

QUAINT BATAVIA.

Java's Picturesque Town and the People One Meets There.

Imagine a town of giant dolls' houses built in Burmese and Japanese style, trim avenues of beautiful trees, broad, clean streets and thousands of grown up dolls...

The streets are paraded listlessly by gangs of blue garbed convicts, who flick up cigar ends, bits of paper and fruit peel.

A man in Batavia once threw a piece of banana peel on the ground, and, looking back a moment afterward, he felt reproached by the sight of that wretched piece of peel.

Representatives of many nations congregate in Batavia, blue crowned Javanese, swarthy white pill helmets, sharp like inverted saucers; pretty Chinese merchants...

It is impossible for a casual observer to distinguish the sex of a Chinese, as the men have delicate, refined features, are clean shaven...

The dress of the Javanese women makes a detailed description, as the Batavian Dutch ladies have adopted the native dress for morning wear.

A long strip of native cloth, called a sarong, is wound round and round the body beneath the armpits and reaches almost to the ankles.

The Batavian Dutch do not make their toilets, unless they go out of doors, until the afternoon, so that one may see men in pyjamas and women in the native dress...

When Dinner is Over.

As a rule an hour to an hour and a half is spent in conversation after a dinner when neither host nor guests have any other engagement for the evening.

Suicide by Smoking.

One of the most extraordinary suicides on record was entered in Perth, Baron Bea Oyl, a wealthy citizen, deliberately poisoned himself by smoking cigars and tobacco to excess.

The Helping Word.

There was a certain old woman who was a constant and devout attendant at church. Her husband died, and her pastor called upon her to comfort her in her sad bereavement.

"Omit the Third Stanza."

Mabelle had been unusually quiet at church one Sunday. She was generally a very restless listener. Her mother, noticing it, asked her: "What made you so good during service this morning, daughter?"

A Way the Baby Has.

"Has the baby had the measles yet, Mr. Popps?" "Sh-sh! Don't speak so loud. Whenever he hears anything mentioned that he hasn't got he cries for it."

Ruskin's favorite adverb was "entirely."

Over the grave of his father he put a memorial stone describing the elder Ruskin as "an entirely honest merchant."

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by G. A. Harding, druggist.

THE FIRST STOVE.

They Superseded the Primitive in the Eighteenth Century.

A heating apparatus consisting of a stove) was widely used by the higher class of Romans. The kind of wood used in the construction of the class of heaters was not the same as the one used in the primitive stoves, besides being in a different shape, it was wholly different in its construction. In the primitive stoves they were used in both rooms and in the kitchen, during the middle ages they were usually constructed of brick, stone or tile and were of the masonry type. They sometimes covered the whole side of a room or they were built up and often extended out into the room as much as ten feet, in which case the smooth, flat top was used for a bedstead, the heated surface imparting an agreeable feeling of warmth during those cold nights of long ago when such things as covers were quite rare.

Cardinal Polignac of France was perhaps the first to attempt the construction of a stove wholly of iron, this at about the beginning of the eighteenth century. The first real improvement over the old Roman "stove" was brought about by Franklin in the year 1755. One of his efforts produced a typical base burner, almost perfect and a model of workmanship. Stoves were not used in private houses to any great extent prior to the year 1850.

The Columbia River Seen from a "Regala" Line Excursion Steamer.

It is a custom to apply for titles to American rivers, mountains and lakes simple to those of other countries. Thus we hear of "The American Rhine," "The Switzerland of America," "The American Alps," and soon, and here on the magnificent Columbia River, in all its wealth of scenery, we may find another Rhine. The towering snow-capped mountains, rugged, ravines, waterfalls and even cataracts duplicate and even exceed the famous scenery of Switzerland, and for the desire of being able to say "When I was abroad" thousands of Americans are willing to be ignorant of their own country in not seeing some of the finest scenery of the world axis here on the Columbia.

In a tour of the West it is the thing to do, and the one thing not to be missed—the voyage on the Columbia river between Portland and The Dalles—that is made in one day's daylight on board of the splendid boats of the Regulator Line, and the people of Oregon and Washington almost make it a point to remind their friends that are coming from the East not to miss making a trip on this beautiful river.

Your ardent admirer makes the trip up and down both ways, on the boats, as it gives opportunity to pay leisurely attention to both sides of the river and for the views ahead on the going and returning voyage. But the man in a hurry may go up on the boat, returning by rail, or vice versa, or the passengers west bound may leave the train at The Dalles and go down "The Columbia river by boat to Portland.

