

WAS GOOD SUCCESS

Large Attendance at the Free Street Carnival.

Not for the Disagreeable Weather the Crowds Would Have Been Remarkable.

The Oregon City free street fair and carnival was a greater success than those connected with its management had expected.

It was "Alice, Alice, Alice" etc. on all sides while if you dared to open your mouth, some rude youngster, many of them out of their teens too, would introduce a handful of confetti.

Saturday, the opening day of the Oregon City free street fair and carnival was more successful than was expected under the unfavorable weather conditions.

There was nothing doing at the Oregon City free street fair and carnival Sunday. Because of the incessant rain, no attempt was made to conduct any of the several attractions although the management declines having any intention of doing so.

There was a big Labor Day demonstration Monday while something both attractive and entertaining was doing both Tuesday and Wednesday.

Chief of Police Burns reports that there were in the city a number of notorious crooks but by the appointment of special policemen, the city authorities took steps to prevent the operation of these individuals.

In a storm of confetti, the Oregon City free street fair and carnival was concluded Tuesday night. Financially the carnival was not the success that had been hoped for but as a mid-summer entertainment the effort was satisfactory.

It had been decided to hold the fair over Wednesday but the inclement weather induced the management to terminate the festivities Tuesday night as was originally planned.

With the great majority of the people of the city in the hop fields and helping in the harvest of the grain crop, the time was not right for a carnival but the attendance was fully up to expectations.

DID NOT GET THE PROPERTY.

Nervy Horse-Thief Gives Bill of Sale To the Body.

Miss May Glover, of Portland, arrived in Oregon City last Friday evening and presented Chief of Police Burns with a bill of sale to one of the horses and the buggy that were recovered from a nervy horse-thief in this city Wednesday morning.

Chief Burns refused to deliver the goods and advised the woman to call later.

The bill of sale bears the signature of Thomas Sawyer, whom the woman claims to have met at her rooming house in Portland Wednesday last week.

Chief Burns and other local officers are satisfied that Sawyer is not the proper name of the thief. A letter, addressed to Thomas Wright, was found in the recovered buggy and this is believed to be the man's name.

The only trace of the missing man possessed by Oregon City's officers, is that he was ferried across the Willamette river at Jennings' Landing about 9:30 o'clock on the morning of his disappearance from this city.

HORSE IS IDENTIFIED.

Dr. H. R. Jones, of Medford, has notified Sheriff Shaver that one of the horses that were recovered from a horse-thief in this city last Wednesday, is his property.

ONE PATIENT KILLS ANOTHER

Sensational Disclosure at the Oregon Insane Asylum.

An accident of more than passing interest, if not bordering upon sensationism, occurred at the Insane Asylum on the night of August 22, but for some unknown reason has been kept very quiet and escaped the vigilance of the newspaper reporters.

The matter came to light yesterday through the medium of the regular monthly report of Superintendent J. F. Calbreath to the State Board of Trustees.

The incident occurred in Ward No. 1, or what is known as the receiving ward. Alexis Borguin, a patient aged 80 years, was attacked during the night, while all of the officers and inmates of the institution were sleeping, except the regular night force, by another patient named Joseph Hanson, and he was injured to such an extent that he died before morning.

Hanson has been an inmate of the institution for a number of years, and, of recent years, his conduct has been such that he was regarded as absolutely harmless.

UNKNOWN'S BODY FOUND.

Mystery of Charles Ryan's Disappearance May Be Solved.

Propped against the bank of Sullivan's Gulch slough was found yesterday morning what is believed by many to be the body of Charles A. Ryan, the missing farmer of Marquam, Or., says Tuesday's Oregonian.

The description tallies in many points, but the body has not yet been positively identified by any of Mr. Ryan's acquaintances.

Coroner Finley held a post mortem examination of the remains yesterday afternoon, but no decision could be reached. With the exception of the hat, the body found yesterday is almost identical with the description of Ryan, who was last seen in Oregon City Sunday morning, when $110 was known to be in his pocket.

Though Ryan's friends are on the lookout for any trace of the missing farmer, and notified the police Tuesday evening, yet none of them has appeared at the morgue. Until they do so the identity of the body will remain a mystery.

As John Smead was passing along the side of Sullivan's Gulch yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, he saw the body of a man reclining against the bank.

Noticing the peculiar attitude of the body, he made a cursory examination, and left under the belief that the man was drunk. He notified District Officer Young, who quickly discovered that it was a corpse that was dropped against the bank.

With his hands tightly clutching the tufts of grass at his side, the unknown man lay against the steep bank with his feet up to the knees in the water of the muddy slough.

There were no marks of violence upon the body. From the appearance of the hillside it seemed probable that the man, in reeling home intoxicated, had slipped and fallen down the bank. Landing with his feet in the water, he had died partly from the chill and exposure and partially from alcoholism.

Another theory propounded is that the man was murdered by the use of poison or powerful drugs and that he was placed in the peculiar position to disarm suspicion. The greatest setback to this theory is that the hands of the dead man were locked in a death grip upon the tough grasses of the slough bank.

District Officer Young believes that he has seen the dead man about the city at intervals for a long time, but is unable to give his name.

