

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request.

Be sure that this picture in the face of a child is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

AN INTERESTING ARTICLE.—The story in the Arpanaut for November 9th is entitled "The Higher Hypnotism: How Cristoforo Won the Prize of Death," and is a striking effort along the lines of some of Poe's greatest tales. Wireless telegraphy and the new discoveries of science are made a part of the story. It is by Charles Fleming Embree, the noted Western writer.

DIED OF PARALYSIS.—The remains of Miss Esther Williams, aged 32 years, who died of paralysis in Portland Thursday night, were brought to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Williams, of this city, Friday evening. The deceased young woman had been employed for a great number of years as attendant at the state insane asylum. Funeral services were conducted in this city Wednesday afternoon.

EGGS ARE SCARCE AND COSTLY.—"We use 150 dozen of Eastern imported eggs to every 15 dozen produced in Clackamas county," said F. T. Barlow, a local grocer today. The Oregon cold storage stock is now exhausted and local dealers are dependent largely on Eastern stock to supply the local trade. Eggs are now selling here at 30 cents a dozen and it is difficult for merchants to supply the demand.

WANTS SPECIAL SESSION.—In discussing the proposed special session of the state legislature this week, Representative Herman A. Webster, of Clackamas, said: "While I think that a session, if called, should be a short one, I do not think that the legislators necessarily give only the tax law consideration. While the tax law is the principal measure to be remedied, other measures of importance to the state best interests should also be corrected, any exist so as to remove all question to their validity. At the same time, the session must be brief."

WILL BE TRIED TODAY.—On the complaint of Grant Shelton, the woman's husband, Grace Shelton and Geo. I. Johnson were arrested in Portland Friday afternoon and brought to Oregon City Saturday on the charge of lewd cohabitation. They formerly resided in this city where they were both employed in a restaurant. District Attorney Allert returned a true bill against the couple who were arraigned in the circuit court, pleaded not guilty and their bail was fixed at $500. The woman was released on her own recognizance and in default of the required bail Johnson was committed to jail. Their cases will be heard in the circuit court today.

SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL.—Harry Coyne, a laborer employed by a farmer named Feathers, of Damascus, was last Saturday committed to the state reform school by Circuit Judge McBride. Coyne a few weeks ago took French leave from Feathers' farm and at the same time appropriated about $30 of his employer's money. The lad was recently located in Southern Oregon and returned to this city, when his case was disposed of.

DIVORCE AND A MOTION.—Judge McBride has granted Johann Carberry a divorce from W. A. Carberry and sustained the motion of the defense to strike out parts of the complaint in the suit of the Gladstone Real Estate Association against Sheriff Shaver. This is a suit to set aside the sale of property of the plaintiff association to County Judge Ryan for delinquent 1901 taxes. The suit is based on the alleged irregularity of the proceedings leading up to the advertising and sale of the property for delinquent taxes, and it is considered an important case.

A SMALL DELINQUENT ROLL.—"The delinquent tax roll for Clackamas county for the year 1902, which is just about ready to be published, will be the smallest in years," said Sheriff J. R. Shaver today. "There was represented in the original roll about $167,000 in taxes due the county and of that amount there does not remain to exceed $4000 delinquent." The new roll on last year's assessment, representing $9,000,000 as against $4,500,000 for the year before, is now ready for the county clerk but further work of preparing the roll for collection will likely be deferred until the present tax law trouble is adjusted.

WORK OF THE COUNCIL.—At a special meeting of the city council last Friday night the most important proceeding was the adoption of a resolution petitioning Governor Chamberlain to call the legislature in special session. Cornelius O'Donnell was released from further serving under his contract for cleaning the streets. The report of City Engineer Rands, concerning the completion by Contractor Rands of the sewer in district No. 3, was accepted, but the council deferred until the regular meeting in December the matter of finally settling with the contractor, thus taking advantage of the thirty-five days allowed in the contract under which the work was performed in which the city has to make the final payment following the acceptance of the work.

PETITIONS FOR PLANK ROADS.—Several taxpayers appeared before the county court last week with petitions for the building of plank roads in the Damascus, Highland and Maple Lane neighborhoods. In each instance the petitions were accompanied by subscription papers representing enough available money and labor to partly construct the desired roadways. It has been the practice of the county court to appropriate an amount equal to the subscriptions for the building of these roads. But because of the middle that exists over the tax law, the court has deferred making any such appropriations until the controversy has been adjusted and the court satisfied it will be able to collect its road tax this coming year.

