With next week's issue another year will begin. There are many subscribers to the Enterprise who have permitted their subscription to lapse in some case two or three and in some instances several years. We would request that every subscriber note the date that is printed on the first page of his paper this week. The date indicates the time to which his subscription is paid. If you are in arrears please call at the office at once or remit as we desire to revise our subscription list at once. We have mentioned this matter once before this month but the response has not been what it should have been and we must insist that some attention be paid to this matter at once.

Social Events

The wedding of Miss Elma Albright and Mr. James W. Church, both of this city, took place at the First Congregational church in this city at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, December 23, 1903. Rev. E. S. Bollinger, pastor of the local church officiated at the ceremony which was witnessed by a large congregation of the friends of the contracting parties.

As Mrs. L. L. Porter played Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride party entered the church auditorium. The groom, attended by Mr. Leighton Kelly, as best man and both in evening dress, entered from the lecture room and were joined at the altar by the officiating clergyman. The bride and her attendants entered from the front of the church. Miss Frances Fuller, of Portland, and Miss Bessie Albright, sister of the bride, preceded as flower girls. Following came the bridesmaid, Miss Holland, of Salem, and Miss Sheppard, of Barlow; Miss Ethelwyn Albrecht, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and came next. The bride, dressed in a beautiful costume of white silk organdie over white silk tulle and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, followed on the arm of her father, Chas. Albright. All of the bride's attendants were attired in pink. The four ushers, Wm. R. Legus and Roland Jackson, of Portland, and Mortimer Cockrell and Jos. Good fellow, of this city, brought up the rear of the party. Rev. Bollinger pronounced a brief and impressive ceremony and at the close about sixty of the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the young couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was tendered.

The Albright home was prettily decorated in Oregon Grape, anilax and maidenhair fern. Mrs. H. S. Moody having charge of the decorations. Pink and green were employed with good effect in the parlors while the dining room was in white and green. The bridal party occupied a large table while refreshments were served and the other guests were seated at smaller tables. In the division of the fortune cake Miss Retta Stuart, of Albany, received the thimble. The ring was captured by Miss Flinn, also of Albany. Miss Broughton, of Portland, got the button and Mr. Leighton Kelly found the coin. Miss Broughton, of Portland, also caught the bride's bouquet. The young couple received a large number of rich and costly presents.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Albright, and has resided all her life in this city. She is a very estimable young woman and her friends are legion. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Church and is deservedly popular in Oregon City, which he has long claimed as his home. He is stationed at Lind, Washington, and is in the employ of the Portland Flouring Mills Company. After a brief visit in these parts, Mr. and Mrs. Church will go to Lind and take up their residence carrying with them the sincere wishes of their many friends for much happiness.

It's up to you to tell how much money is contained in the Enterprise prize money contest jar. Send in your guess at once, but don't forget to accompany your estimate with the necessary remittance of $1.50 on subscription.

Notice to Holiday Shoppers
We're After Your Money
We have several ways of inducing people to give up their dollars. For one, we conduct our business on the most progressive lines. Then we carry a stock so large that there is wide room for choice. We move our goods so rapidly that the stock is always new. No "has-beens" or "left-overs." It is our intention to make a Clean Sweep in our Toy Department—we will not handle any more toys in the future and will sell all TOYS AT COST or LESS THAN COST. We will also sell all our Fancy Crockery and Glassware at cost. Our Furniture, Carpets and Rugs are marked down. It is our intention to carry less stock for the future. We invite visitors, and are glad of a chance to show what a nice store and stock we have.

Stanford Glee Club.

"The spirit of rollicking mirth and college cheer was in the air at the Los Angeles Theater last night, when the Stanford Glee and Mandolin Clubs gave another of their annual concerts, which have come to be looked forward to by the people of these regions, much as is Christmas and Thanksgiving Day. The jads were as jolly as ever, and created considerable fun before the evening was over, besides rendering a number of pleasing selections in the vocal and instrumental line. The hit of the performance was made by Messrs. Baker and Bush, who gave a side-splitting burlesque on grand opera at the piano, and again convulsed the audience with their "Tired" song, which was given as an encore. They were compelled to reappear several times, ending their "turn" with a lively dance, in which the boys took turns playing the piano while the other danced."—Los Angeles Times.

They will give a concert in Armory Saturday, Dec. 26, under the direction of Miss Mary Conyers. The program will begin at 8 o'clock, and will be finished with a social time and dance. The Armory will be beautifully decorated and comfortable seats provided. Admission 50 cents.

Prescott Kallbelsch was found guilty of obstructing a highway by a jury in justice court Tuesday afternoon. The prosecution and conviction of Kallbelsch on this charge was the outgrowth of the fight that has been made against the building of the celebrated Fenton road in the Corus neighborhood. The establishment of this road by the county court has been fought for five years but in every instance suits brought to defeat its construction have been frustrated in the courts. At its last session, the county court, relying on the decisions of the circuit court in which the subordinate body appeared to have been justified in every action it had taken, ordered the road to be established. It is said the highway was laid out and one or more teams had passed over the road when the defendant
