WEEKLY REPORT OF CROFS.

Issued by Edward A. Beals of U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A few small showers occurred Sunday in the Willamette valley, but otherwise the past week has been dry, with temperatures averaging slightly above normal. The rains were insufficient to be of much benefit to late crops and pastures, which are now beginning to need rain quite badly. Feed is getting short on the ranges, and the supply of milk is decreasing in the dairy districts. Stock, however, continues doing fairly well, and cattle, as a rule, are in good flesh. An average second crop of alfalfa has been harvested in southern sections. There is some hay yet to be cut in the coast counties, but haying in general is now completed, with satisfactory yields in all parts of the state. The grain harvest is being pushed everywhere, and in the Willamette valley the yields are especially good, and in Eastern Oregon they are much better than expected, although not averaging as heavy as last year.

Spring grain ripened under favorable weather conditions, and the heads are well filled with plump berries.

The week has been favorable for hops, and although lice are more numerous than usual, the vines have not been injured to any extent, and the prospects are good for yields but slightly below those obtained last year. Corn has made good progress, and it is now tasseling and earing. Late potatoes and gardens need rain.

Prunes are not dropping so badly as they did the previous week, and this crop will be an extra good one. Bartlett pears are also very promising. Apples are quite uneven, and it is expected the yields will be less than the average.

MAY PAY MORE FOR PICKING.

Scarcity of Help May Cost Hopgrowers More to Pick Crop.

T. B. Jones, a prominent hopgrower residing near Brooks, was in the city recently in search of help with which to harvest his hops. The picking of the crop will begin between Sept. 1 and 5th. Mr. Jones says that while he does not expect to have any trouble to get the required number of pickers, he fears that growers will this year be obliged to pay more for the harvesting of their hops than they did a year ago.

Last year the prevailing price was 40 cents per box of nine bushels, but it is the opinion of Mr. Jones that a slight advance in the price of picking will this year have to be granted by growers since there is a scarcity of labor of all kinds. The price for picking hops this year will likely be 45 cents, while many growers may be obliged to pay 50 cents in order to insure the gathering of their crop.

"It's pure nonsense for a grower to expect to raise a good quality of hops without spraying," said Mr. Jones, in discussing the hop outlook today. "The expense of spraying is slight," continued Mr. Jones, "and the results more than justify the outlay. My yard this year will yield an average crop of an excellent quality of hops, while yards in the same district are infested with lice to an alarming extent. In fact, the prevalence of lice in Willamette valley yards is alarming, except where the grower has judiciously sprayed his growing crop. In spraying alone largely lies the salvation of the hop crop, and the sooner growers are convinced of this fact the better it will be for them in a pecuniary way."

THE REGULATOR LINE

It is a custom to apply fanciful titles to American rivers, mountains and lakes in simile to those of other countries. Thus we hear of "The American Rhine," "The Switzerland of America," "The American Alps," and so on, and here on the magnificent Columbia River, in all its wealth of scenery, we may find another Rhine. The towering snow-capped mountains, gorges, ravines, water-falls and even cataracts duplicate and even excel the famous scenery of Switzerland, and for the desire of being able to say "When I was abroad" thousands of Americans are willing to be ignorant of their own country in not seeing some of the finest scenery of the world as is here on the Columbia.

In a tour of the West it is the thing to do, and the one thing not to be missed—the voyage on the Columbia river between Portland and The Dalles—that is made in one day's daylight on board of the splendid boats of the Regulator Line, and the people of Oregon and Washington should make it a point to remind their friends that are coming from the East not to miss making a trip on this beautiful river.

Your ardent admirer makes the trip up and down both ways, on the boats, as it gives opportunity to pay leisurely attention to both sides of the river, and for the views ahead on the going and returning voyage. But the man in a hurry may go up on the boat, returning by rail, or vice versa, or the passengers west bound may leave the train at The Dalles and go down the Columbia river by boat to Portland.

The Regulator Line special excursion steamer "Bailey Gatzert" leaves Portland every morning (except Monday) at 8:30 to Cascade Locks and return, right in the heart of the Cascade Mountains, affording an excellent one day trip to view the magnificent scenery and also enjoy the exhilarating ride through the famous rapids of the Cascades, returning arrive in Portland about 7 P. M.

The round trip fare to Cascade Locks is $1.50, round trip to The Dalles $2.50, one way fare from Portland to The Dalles or vice versa $1.50. The meals are excellent and served on all steamers of this line.

GAVE HIM TAR AND FEATHERS.

How Hillsboro Citizens Rid the Town of an Undesirable Character.

The Hillsboro correspondent to the Oregonian had the following story in Wednesday's paper:

"D. J. Tromley, who alleges that he is a private detective from Michigan, was last night taken from the county jail by a crowd of twenty-five young men and treated to a liberal dose of tar and feathers. For some weeks Tromley has been stopping with a woman near the courthouse, and he has made himself very obnoxious to the ladies residing in the immediate vicinity. He first claimed that he was a cousin of the woman at whose house he lived, but later claimed that they were married.

"Tromley was dissolute and besides assaulting the marshal, one evening, he has threatened others with injury. He had also served two or three times for drunkenness. Tromley was wanted on a charge of disturbing the peace, as he had threatened the life of a citizen who was out of town, alleging that he would kill him upon his return. A message was sent to the house at which he lives early in the evening, and Tromley came down town accompanied by the woman. Upon reaching the business part of the town he was arrested and placed in jail.

"Later a crowd broke into the city hall building and, between 10 and 12, took Tromley out of jail, took him to the brick yard east of the town, stripped him and applied a liberal coat of tar, after which they made him roll over in a bed of feathers. Tromley begged for his life, the crowd having placed a rope around his neck before starting for the scene of violence.

"After he had been tarred, Tromley was told to leave and not return on penalty of harsher treatment. He went to the house of Charles Stewart, a bachelor, and begging admittance, was given coal oil with which to cleanse himself. He then disappeared down the track towards Portland."

A TRUE STORY.

How a Young Wife Regained Her Health and Beauty.

W. E. Birch, Afton, Va., an extensive fruit grower of that place, writes the following letter to the Peruna Medicine Co., or Columbus, Ohio. We print the letter in full:

Afton, Va., June 4, 1900.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—"The country is so flooded with patent medicines of every kind that are worthless and a humbug, that I for one, am glad to be able to say I have found one that is everything and more than is claimed for it.

"My wife was very much run down and out of sorts in every way. She had a pelvic disorder which left her very weak, nervous and no appetite at all.

"One day I happened to be at my father's store, S. A. Birch, Coresville, Alb county, Va., and noticed your medicine he had there for sale.

"I thought it might help my wife, so I brought a bottle of it home and within a week she commenced to eat and now she is hungry all the time and not half the medicine has been taken. We both agree that it beats any medicine to bring on an appetite and to put the nerves in good shape that we have ever had anything to do with. We had our family doctor to give her medicine and he did all he could, but she did not improve the least. She has consumption in her family and she was in such bad shape; so run down, nervous, weak, and could not eat, that I had begun to get very uneasy, but your medicine made an entirely new woman of her. I believe she eats and feels better now than she has for years.

"I have not the slightest doubt but that your medicine has saved her from a long spell of sickness, if nothing more. All my family had begun to get uneasy, but, of course, she did not know it and I have only just told her of it since she has improved so much. I had no idea it would do half what it has and don't think there is another medicine made that will begin to compare with it."—W. E. Birch, Fruit Grower, Afton, Alb county, Va.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
