

PROVERBS

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

TOLD IN SIDEHEADS.

HUSBAND WENT TO ALASKA.—Because her husband went to Alaska, failed to provide for her and hesitated about being seen in company with her, M. B. Burt has brought suit for divorce from Louis Burt to whom she was married at Tacoma in September 1902. The plaintiff desires to resume her maiden name, Marissa Bonser.

CASE WAS CONTINUED.—The case of State of Oregon vs. Grace Shelton and Robert L. Johnson, charged with lewd co-habitation, was continued to the April term on motion of District Attorney Allen. Both of the defendants were released on their own recognizance and it is not believed that there will be any prosecution of the charge.

BOTH WANTED THE CHILDREN.—Strife for the custody of two children enlivened the divorce suit of A. A. Kenny vs. Annie Kenny in the circuit court last Friday. Each desires the care of the two children and in order to prove her special fitness, the wife charged the husband with drunkenness and failure to support. On the other hand, the husband produced witnesses to testify as to his temperate habits and the fact that the mother is not a fit person to have the bringing up of the children. After hearing the testimony in the case, Judge McBride took the matter under advisement.

MR. ROSENBAUM RETIRES.—M. Rosenbaum, who for thirteen years has held the position of assistant secretary at the Crown Paper Mills, in this city, has severed his connection with the institution in an official capacity and will go to Seattle about December 1, where he will associate himself with the National Grocery Company, in which he has purchased an interest. Mr. Rosenbaum, who still retains interest in the Crown Paper Company, as a stock-holder, will be succeeded as assistant secretary by D. O'Connell, formerly manager of the Standard Paper Company, of San Francisco.

HE DESERTED HER TWICE.—Laura E. Allis is the plaintiff in a divorce proceeding filed against Wm. Allis in the circuit court. In this case the parties were married in Nebraska in December 1892 and the defendant is charged with a double desertion. The wife charges that Allis first abandoned her in January 1893 but subsequently returned and lived with her in Portland until January last, when, after much abuse, he again deserted her. The plaintiff asks that the marriage ties be dissolved, that she be awarded the custody of an only child, that she may resume her maiden name, Laura E. Wilson and that the defendant be required to pay $20 per month alimony and the further sum of $100 attorney's fees.

DECISION IS IMPORTANT.—Considerable interest in local land circles attaches to the recent decision of the General Land Office in sustaining the content of Ingram vs. Erickson on the ground that the claimant held more than 100 acres at the time he made application under the Homestead Act. For this reason Erickson's claim has been held for cancellation. J. W. Draper, a local Land Office practitioner, has investigated the law on the subject and is of the opinion that any patent to land that has been issued under the homestead act subsequent to March 3, 1891, when the Interior Department first made this ruling, can be cancelled, save, possibly, where the land has been sold by the person making the filing, to an innocent purchaser. The qualifications of the applicant to participate in the advantages offered under the Homestead act, provides the law, date from the time of making the original application for the land rather than from the date of entering final proof.

TO BE SEEN IN PORTLAND ONLY.—Portland is the only city in the state that "Ben Hur" will be presented in. The company, which numbers over 350 persons, comes direct from San Francisco, where an engagement of a month is now being filled. Ten 60 ft. baggage cars are required to transport the scenic effects of Ben Hur and two stock cars are pressed into service to care for the horses and camels used in the production, while ten pullman sleeping cars, two day coaches and two dining cars make up a special train for the comfort of the company. In the great chariot race scene eight horses, harnessed to two chariots are shown in their struggle for supremacy.

POST-OFFICE FURNITURE ARRIVES.—Modern furniture and equipments for the Oregon City post-office in its new quarters in the Odd Fellows building arrived Monday and will be installed at once. The removal of the post-office from its present quarters will likely take place about December 1. In its new quarters the local post office will be provided with 572 combination lock boxes while all call boxes now in use, will be eliminated. Included in the office furnishings are all necessary equipments for the rural mail service of which two routes are now operated from the office in this city and petitions are in circulation asking for the establishment of others.

THINKS IT SHOULD BE HELD.—Representative Hans Paulsen, of George, a member of the Clackamas county legislative delegation, was in the city last Friday. When questioned regarding his views on the proposed special session of the state legislature, Mr. Paulsen stated that he would be perfectly satisfied if Governor Chamberlain calls an extra session for the purpose of remedying the defective tax law but he is not willing to pledge himself to consider no other legislation of a remedial character. Mr. Paulsen thinks it will prove a serious and costly experience to Clackamas county if no taxes are to be collected for nine months. He says that the people of the county generally endorse the new tax law that was thought to be operative at this time and are willing to pay the tax or even a double assessment on the roll that has been written if a reasonable amount of the revenue so raised is expended in the building and improving of the roads in Clackamas county. Representative Paulsen has written Governor Chamberlain to this effect.

