Local Events.

Hats way below cost, at Miss C. Goldsmith's.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Koenig, at Oak Grove.

Rev. E. H. Moore, of Portland, will preach at the Congregational church at Elyville next Sunday morning.

Dr. J. M. Lowe, a recent arrival from Maine, has associated himself with Dr. W. E. Carl in the practice of medicine.

James Oliver, a pioneer conductor in the employ of the O. W. P. & R. Co., has resigned his position after many years of faithful service.

Congris and colds, down to the very borderland of consumption, yield to the soothing healing influences of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

C. Schnobel, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, entertained the teachers and instructors of the school at his home Tuesday evening.

The Men's Club of the Congregational will have the next supper next Friday evening, March 4. Governor Chamberlain will be the guest of the occasion.

Judge Ryan this week attended the Congressional committee meeting in Portland this week, when it was decided to hold the First District Convention at Salem, April 13.

George Randall has awarded to Geo. A. Brown, a recent arrival from near Boston, Massachusetts, the contract for building two cottages at the corner of 5th and Jefferson streets.

Mrs. C. G. Miller entertained the members of the Derricks Club Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, of Bend, Eastern Oregon. Progressive flinch was played.

Joseph Painter, an employe at the Portland General Electric works in this city, was painfully burned about the face Wednesday evening by the burning out of a switch. The injuries, though painful, are not of a serious character.

At a recent meeting, the Molalla Central Mining Co. raised the par value of its shares from 10 to 15 cents, and decided to sell 5000 additional shares at that figure. This company expects soon to put a double shift to work in the development of its mining properties.

The Swedish Baptist church, of Deep Creek, Clackamas county, this week filed articles of incorporation in the county clerk's office. The capital stock is $500, the society having property of that value. The incorporators are P. M. Holst, John M. Anderson and John W. Ackerson.

Rev. Bellinger will preach next Sunday morning on "The Father I Have Been Trying to Preach to You." The theme is selected as a fitting one in closing the fifth year of a very pleasant pastoral relation. In the evening the address will be "When My Ship Comes In."

Local mining enthusiasts will convene at Willamette Hall this Friday evening, when a local branch of the Oregon State Miners' Association will be formed. A. L. Morris, of Portland, secretary of the state organization, will be in attendance and will assist in forming the society.

Henry E. Stevens, the county recorder, has invented a copy-holder for use on a book typewriter. The device is a simple and inexpensive one but quite serviceable in that the copy is constantly before the operator where it remains stationary. It is quite a time and labor saver and a credit to Henry's ingenuity.

Herbert B., the 17-year-old of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Weston, of West Oregon City, died of jaundice at the family home about 11 a. m. Wednesday. The deceased had been at Anity, Yamhill county, May 1, 1887. Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock this morning. Rev. J. H. Beaven will officiate.

Now is the time to get a hat at your own price at Miss C. Goldsmith's.

Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Hoey will apply to the probate court in March for the right to adopt Peter Emerson, the orphan, whose name is listed in a book about two years ago. The child is the lad whom custody was recently awarded its aunt, Mrs. Mary A. Stintze, of Salem, after being taken from a local foundling asylum by habeas corpus proceeding.

S. R. Green, who returned recently from the Crown Boys Mining Company's property, situated 45 miles east of Eugene in the Bohemia district, reports a 63 foot tunnel with ore that shows from $6 to $18 per ton. He thinks the local paper makers, who are the principal parties interested, are the owners of some valuable property. This company has no stock for sale.

County Clerk Sleight and Recorder Stevens were in Portland Wednesday, where they attended a meeting of such officers from other counties of the state that had been called for the purpose of taking preliminary steps for the organization of a state association of these officers. It was decided to call a convention of clerks and recorders to be held at Portland, March 25 and 26, when organization will be had.

E. C. Greenman and Miss May Carl, both of this city, were married at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. E. S. Bollinger, Wednesday evening, February 24. Both of these young people have hosts of friends in this city where they have long resided and will begin housekeeping at once at Goose Flat with the very best wishes for much happiness. They will be at home to their friends after March 10.

An Eastern visitor was standing in front of a Main street drug store Wednesday during one of Oregon's customary winter rainfalls. "Does it rain like this all the time in Oregon," inquired the stranger of the drug clerk. "Oh, it sometimes rains like this for three weeks and then settles down and rains like —" was the response. But the stranger had heard enough and made his way by the most direct route to the railway station.

Supplementary articles of incorporation were filed recently by the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, changing its name from Oregon General Electric Company, under which it was originally formed. When the company changed its name it neglected to file the required supplementary article. This has been done for the protection of property and titles to land. Fred S. Morris, J. Frank Watson, A. B. Crossman, W. H. Harburt and Wm. T. Muir are the incorporators.

Comic Opera at Shively's.

