DRANK BEER AND PUNCH.

Fifty-Cent Banquet at Oregon City.

Beer, punch and Democratic ante-elec-tion enthusiasm abounded in bountiful supply at the Jackson Day banquet that was held at Willamette hall last Friday night. It was a fifty-cent banquet given by the Democrats of Clackamas county. spect the function was perhaps a success for the city in the suit.

The opinion was written by Justice attendance a number of prominent Dem queters banqueted were good, the cigars so liberally distributed were better while the punch—well it was certainly entitled to the superlative adjective by way of description. The Democrats declare that the composition of this beverage was of sufficient strength to remind them of a Republican joilification meeting. Col. Miller, who presided as toast-master, is Miller, who presided as toast-master, is more reaching than the declaration of the supreme court in the sup the punch-well it was certainly entitled can had undue influence over the mixelogist who prepared the drink. Considering the strength of the punch, then it is not surprising that the Democracy should make such lavish claims of success at the approaching elections in this

Governor Chamberlain was the principal speaker of the evening and among other things advised harmony and dis-couraged the idea that the Democratic Wann, Gilbert L. Hedges, Polk Gribbie, W. W. Jesse, Wm. Galloway, H. L. Kelly, Dr. M. C. Strickland, J. H. Westover, Hon. Sam White, Baker City; G. A. Harding, G. R. H. Miller, Prof. H. L. McCann, Dr. W. E. Carll, H. G. Starkweather, E. G. Caufield and Wm. was in attendance and did its best. Letters were read from a number of prominent Democrats throughout the state to whom invitations had been ad-dressed and who were unable to attend. Among the letters read were those from the following named gentlemen:

Among the legers read were tools to be the following named gentlemen:
Judge J. O. Booth, Grants Pass; Hon. Will R. King, Ontario; Oscar Hayter, Esq. Dallas, Polk county; Pres. P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon, Eugene; Hon. John E. Oregon State Penitentiary, Salem; Hon. L. F. Grover, Portland; O. P. Coshow, attorney-at-law, Roseburg; Wm. Foley, Esq., Portland; A. King Wilson. Foley, Esq., Portland; A. King Wilson, Esq., Col. Fred V. Holeman, attorney, Portland; B. W. Dean, Orford.

The general committee, to which is largely due the credit for the success of the banquet, was composed of Robert A.

field and J. H. Westover.

While it was perhaps the means of reuniting the various factions of the minority party in Clackamas county, little significance attaches to the banquet. It was a sort of a love least that was participated in by several Democrats from throughout the county, who have not of recent years affiliated with that organiza-

But with a reunited opposition the Republicans are not fearful of the result. The normal Republican majority in this county is from 500 to 600, while individ-ual majorities have reached as high as 1200. In refusing to recognize the members of the deceased Populist party, who have for a number of years been associated with the Democrats in a fusion arrangement, the latter have thrown their own party entirely on its own strength, which does not exceed 1200, out of a total of 5000 votes in the county. The average vote cast is about 4000. Of that number, the Democrats will cast 1200, the Socialists 500, and the remaining 2300 will be found in the Republican

In the disorganization of the fusion movement in Clackamas county, the Republicans have been strengthened rather than weakened. Many were ardent sup-porters of the fusion ticket, that could not be induced to vote the straight Democratic ticket. The majority of these baye returned to the Republican ranks, whence they originally came, while a small number will unite with the Social-ists. Republican leaders contend that in view of these actual conditions, the prospect of Democratic success in Clackamas county was never farther removed than it is at this time. Encouraged by the fact that Clackamas county went for Reames, but forgetting Hermann's unpopularity, and the general apathy of the Republicans that made such a re-sult possible, the Democrats are planning a vigorous campaign this spring, when they expect to capture some of the important county offices. But, un-der the conditions that have been re-cited, success for the Democrats of Clackamas county at the approaching election is a political impossibility. VICTORY FOR THE CITY.

this suit is more reaching than the decree rendered by Circuit Judge McBride, of this district, from which the railroad company appealed the case.
