs. Matilda Ganong Miller, Mrs. H. L. Kelly, Mrs. C. B. Frissell, Mrs. John Adams, Miss Zilpha Galloway, Miss Mina Kelly and Miss Amy Kelly.

Mrs. Galloway will organize clubs throughout the state, having been appointed for that purpose, and her selection was an admirable one, as she is awakening interest in her work. Mrs. Dye also made a short address on what could be accomplished. Mrs. Galloway has taken up the work and will visit the entire state.

THE PRIMARIES

The Fight Was Not a Very Vigorous One.

TWO TICKETS IN WARD NO. TWO

Fight Was in Ward No. 2, Where Henry Meldrum, Eli Maddock and L. M. Patterson strove for Supremacy.

Senator Brownell will probably have 100 out of the 103 votes in convention.
Clackamas puts up its usual fight with the result of C. F. Clark elected as delegate.
In Milwaukie precinct a fight was made on postmastership with H. E. Stevens elected as delegate.

The Republican primaries were held in all the precincts of the county Saturday and in most instances passed off without a fight. Senator Brownell will have probably 100 out of the 103 votes in the county convention, which meets in this city next Saturday. In ward 2, Oregon City, Surveyor-General Henry Meldrum, Ex-Sheriff Eli Maddock and L. M. Patterson put up a fight against the regular ticket, but were defeated by a vote of 4 to 1. In wards 1 and 3 there was no opposition. So little interest was manifested in ward 1 that the polls were not opened until an hour after the time set for voting. A heavy vote was polled in ward 2, which is Mr. Brownell's own ward. Here it is that many of the union labor men reside, and the vote shows that they lined up for the senator.

Down in Clackamas the usual fight was put up, with the result that Charles F. Clark was elected a delegate. Clark was a candidate for the legislature on the fusion ticket last June. It is expected a resolution will be presented to the county convention, asking that he not be allowed a seat in the convention, on account of his opposition to the Republican ticket at the last election.

In Milwaukie precinct a fight was made on the postmastership. Wisinger's friends worked against Brownell and won the primaries, though it is expected a majority of them will be for Brownell at the county convention. Recorder Henry E. Stevens is a delegate. In Abernethy precinct the Brownell forces won.

Mr. Brownell is not a candidate for congress, but he has never said that he would not be a candidate.

From the McKinley National Memorial Association.

Postmaster Horton has received from the McKinley National Memorial Association a limited supply of the certificates which have been prepared for distribution to contributors to the monument fund as souvenirs of their participation in that great enterprise. The certificate is a beautiful work of art on which is given an excellent reproduction of Mrs. McKinley's favorite likeness of her husband, together with a picture of the McKinley home in Canton and of the White House. The wording below the illustrations is as follows: "This certifies that _____ has contributed to the fund for the erection of the national memorial at Canton, Ohio, in honor of William McKinley." The workmanship and artistic effects are of the very highest order, the great house of Tiffany & Co., New York, being the designers and manufacturers. The supply in the hands of Postmaster Horton is a portion of the first edition of the certificates and is sent here to enable those who have not as yet contributed to do so, parties who have already identified themselves with the movement will receive souvenirs direct from the office of the association or through local committees.

Grange Meeting.

Clackamas County Pomona will meet with Maple Lane Grange Wednesday, the 8th day of April, at their new hall in Maple Lane, sixty rods east of school house. Come one, come all, and please remember to bring well filled baskets with you. If you can't come, send your basket along. We will guarantee you that it will be well cared for; grangers, generally, understand that part of the program, and can go through the ordeal without a manual-moose of them. This picnic feature is a new departure for Pomona, so let me repeat, don't forget your lunch. A special feature of the evening will be music, so don't forget your best girl, or girls; bring them by all means.
