

A POET'S ALOOFNESS.

The Manner in Which Wordsworth Was Regarded by His Neighbors. The worthies of Wordsworth's village in the lake country of England had their own ideas of his value as a man and a poet.

"He did not notice them much," said an old man in answer to questions asked by the author of "Lake Country Sketches."

"A Jem Crow and an auld blue cloak was his rig," continued the old man. "And as for his habits, he had none. Niver knew him with a pot 'n his hand or a pipe 'n his mouth."

After deep probing the author brought out: "Yes; Wordsworth was fond of a good dinner at times if you could get him to it. That was the job."

Then the poet's aloofness was again touched upon. "He was forever pacing the roads and his own garden walks and always composing poetry. He was terrible strong in visitors and folks ye mun ken at times, but if he could get awa' fra them a spell he was out upon his walk."

"And then he would set his head a bit forrad and put his hands behind his back. And then he would start a-bumming, and it was bum, bum, bum, and go on bummung for long enough right down and back again. I suppose, ye ken, the bummung helped him out a bit."

Not a Good Looker. From the mountains of Camden, Me., comes a story of a Philadelphia merchant who has a summer cottage in that village and who wished to exchange a lively horse which he owned with a French Canadian who had a more gentle animal, which women and children could drive.

An exchange satisfactory to both parties was eventually made, and the first time the visitor's wife took the new horse out for a drive she discovered that the beast was as blind as a mole. A few days later, when the rusticator met the Frenchman, he said: "See here, you rascal! That horse you swapped with me for mine was stone blind. Why didn't you tell me of it at the time?"

"Ah'm bin try tell you all Ah'm bin know how fer to tell. Ah'm bin say my horse was ho look lak you horse—say so seex, nine tams. Ah'm no bin blam' eef you no hear me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Trees Shaped by the Wind. The effect of wind upon trees is powerful. Even the presence or absence of forests may be determined by the character of the prevailing wind or the conditions that modify it.

History Made Palatable. Joseph Salvador, the French historian, and Jules Sandeau, a novelist, made their meeting at a public reception the occasion for a dispute as to the respective places which they occupied in the world of letters.

"The reading of history is like a pill—it needs the sugar coating to make it palatable," argued the novelist.

"Ah, but it is the ingredient which cures, not the coating," remarked the historian.

"Then let us divide honors," said Sandeau, "for if it were not for my sugar coating your historical facts would dry on the shelves."

The Duration of a Dream. One evening Victor Hugo was dictating letters to his secretary. Overcome by fatigue, the great man dropped into a slumber. A few moments afterward he awoke, haunted by a dream which, as he thought, had extended over several hours, and he blamed his secretary for sitting there waiting for him instead of waking him or else going away.

A Striking Simile. Old Employee—You know as well as I do that I have been as faithful as clockwork in your employ. Old Employer (bitterly)—Yes, just exactly as faithful as clockwork. You struck every time you could and never gave more than five minutes' warning.—Baltimore American.

Classifying Him. "Yes, ma'am," said the peddler, "this here hair tonic will raise hair on a billiard ball." "But will it raise hair on a pumpkin?" asked the lady of the house. "Well, I should say so!" "I'll take a bottle and get my husband to try it."—Judge.

The Building SEASON Will Be Lively. We have provided plenty of building material, such as doors, windows, hardware, wall paper, paints and oil. Some unscrupulous persons will claim that they can buy doors and windows cheaper in Portland than in Oregon City, but we say no; bring your list of doors and windows and our figures will prove what we say. We only invite cash buyers, as we will not sell building material on credit.

We want you to be sure of how the paper will look on your walls. Do not make the mistake of pasting it on and regretting afterwards. Use judgment in selecting. Use care in buying. Our stock is large enough to afford you just the right paper. You don't have to send east for your paper. We have remnants of good paper which will be sold at 5c per double roll as long as it lasts.

Some Stoves Are as full of tricks as the heathen Chinese. By the time the cook learns the use of all the dampers and drafts you are giving up cooking. Simple in Mechanism is our Charter Oak Range, It is simply made to do the work without all the quirks. Want a set of Chairs? Ask for our Sitting Room Chair. $3.85 for 6 High Back well built chairs.