WILL HAVE TO STAND TRIAL.—The demurrers made by Judge O'Day to the indictments against H. G. McKinley, Miss Marie L. Ware and S. A. D. Piter, charging them with conspiracy and forgery in land cases, were overruled yesterday by Judge Bellinger, of the Federal Court says Tuesday's Oregonian. The defendants will have to go to trial on the indictments as returned by the grand jury, and they will appear in court this morning to make their pleadings. The argument made by Judge O'Day against the indictments was based upon the alleged technical faults of the documents. He urged that they were not specific enough in the descriptions of land alleged to be involved, and that facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action were lacking. Judge Bellinger in deciding against the demurrers, held that it was not necessary to be more specific in describing the property involved, in order to show that a crime had been committed. He also held that because land was not open to entry, that fact did not preclude the possibility of the Government being defrauded out of it.

THEATRICAL EVENT OF SEASON.—The dramatization of Gen. Lew Wallace's great novel has been seen only in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and Chicago and a few other cities during the past four years. William Young, who made the dramatization has succeeded most admirably in the production of a drama which not only retains the most absolute fidelity of Gen. Wallace's great book, but which does not offend the most devout Christian. Professor Edgar Stillman Kelley, has heightened the solemnity of "Ben Hur" with music that is a positive delight to the ear. The stage settings provided by Klav & Erlanger have never been equaled in this country. The pictures of "The Star of Bethlehem," "The City of Jerusalem from the terrace garden of the palace of Hur," "The Interior of a Roman galley," "The Grove of Daphne," "The Fountain of Castalia," "The Chariot Race," "The Vale of Hinnom and the Mount of Olives," are remarkable exhibits of the best scenic art. To these are added some wonderful effects in lighting, as in the Star of Bethlehem, and in stage mechanics, as in the famous chariot race. The contrivances used to make the chariot race cost no less than $15,000. Eight horses race in full view of the audience. Each animal runs on a separate tread mill, and the effect of Ben Hur's quartet of horses winning is produced by electric power concealed beneath the stage. An immense cyclorama representing the interior of the arena with its multitude of painted people is whirled across the stage in the opposite direction from that which the horses are headed, greatly increasing the illusion, as the audience is apparently going with the horses. This is not only a spectacular but a dramatic success as well.

OWNED TOO MUCH LAND.—The general land office has sustained the content of Ingram vs. Erickson on the grounds that the claimant owned more than 100 acres of land when the homestead filing was made. A decision covering the subject has been received by J. W. Draper, attorney for the contestant. This is the first time for years that this question has been raised in connection with a homestead entry at the Oregon City land office. The department holds that the ownership of more than 100 acres of land forfeits the right of any advantages under the homestead act.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.
New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by G. A. Harding.

WAS PRESIDENT OF COMPANY.—Orestes Phelps, president of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, died at 4 o'clock last Saturday morning at his home at Vernon Heights, Oakland, California, from exhaustion resulting from disease of the kidneys. Mr. Pierce was 52 years of age and had been in failing health for a year. The deceased was born in Maine and was early admitted to the bar in his native state, where for a time he practiced law. Twenty years ago he came to San Francisco, California, where his uncle, the late Henry Pierce, resided. He was president of the Contra Costa Water Company, of Oakland, until his retirement a few years ago. He was one of the founders of the San Francisco National Bank and had interests in numerous other corporations of California. The interests of Mr. Pierce of most concern to Oregonians, however, was the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, operating pulp and paper mills at Oregon City. Mr. Pierce, together with his uncle, Henry Pierce, and cousin, Wm. P. C. Johnson, organized the W. P. & P. Co. in May, 1888. Mr. Pierce was at all times president of the company which has grown to become of the largest manufacturing institutions in the state of Oregon, having a daily product of more than eighty tons of news paper. Mr. Pierce married Miss Sallie McKee, of Oakland, California, in 1890, by whom he is survived. They had no children. Burial took place at Oakland Monday. The mills at Oregon City were shut down Monday afternoon. Mr. Pierce frequently visited the company's plant at Oregon City and was well known in Oregon. He always took a great interest in the paper mills in this city, and was at all times deeply concerned in the welfare of the many employees of the company.
