OREGON CITY ENTERPRISE, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1903.

ESTABLISHED 1866.

GLADSTONE GLADSTONE PARK

Extraordinary Announcement

100 Beautiful and Choice Lots $10 Down and $10 Per Month
For $100 a Lot Without Interest

Only a Small Monthly Payment Secures an Ideal Homesite
In the Handsomest Spot in Oregon

It is not intended that the 100 lots shall be selected in out of the way places, or shall be of inferior or even second quality, but in each instance, the purchaser makes his or her own selection, with only two reservations: the first four lots from the motor line are reserved, and a party only buying one lot can not select the corner.

Parties living at a distance can send their payments to me or to the Bank of Oregon City, and it will be held until final payments are made, when a warranty deed will be promptly executed and an abstract of title furnished, when required, showing a fee simple title in the purchaser, free of all incumbrances. Absolute good faith will be kept with all parties and the utmost effort will be made to please and satisfy every one.

To prove our faith in the future of Gladstone, we make this proposition to all purchasers: The Association, when final payments are made, will upon receiving 30 days prior notice thereof, in case of dissatisfaction, pay back the entire purchase money, with $25 per lot additional. This will only apply to sales made before June 1st, 1904.

We feel that this is an entirely safe proposition, for in our candid judgment no lot will be sold that is not worth double the money at the present moment

Gladstone is on the O. W. P. & Ry Company's motor line, a short mile north of Oregon City. Five cent fare to Oregon City and 15 cent fare to Portland, Elegant motor cars pass through the property every thirty minutes. The Southern Pacific cars also pass through Gladstone.

When the 100 lots are sold and paid for the Gladstone Real Estate Association will give a check for One Thousand Dollars to the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association, provided the last of the hundred lots are sold by the end of the next annual assembly in July, 1904, to be used for permanent improvements on its grounds at Gladstone Park.

AN EXTRA SESSION

State Legislature Will be Convened December 21.

Specific Purpose is to Correct the Tax Law—Session Should be Brief.

Governor Chamberlain issued a call to the members of the Legislative Assembly of the state of Oregon, directing them to appear at the State Capital at 10 o'clock on the morning of Monday, December 21, 1903, and to convene in extraordinary session for the purpose of enacting such legislation as to provide for the levy of a tax upon the assessment roll of 1903.

The language of the Governor's proclamation is as follows:

Salem, Or., Nov. 21, 1903.
I, Geo. E. Chamberlain, by virtue of the authority in me vested as Governor of the state of Oregon, do hereby direct the convening of the two houses of the Legislative Assembly of the state of Oregon in special session at the State Capitol in Salem, on Monday, the 21st day of December, A. D. 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, for the purpose of meeting the objections made by the supreme court, and curing the defects in, an act entitled, "An act to provide more efficient method for the assessment and collection of Taxes, and to amend sections 4057, 3060, 3082, 3084, 3085, 3090, 3098, 3106, 3107, 3112, 3116 and 3120 of Belfinger & Cotton's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Oregon," passed by the Legislative Assembly of the state of Oregon at its twenty-second regular session in 1903.

All who shall at the time hereinbefore named be entitled to act as members of said Legislative Assembly are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the state of Oregon, at the Capitol, in Salem, this 21st day of November, A. D. 1903.

GEORGE E. CHAMBERLAIN,
Governor.

By the Governor:
F. I. DUNBAR,
Secretary of State.

This action was made necessary upon the part of the Governor in view of a recent decision of the supreme court of this state, which held that the Phelps' act, a law enacted by the Legislative Assembly of 1903 and providing the manner of the assessment, levy and collection of taxes, repealed the old law and left the county courts of the several counties and the state board without authority to levy a tax upon the assessment roll of 1903.

This would have the effect of depriving the state and the counties, towns and school districts of the state from their annual revenue from taxation, providing no funds with which to carry on their business for a whole year and making it necessary for them to issue warrants in payment of all indebtedness during that period. The interest upon these warrants, from the date of issue until funds were provided for their redemption, would mount up into thousands of dollars and would seriously cripple the business of many counties, towns and school districts.

The Governor arrived at this conclusion only after three weeks of consideration, during which period he made a thorough investigation of the condition of the state funds, which would be directly affected by the non-levy of a tax for 1903. He also addressed circular letters to the members of the Legislature inquiring into the financial condition of their respective counties, towns and districts, and requesting of them the assurance that they would confine the business of the session to the enactment of such legislation only as would be required to remedy the defect in the tax law in providing for a levy for the year 1903, and having gained the assurance of the majority of the members that they were in favor of and would exercise their influence toward making it the shortest session possible, and being satisfied in his own mind that the emergency really existed, he believed it to be the best interests of the state in general to convene the Legislature in special session to remedy the mistake.