No one of exactly the same description as the man found in Sullivan's Gulch has been reported as missing. The body had evidently been on the bank but a few hours, so that death had not preceded the finding of the corpse by many hours.

Nothing was found upon the body but a handkerchief and three lead pencil stubs. No marks of any description aided in the identification. The police are puzzled at the Ryan disappearance case. He was known as a man who seldom drank, and then never to excess.

When he set a day for his return home he was invariably there on time. When he did not return at the promised hour last Sunday, his father-in-law, J. Slaughter, of Marquam, went at once to Oregon City. The young man had been seen Sunday morning, and had said that he would have to leave for home in the afternoon.

He had placed his horse in the livery stable, but did not return for it. He went to Oregon City from his home at Marquam, Clackamas County, four miles from Wilhoit Springs, for the purpose of paying the last installment upon his land. This was not paid, and Ryan was known to have at least $110 upon his person when he disappeared.

BODY IS NOT THAT OF RYAN.

Ivan Dimick went to Portland yesterday morning to identify the body of the unknown man that was found in Sullivan's Gulch. Mr. Dimick reports that the dead man is not the missing C. A. Ryan, of Wilhoit. The police officers and Ryan's family have not found the slightest trace of the missing man since his strange and complete disappearance last Saturday.

WHO KNOWS

When His Kidney Trouble Has Fastened and Reached the Chronic Stage? If It Has It Is Incurable by Anything Known Except the Fulton Compounds. We Are The Sole Agents.

As an evidence of the unusual character of the Fulton Compounds that company does not publish or invite testimonials except those reporting recoveries in kidney diseases that have reached the chronic stage, alleged to be incurable. Here is another recovery in a case incurable by the agents of the Fulton Compounds, reported by John & Johnson, the Agents of the Fulton Compounds in Los Gatos:

W. H. Fridley, a resident of Los Gatos, having chronic kidney disease (Bright's Disease) had, like everybody else, found all treatment futile. He commenced on Fulton's Renal Compound in February, 1902, and on December 12 of the same year reported the total disappearance of the disease. He writes that he has gained fifteen pounds in weight and is again able to do a good hard day's work. John & Johnson, the Los Gatos druggists, confirm this recovery and know of several other recoveries in similar cases of chronic kidney disease in Los Gatos, all of which were incurable by anything else known to druggists.

S. A. Palmer, the leading druggist of Santa Cruz, H. H. Maynard, the Paluma druggist, the Ferry Drug Company of No. 8 Market street, San Francisco, W. R. Pond, the Berkeley druggist, Dr. Marley, the Cleveland druggist, Willis & Martin, the Sacramento druggist, and scores of other California druggists all report specific recoveries in chronic kidney diseases that were positively incurable by anything known except the Fulton Compounds.

Droopy, rheumatism from uric acid, gout and bladder troubles are proofs that the kidneys are not performing their functions. The chronic stage of kidney trouble is Bright's Disease. If you feel languid or miserable, if your kidney trouble hangs on and for pamphlet, Percentage of recoveries nearly 90 per cent among purely chronic cases. Fulton's Renal Compound for Bright's and Kidney Diseases. $1. For Diabetes, $1.20. John & Johnson, 409 Washington street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Free analyses for patients. We are the sole agents for the Fulton Compounds in this city.

Do you want to prolong your life and increase your powers? Then breathe deeply and drink plenty of pure water between, not at, meals—not hot water or boiled water, but distilled water.—Success.

The Tall Hat in France.

The tall hat, variously known as "chimney pot," "stovepipe," "cylinder" and what not, became fashionable in Paris in 1700, soon after the death of Franklin, in whose honor it was known as "chapeau Franklin." In spite of numberless changes of style, it has maintained its ground ever since, unexpected as such a result would have seemed at its first introduction. For a time this style of hat was considered revolutionary in Germany and Russia. Any one wearing a "cylinder" was liable to punishment, but the evil reputation soon passed away, and the tall, stiff hat, the ugliest head covering that was ever worn and the most ridiculed, outlives all other styles.

HAPPY HITS.

Don't open a set of account books when you do a kindness for anybody. Advantages always look larger than disadvantages, even when the scales are balanced. Don't marry money. You can spend the money, but you can't spend the trouble you may get with it. Somehow when a brother and sister quarrel it comes nearer to what a man and wife say than any other thing. Occasionally you know a man you can't help admiring, but who is such a fool that you want to beat him to death. Somehow a scrambled egg reminds us of a failure. The cook didn't get the egg out whole, so she scrambled it. Some people make scrambled eggs of half they do. When a man's folks are away and he goes to a restaurant to eat it seems pretty tough to pay 35 cents for a meal. At home he doesn't realize that he is paying anything.—Aitchison Globe.

"We hesitated about renting this place," said the woman who had just moved in, "until we learned that the families on both sides of us owned their houses. It is so unpleasant to live where the people next door are always changing and you never know what kind of neighbors you are going to have."

The Spade and the Rake.

Cora—I think mother is altogether too outspoken in her criticism of my husband's actions. Mildred—Yes; it's not always wise to call a spade a spade. Cora—No, nor a rake a rake.—Brooklyn Life.