With a wealth of gorgeous costumes, dashing and winsome show girls, clever and amusing comedians, and a most satisfactory comic opera as the offering, the Olympia Comic Opera Company, comes to fill an engagement of one night at Shively's, Thursday night, February 25th.

CARRICK MAJOR.

At the head of the organization, the feature in fact, is Miss Lottie Kendall, the clever and vivacious little comic opera soubrette, of national reputation, who has succeeded in captivating the hearts of amusement seekers throughout the country for the past four seasons with her artistic interpretation of some of the greatest and best parts in the entire field of comic opera. A few operas, which are included in her extensive repertoire, are herewith given: "Said Paasha," "The Isle of Champagne," "Olivette," "La Mascotte," "Boccaccio," "Ship Aboy," "Fra Diavolo," "The Girl From Paris," "The Pearl of Pekin," "El Capitán," "Wang," "The Chimes of Normandy," "Carnon," "The French Maid" and "Faust."

MISS LOTTIE KENDALL.

Miss Kendall is supported by a company of clever and versatile players, all of whom are well known in the comic opera world.

A free concert will be given by the Milwaukee band at the Milwaukee town hall Saturday evening, February 27. All are invited.

Ceremony and Sentiment

Both demand a ring and as the occasion is an important one get a ring of lasting quality. Our assortment of Wedding Rings contains every kind known. Plain gold rings of good quality and in all sizes and widths, from $3.00 to $6.00. Solitaire Diamond Rings, from $10.00 up.

The Parker "Lucky Curve" Fountain Pen

Is absolutely the best Pen in the world. It will wear and is capable of many years of satisfactory use. We issue an Accident Policy with each pen, which not only guarantees each pen to be entirely satisfactory but it insures against breakage for one year—cap, barrel, feeder, nozzle, and in fact any part except the gold pen.

Prices from $2.00 to $6.00. Other makes as low as $1.00.

The Eyeball

Is a very delicate organ. Anything affecting it quickly affects the nervous system and headaches and nervousness are the inevitable results. Eyeglasses or Spectacles should be worn if there is any defect of sight. These things never cure themselves. But better wear no glasses at all than those which are not properly fitted.

Marmos.

We are having quite a wet spell of weather at present and some snow on the ground yet.

The coyotes killed five of James Fogles sheep night before last, the pecky brutes.

There have been seen the tracks of several panthers near here this winter.

Ernest Aschoff went to work at Johnston's mill a few days since.

Miss Emma Aschoff is getting along fine at her studies in Portland.

Grass is springing up on the low grounds and South hill sides so that stock will soon be able to get a feed as they are banking for something green.

The farmers are sharpening up their plows and patching their old harness preparatory to turning over the ground.

We lost one of our old pioneers a few days since, Charles Kyler, who died of a complication of diseases. He had been in bad health for several years.

Ed T. Peace started to Portland this morning to get some medical advice.

Mr. Adolph Aschoff is at present in charge of the Forest Supervisor's office Hood River during the suspension of Mr. Isenberg, a supervisor which it is to be hoped will be of short duration and that Mr. Isenberg will soon be reinstated as supervisor, for all that I have ever heard speak of Mr. Isenberg have a very favorable impression of him and would dislike to see him dismissed; but Government officers are mighty uncertain, for today you are on top, tomorrow you are away down below—perhaps somebody has a pet that wants the office and has trumped up some, as is to be hoped false charges, to oust Mr. Isenberg.

A Pretty Compliment. Sir William Harcourt, a political rival but still an admirer of Disraeli, once paid a pretty compliment to Lady Beaconsfield.

He was dining with the Disraelis and sat beside the hostess, who observed that he was looking at the picture of a lightly robed lady on the wall opposite and said, "It oughtn't to be allowed in here, but it is nothing to the Venus that Dizzy has up in his bedroom." "That I can well believe," replied he with a gallant bow. This was one of the rare occasions on which Disraeli smiled.—Meynell's Biography of Beaconsfield.

The Proof of It. Casey (after Riley has fallen five stories)—Are you dead, Pat? Riley—Oh ain.

Casey—Shure, yer such a liar Oi don't know whether to believe yer or not.

Riley—Shure, that proves Oi'm dead. Yer wudn't dare call me a liar if Oi wur alive!—Judge.

Caught at Last. "Sir" cried Mr. Preksniff indignantly. "How dare you accuse me of such things? My reputation, sir, is spotless."

"Your reputation may be, sir," replied the detective, "but you're not. We spotted you some time ago."—Exchange.

A BUSINESS LUXURY

A CHECKING-ACCOUNT is indeed a business necessity; and he who tries to get along without one is at great disadvantage. It is not required that a person should have a large bulk of business in order to open an account. Professional men, farmers, and even many women, are running checking-accounts. If you have never done business in this way, and are not familiar with the plan, come to us and we will get you started.