All of the members of the legislature who answered the letter agreed with the governor that the business of the session should be confined to remedial legislation only, and such other matters which may come up for consideration of vital importance to the state. The majority of them were of the opinion that from two to four days would be sufficient to transact all of the business necessary, after which they should adjourn. In view of this fact, the governor has called the members to meet on December 21, in the hope that they would conclude their deliberations and adjourn in time to depart for their several homes before Christmas. This is only a surmise, however, as the legislature, should it desire to prolong the session beyond the limit assumed for remedial legislation pertaining to the tax law, could take a recess from before Christmas until any time the members saw fit within the twenty days' limit prescribed by the constitution.

In view of the vacancies existing in the senate chamber of the legislative assembly, caused by the election of Senator J. N. Williamson as a member of congress from the Second Congressional District, and Senator C. W. Fulton as United States senator, the governor also issued a writ of election upon the sheriff of Klamath, Grant, Lake and Crook counties, in the Ninth senatorial district, and of Clatsop county, in the Nineteenth senatorial district, instructing them to proclaim a special election on Wednesday, December 16, 1903, for the purpose of electing members to the legislature to fill the existing vacancies.

body when it convenes. There appears to be no question of his being denied the privilege of taking a seat in the senate and representing the people of his county, thereby saving them the expense of holding a special election to provide a successor.

WILL BE ARGUED SOON.

Initiative and Referendum Case Has Been Set for December 3.

The famous initiative and referendum case has been set for trial next Thursday in the supreme court. The papers in the case have been completed by the filing of a brief by Attorney E. R. Duniway in reply to the brief of the amici curias. The court lost no time in setting the case for trial after the briefs were all in and the case on the trial docket.

When this case was appealed to the supreme court the attorneys asked that it be tried before the summer vacation. To have heard it that time would have precluded the preparation of full briefs. Besides, W. S. U'Ren asked the court for leave to file a brief on behalf of himself and other advocates of the referendum amendment, and this request could not be granted if the case were rushed to trial. Chief Justice Moore expressed a desire to have the questions involved thoroughly presented in briefs, and, therefore, asked the attorneys to let the case wait until after the summer vacation. As the case was of great public interest and importance the court did not care to take it up hastily. The records, as they stand now, show that the attorneys have very carefully written extended briefs, which seem to discuss every phase of the issues involved.

The case which brought up the validity of the initiative and referendum amendment was that of A. A. Kaddery et al., appellants, vs. City of Portland et al., respondents. The controversy was over an assessment for street improvements and the validity of the referendum amendment came in question because it is contended that under the amendment the new Portland charter, adopted in 1903, did not go into force until May 21, 1903, and that the emergency clause was ineffective.

The first brief, containing 63 pages, was filed by E. R. Duniway, attorney for appellant, on August 3. This brief takes the position that the referendum amendment was legally adopted and that, under its provisions, the charter did not go into effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session, or on May 21.

The next briefs presented in two parts and containing a total of 74 pages, were filed on September 23, by "friends of the court," George H. Williams, John H. Mitchell, J. B. Waido, J. C. Moreland, J. N. Teal, Geo. E. Chamberlain, C. E. S. Wood, Tilman Ford, George C. Brownell and W. S. U'Ren. These briefs support the validity of the referendum amendment and maintain that the legislature had power to put the new Portland charter into effect at once, by adding an emergency clause.

L. P. McNary and J. P. Kavanaugh, attorneys for the respondents, filed the next brief on October 3. This document contains 110 pages and maintains, among other things, that the referendum amendment was not legally adopted. On October 17 the attorneys for respondent filed a supplemental brief of 22 pages, answering the briefs by "friends of the court."

Last week E. R. Duniway filed the last brief in answer to the briefs amici curias. This brief contains 18 pages, and reargues the question as to the time the charter went into effect.

The briefs filed make a total of 292 pages.

DIMICK WILL BE RE-ELECTED.

There is no Opposition Candidate for Mayor—Contests for Councilmen.

Mayor Grant B. Dimick will not be opposed for re-election as the official head of the Oregon City municipal government at the election of city officers on December 7 next. The statutory fifteen days preceding the date of the election in which nominations by petitions may be made, expired last Saturday and Mayor Dimick is the only candidate for the office of Mayor. He will be re-elected to succeed himself for the third time. F. J. Mayer, the present city treasurer, has also been nominated by petition and will have no rival for the office he holds.