The Regulator Line palatial excursion steamer "Bailey Gatzert" leaves Portland every morning (except Monday) at 8:50 to Cascade Locks and return, right in the heart of the Cascade Mountains, offering an excellent one day trip to view the magnificent scenery and also enjoy the exhilarating ride through the famous rapids of the Cascades, returning arrive in Portland about 7 P. M.

The round trip fare to Cascade Locks is $1.50, round trip to The Dalles $2.50, one way fare from Portland to The Dalles or vice versa $1.50. The meals are excellent and served on all steamers of this line.

For Want of a Nail The Shoe Was Lost.

FOR WANT OF A SHOE THE HORSE WAS LAMED.

Every blacksmith knows that story of the neglected nail, the rusted shoe and the ruined horse. In old country smithy's you may see the legend rudely painted or chalked on the wall as a reminder to customers that it pays to care for horses' shoes, and that a little neglect may have a very serious result. But the blacksmith is, as a rule, like the good deacon, who passes on the pastor's denunciation of his own failings to some one else. It never occurs to him to take the sermon home to himself. The blacksmith has for example a little touch of "stomach trouble." His food seems to be like a lump in his stomach. It ferments and gives off gases which cause him discomfort and uneasiness. He has sour and bitter risings, or "water brash." But this man who knows and preaches the danger of neglect in the loss of a nail from a horse's shoe goes right along neglecting symptoms which in scores and hundreds of cases are fore-runners of a physical break-down.

DO NOTHING DOCTRINE.

That's the doctrine of a great many indolent people. They say "it will go away after a bit" when cautioned to "do something" for their ailment. Just imagine a farmer looking over the fence at the sprouting weeds in his corn and saying "they'll go away after a bit." Diseases are like weeds. All they ask is neglect and they will grow and flourish. Neglect the first symptoms of disease of the stomach and it will not be long before other organs are involved, because every organ of the body is dependent on the stomach and its allied organs for nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased the food eaten is not perfectly digested and assimilated. Hence there is a loss of nutrition by the body; a loss of strength, and that loss of nutrition is shared by every organ of the body. Nails, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc. As a consequence when the stomach is diseased, the heart is liable to be involved, or the lungs, kidneys or liver. These facts emphasize the danger of neglect of what is popularly termed "stomach troubles."

The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will generally result in a complete cure of diseased stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and will establish the body in a condition of sound and vigorous health. "I was taken with Grippe, which resulted in stomach and heart trouble," writes Mr. T. R. Caudill, of Montland, Allegheny Co., N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles and am well."

DON'T EXPERIMENT WITH YOUR STOMACH.

It's a waste of time and money to experiment on medicines. If you are on a journey to a certain town, you take the road that will surely bring you there. You don't turn aside and experiment on roads simply because they are roads. The road you follow is the road which leads to where you want to be. It's that way with medicine. When you want the way which leads straight and sure to health you will follow the thousands who have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the benefits that I have realized from the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Pleasant Peppets," writes Mrs. J. C. Fink, of Yuba, Rowan Co., N. C. "Last winter I was so laid off that I thought it impossible for me to live until spring. I was taken sick in January and was in pain all over. The doctor was called, and said my liver was out of order. He gave me some medicine but it did me no good. I grew steadily worse. I could not eat as much as one slice of bread without great pain, and was so hungry all the time that I thought I would starve to death. My head ached, my shoulders ached, my stomach was so much that I thought I was almost insane. I could not sleep nights only a short while at a time. Would get up mornings so weak and nervous, I could scarcely stand. In this way I suffered, I think, about two months, when a friend of mine induced me to write to Dr. Pierce for advice, which I did. His answer was that I had indigestion and liver complaint, and advising me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I followed the Doctor's directions closely, and in a few days I could discover that I was getting better slowly. Every day I felt just a little better, then I could begin to eat a little light diet. Then I began to sleep a little better at night and in the morning would feel refreshed and rested. Next I began to gather a little flesh, and then I began to improve rapidly. I took eight bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and several vials of 'Pleasant Peppets,' and I felt that I was well enough to leave off medicine and go to work, which I did with pleasure. I have not taken any medicine since except Dr. Pierce's Peppets. I can eat anything and as much as I want and it never now hurts me a particle."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.
