GRIEF WAS CAUSE
Recent Arrival From Indiana
Takes His Life.
Saddened by Death of His Wife, I. N.
Loderback Shoots Himself At Cottrell.
Grief over the death of his wife a year ago, coupled with straightened circumstances, is supposed to have caused I. N.
Loderback, of Cottrell, Clackamas county, to commit suicide last Friday morning.
Loderback's body was found about 7 o'clock that morning in the engine-room of the saw-mill at Cottrell, where he was employed. A woman on the right side of the head and a .22 calibre revolver at the side of the dead man explained the cause of death. Coroner Holman was summoned from this city and held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict of death by shooting with a suicidal intent.
Loderback came to Oregon about four months ago from Indiana and located at Cottrell, where he found employment in the saw-mill. About a year ago his wife died and he grieved over her death continuously. He owned no property and was without funds. The only relative of the deceased in this state is a young child, the other members of his family residing in Indiana.

SALES OF OREGON LAND.
The Past Year Was the Liveliest On Record.
The state of Oregon witnessed the greatest activity in its history in the settlement and sale of its public lands for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1903.
The year broke all records, both as to the number of entries, the amount of lands disposed of and the cash receipts from sales, combined with fees and commissions collected at local land offices.
During the year just ended there were in all 18,744 entries made in Oregon, embracing a total area of 1,844,698 acres of land. The enormous aggregate of funds derived from sales, fees and commissions was $2,055,330, nearly four times the amount collected in 1902.
The unprecedented gains are apparent when these figures are compared with those of 1902, when there were but 11,792 entries in Oregon, covering 1,297,059 acres of land. In that year sales, fees and commissions amounted to $598,281.
The returns mean that the state of Oregon last year contributed to the neighborhood of $2,000,000 to the reclamation fund, or twice as much as the state contributed in the two years preceding, when it turned in more than $900,000.
The reclamation fund gets all cash receipts, with the exception of money for expenses of the land service, and the 5 per cent diverted to educational purposes.
Although figures, so far as available, do not classify the entries made in Oregon, the fact that over 18,000 new entries are reported is the best evidence that Oregon is attracting settlers in no small numbers, and home-builders and citizens of the desirable class are seeking out the state where they can establish homes under the most favorable circumstances.
There is a guarantee that the new settlers are desirable citizens from the very fact that all entries, particularly those of the first half of the year, were most carefully examined to determine whether the entrants were acting in good faith and in their own interests, rather than in the interests of others.

OREGON'S BIG TREE.
Its Lumber Will be Used in World's Fair Building—Salmon Fisheries Exhibit Full of Interest.
The largest fir tree in the world will supply a portion of the lumber for the construction of Oregon's State building at the World's Fair at St. Louis.
The Oregon building will occupy a site immediately north of the New York State building. The State Legislature has made an appropriation of $50,000 for the World's Fair, but a much greater sum will be available. Five hundred thousand dollars have been appropriated by Oregon for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, to be held in Portland, in 1905.
The same commissioners will handle the exhibits for both fairs. Many valuable exhibits prepared for the Portland Ex-

WAS IN HEPPNER FLOOD.
Harry Barrett, Former Oregon City Boy, Narrowly Escaped.
Harry Barret, of Heppner, is visiting in this city. Mr. Barrett witnessed the flood a few weeks ago that practically destroyed the business and residence districts of Heppner with the loss of nearly two hundred people.
He was returning to his home in the upper end of the city, where the flood entered on its work of destruction, and narrowly escaped drowning. The first huge wave, fully ten feet high, swept him from his feet, as he was fleeing for the adjoining hill side. Recovering his footing, he started again for the place of safety only to be struck by a timber and again thrown into the surging waters.
It was only by great physical exertion that he managed to escape drowning.
Mr. Barrett's parents saw the flood approaching and fled to the hills in time although their home was demolished.
The business district of Heppner, reports Mr. Barrett, is being rapidly replaced with more substantial structures but he says it will be some time before the residence district, which suffered the more extensive damage, will be re-established.

FOR STREET FAIR
Four Days of Free Carnival for Oregon City.
Festivities Will Begin Tomorrow and Conclude Tuesday—Many Attractions.
Beginning tomorrow, Saturday, and concluding Tuesday evening, Oregon City will have a four days free street fair and carnival, the first affair of the kind ever held on the Pacific Coast.
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Oregon City Street Fair and Carnival last Saturday afternoon it was decided to hold the Fall show and festival September 5-8 inclusive, instead of the latter part of September as was originally planned. The street fair will include among other equally meritorious attractions, Arnold's big shows and with the exception of the various sideshows, all attractions will be free to the public.
This is the first time in the history of the state that an event of this kind has been provided. The Oregon City brass band has been engaged for the occasion and every arrangement has been made for the entertainment and accommodation of the large throng of visitors that is expected to visit the city during the time of the carnival.
J. H. Howard, manager of the Oregon City Street Fair and Carnival, reports having signed a great many attractions for the carnival. It will be the purpose of the management to make the fair, which is the first free street fair ever given on the Coast, a great success.
Eight blocks in the business district of the city will be tented with attractions.
The Oregon Water Power & Railway Company having made a special round trip rate of 25 cents for the four days of the carnival, insures a large attendance, Baseball games and other athletic sports will be provided for each day and there will be a continuous programme of good interest.

BIG SURVEY PARTY AT WORK Rand Brothers Have Government Job on Township Near Wallace.
Rand Brothers of Oregon City, Oregon, arrived in this city Thursday with a large survey party to survey for the government township 47 on the St. Joe river and sections 36 and 48 between this city and Mullan, says an Idaho paper. The party consists of eighteen men, and has been engaged in survey work in Fourth of July canyon. One of the Rand brothers is county surveyor of Clackamas county, Oregon. The party left yesterday morning to commence the survey work east of Wallace, after which they will go to Siate creek and commence work on the survey of township 47. The country embraced in this survey is in a good timbered section, and the government survey will be good news to a large number of Wallace people who own claims up and down the creek. The completion of the survey will enable them to properly prove up on their holdings before the local land office. A preliminary survey was run by the Wallace claim owners some time ago, John Nordquist doing the work, to be sure they were not on school or railroad land, so the government surveyors will not meet with a great deal of difficulty. It will take them about six weeks to complete the work. The Wallace people owning mining claims in the township are:
Thomas Tweed, Dr. G. A. Chapman, James Boaz, Dan McInnis, August Carlson, J. J. Price, Chris Pitzenier, William Fishinger, Emil Krans, Thomas Butler, Al. Nugent, Josh Penabaker, Pat Mc-Govern, Dan Connor, John Wourms, Richard Daxon, Sydney Van Hook, J.
W. Quinn, Sandy McRae, Hugh Toole, Fred Johnson, J. F. Camp.

Distress After Eating Cured.
Judge W. T. Holland, of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely.
Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by Geo. A. Harding.