There will be lively contests in the election of aldermen from the First and Second wards. In the First Ward Walter L. Little and Hiram E. Straight are the nominees to succeed Dr. J. W. Powell, the retiring member of the council. There are four nominees who aspire to become councilmen from the Second ward. Mark Chapman and W. A. White will oppose each other for election to fill the unexpired term of two years of Mr. Pfeister. C. G. Huntley retires as councilman from this ward and A. Knapp and Henry Miley will contest for his chair. In the Third Ward Mat Justin has been nominated to succeed E. W. Scott whose term has expired. Justin will have no opposition.

There are no particular issues in the approaching city election in which only a passing interest is being taken except in choosing councilmen. The successful candidates will be elected on the strength of their personal popularity and qualifications rather than from political considerations. Politics have never entered into the management of municipal affairs in Oregon City.

There is one unusual thing about the coming city election and that is that every one of the candidates that have been placed in nomination by petition will appear on the official ballots as "Independent" candidates, having been so designated in the petitions by which they were nominated. This will enable the wise ones to prognosticate with more than ordinary certainty that the "Independents" will win.

Oregon Women Encouraged In Sacajawea Project.

A Copper King Has Become Interested
And May Contribute Necessary
Material for Monument.

"The erection of a monument to Sacajawea is assured," said Mrs. Eva Emery Dye this week. "The Sacajawea memorial matter has become a subject of national interest," continued Mrs. Dye, and the ladies of the Sacajawea Statue Association are highly gratified at the cordiality with which the Eastern public has welcomed this Western heroine."

Mrs. Dye is in the midst of another book, and for this reason is unable to give the time that she desires. The details of the work which was initiated by Mrs. Dye, has been left to Mrs. Sarah Evans, the energetic secretary of the association and the other members of the board of managers residing in Portland. The total cost of the monument will be about $7000, and it is the purpose of the various women's clubs of the state not only to form the plans for the statue but also to contribute every cent required as a monument to womanhood.

Subscriptions in varying amounts have come from New York, Washington, Chicago and other Eastern centers, while the project is receiving extended and flattering notices in the press throughout the United States. The Louisville Courier-Journal last Sunday contained a column editorial on Sacajawea, comparing her services to the nation far exceeded those of the famous daughter of the Virginia chief. Recent issues of the Washington Star and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat both contained page contributions, illustrated, of the famous Sacajawea.

In a letter to Mrs. Dye, the literary editor of the Minneapolis Times that he will make the story of Sacajawea a feature in the annual holiday book number of the paper. In the same letter he declares that the movement to provide a monument in memory of Sacajawea originated entirely from the publication of Mrs. Dye's "Contest," and the flattering criticism of the book received from Dr. Homer, of Minneapolis, editor of the Lewis & Clark Journal.

Probably the most substantial contribution that has been received thus far towards the monument for Sacajawea, was received this week. At the request of the ladies of the association the publishing house of A. C. McClurg & Co., of Chicago, has presented to the association outright 250 copies of "The Conquest" to be used as premiums for every $10 contributed to the Sacajawea statue fund. Contributions have been received from many of the cities and towns of Oregon, while others have money raised and ready to be forwarded. The Oregon City club has a fund of $33 on hand and will soon remit to Portland. With the assurance of substantial help from throughout the East the ladies are much encouraged and feel satisfied that the funds required for the monument will be raised. The local Redmen have made preliminary arrangements for giving an entertainment in this city for the special benefit of the Sacajawea fund.

In this connection an interesting incident occurred this week when a letter was received from one of the copper kings of Montana, who has become so interested in the story of Sacajawea that he has named one of his largest mines for the Indian heroine, and it is believed to be his intention to contribute the material for the statue. Full details of this matter could not be obtained for publication at this time.

One of the most ardent admirers of Sacajawea is Dr. Matthews, of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., who is devoting a large amount of time and research to the proper costume of the Sacajawea. Dr. Matthews, who was the co-laborer of Dr. Cones on his Lewis & Clark and other historical works, is enlisting much interest in Washington in the projected statue. Dr. Hosmer, the noted editor of the Lewis & Clark journals, is likewise awakening a great interest in Minneapolis. The poem on Sacajawea, by Bert Huffman, which appeared in a recent issue of the Oregonian, has attracted much attention, says Mrs. Dye, and bids fair to find its way into every scrap book of the Pacific Northwest.

IN HONOR OF BIRTHDAY.—Clara Zumwalt was pleasantly surprised last Saturday afternoon at her home by a company of seventeen of her young friends in honor of her thirteenth birthday anniversary. The superstition surrounding the numeral 13, did not enter in any way to limit the thorough enjoyment of the occasion by the young folks and all report a good time.