HOBOES ARE EXPENSIVE.—The county court last week audited and allowed bills amounting to about $125 that were contracted under the state law authorizing the arrest of all persons caught stealing rides on railroad trains. Bills for the arrest and sentencing of nineteen hoboes were allowed. In each case the fees of the justice of the peace amount to $4.20 while the constable or officer making the arrest reaps $2.40 for each hobo he hauls. While the enforcement of the law is proving an extravagant luxury for the people of this county, there seems to be no remedy save in the repeal of the law which is a state law that was enacted at the last session of the legislature. The expense here complained of, does not include the cost to the county of boarding the hoboes during the two or three days for which they are committed.

BITTER THE HATCHERIES.—"With a city of only 6,000,000 eggs, the Coos hatchery will this year handle 10,000 salmon eggs," said Deputy Fish Den H. A. Webster, who returned from a visit to the state's salmon fry interests in the Southern and Districts of the state. This is in the output of the station at Coos Bay, Mr. Webster, is due to a year in the manner of operating the hatchery. Racks were installed this year without the freshets and perched a continuous catch of salmon last year the catch aggregated only 900 eggs. The surplus in this catch is being deposited in the Coos river after the eggs have hatched. Mr. Webster also visited the state's salmon interests at Yaquina, and Siuslaw and reports an entirely good run of the Silver-side early Fall. He also found the hatchery making a good showing, the catches not exceeding the capacity of the hatchery plants.

THE LAW NEEDS FIXING.—"In the legislature is convened in session," said Circuit Judge McClellan, "I would suggest that the law which authorizes the county recorders of conveyances to investigate and correct to the extent that no doubt exist as to the validity of this law. There is grave among the members of the bar as to the operation of this statute is contended was inadvertently at the session of the legislature a case involving the legality of the state, which it is alleged was at a recent session of the legislature pending in Columbia county. The question applies to all of the counties in the state with the single exception of Multnomah county, and if it is to have been repealed as consequences will prove far-reaching. The loss collected on this account is the time of the alleged recorders law aggregate thousands of dollars if they have been illegally corrected in various counties will be the reimbursement of fees so the loss of the revenue to the state from this source would prove exceeding by far the interest which county is required to meet the warrant indebtedness. Clackamas county for instance, the county recorder collects on an average $250 per month. The legality of the law under which these county officers are operating is a question of great importance and any irregularity in the statute should be corrected at the earliest opportunity. An opportune time for remedying the law could be presented in case the legislature is convened in special session at this time.

CHURCHED THE GOVERNOR.—In discussing the proposed special session of the state legislature and the published plan of the governor to have the state's lawmakers sign a pledge to the effect that they will consider only legislation pertaining to the correction of the defective tax law, should an extra session be called, State Senator Brownell criticizes Governor Chamberlain in the following terms: "I feel that there has been a mistake made, but I do not like the tone of the governor's interview wherein he is quoted as saying that he did not know which would be the greater evil to the state—the present conditions or the calling of an extra session of the legislature. This is an implied insult to one branch of the government of this state and is intended as a play to the galleries by the present chief executive, who evidently has forgotten that every honor and dignity that has been conferred upon him, has been so conferred by Republican votes. His effort is undoubtedly for the purpose only of trying to place the whole responsibility of error in the tax law upon the legislature. I protest against this and call the particular attention of the public to the fact that there are three departments of government in this state, executive, judicial and legislative. The constitution of this state vests the veto and controlling power in the governor. Under the constitution it is his absolute duty to examine with care every law passed by the legislature. To aid him he has a private secretary of his own choosing, and the people of the state have furnished him with an attorney-general to whom he may appeal at any time for legal opinion and advice. The governor had this law in his possession, according to record, nearly five days. It is fair to him to presume, he being a lawyer, that he examined this bill with care. He signed this bill and affixed his signature as governor of the state to it. Therefore I protest against his 'hot-air' reflections. The truth is we have both made mistakes. I simply demand that he shall share his part of the responsibility and not insist on putting the legislature in a hole. There is one point that might be proper to call the attention of the public to, that is that the session laws of Oregon of 1893 make provision as to fees to be charged by the recorder of conveyances and clerks of circuit courts of Oregon. Section 9, found on pages 32 and 33 of the session laws of 1893 has, in my judgment, repealed the law making provision for charging of these fees by the different recorders in different counties. If such is the fact then speculators could buy up these fees that have been paid in different counties and recover money in different counties, which would probably aggregate a great many thousand dollars and affect very materially the taxpayers if they had to refund this money. The average fees in each county for several years have run from $100 to $300 a month. I would, therefore, suggest that the governor of the state get out another set of letters that the legislature be permitted to remedy this defect in the interest of the farmers and taxpayers. I am ready to agree to use every effort in my power to confine all legislation to these measures and adjourn. I think a session ought not to last longer than three or four days. I, personally, of course, would be willing to serve without pay."
