TOLD IN SIDEHEADS.

MORE PATENTS ARRIVE.—Cash patents have been received at the Oregon City Land Office in favor of the following named claimants: DeWitt C. Connell and Nannie P. Latimer.

DIED AT CHEHALIS.—Thomas A. Fitch, a former resident of this city, died recently at Chehalis, Washington. Mr. Fitch was for some time associated with his son, Chas. A. Fitch, in the publication of the Herald in this city.

NEW LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS.—Estacada Lodge No. 175, of Estacada, has filed articles of incorporation with County Clerk Slight. The lodge, which was organized with a good membership, possesses property of the value of $450.

A FRACTURED LIMB.—George Brown, of this city, sustained the fracture of the right leg just above the ankle Monday. He was assisting in the moving of a large sliding door, when it became detached and, falling, caught him before he could get out of the way.

FORMERLY RESIDED HERE.—George Sheppard, a former resident of Oregon City, died of pneumonia Monday at his home in Seattle. The deceased was an uncle of Mrs. Chas. Albright of this city. Burial services will be held at Portland this afternoon.

CHARGED WITH DRUNKENNESS.—Helen A. Knox, who was wedded to Frank A. Knox at Portland in November, 1902, has brought a suit for divorce from Knox whom she charges with drunkenness and failure to provide. The plaintiff also asks to resume her maiden name, Helen A. Armstrong.

ANOTHER DIVORCE SUIT.—Bernice DeMenies has filed suit for divorce from George F. DeMenies, whom she charges with making unattractive proposals to her and having committed adultery with a woman named May Hansen at Minneapolis, Minnesota. The parties were married in Minnesota in 1897.

With the arrival of settled weather, Oregon City people should show their civic pride by inaugurating a thorough cleaning of streets campaign. Nothing contributes more to improved appearance of a city than clean streets and alleys. In this connection there is opportunity for some work in this city.

IS AN ACTIVE FIREMAN.—Monday afternoon Chief Ruppel of the Oregon City Volunteer Fire Department, discovered a fire on the Oregon City approach to the suspension bridge. The blaze, which was started by a cigar stub, was discovered in an incipient state, and extinguished before any damage resulted to the bridge.

MADE HER GRUB STAMPS.—Because her husband compelled her to work on the farm as a day laborer grubbing stumps, Elizabeth Avery has brought a suit for divorce from John Avery whom she married at Kalama, Washington, less than a year ago. The woman asks the court for a legal separation and the sum of $20 per month as alimony.

HAVE A CLASS PIN.—The members of the '04 class of the Harelay High school have adopted a class pin. It consists of a triangular gold pin bearing in raised letters the figures 1904. This class will be the largest ever graduated from the Oregon City public schools. It will consist of about thirty members.

MAY LOCATE AT ARLINGTON.—Howard M. Brownell, one of Oregon City's ambitious young men, left the first of the week for Arlington, Eastern Oregon, where he may decide to locate and engage in the legal practice. While his many friends here will regret to see Howard make the change still they entertain for his success only the kindest wishes should he go to Arlington.

CERTIFICATES OF ATTENDANCE.—The following named pupils of the Halstead school are among the Clackamas county pupils entitled to the large certificates: Tillie Miller, Lydia Lais, Laura Lais, Catherine Beer, Anna Beer, all of Hubbard. "I must tell you of our basket social on March 25. We sold twenty-five baskets and cleared $25.10," says Fannie M. Yoder in a letter to Superintendent Zimmer.

WILL INSPECT STOCK.—Dew Wright has been appointed stock inspector for Clackamas county by the county court. The appointment of Wright was considered expedient that steps may be taken to prevent the further spread of mange among horses in the eastern section of the county. Animals afflicted with the disease, have been and are now being brought into the county from Eastern Oregon.

PARALYSIS OF THE HEART.—John Baxter, who came to Oregon in 1852, died suddenly at his home in this city last Thursday night of paralysis of the heart. He had been enjoying usual good health and dropped dead as he left the supper table. The deceased is survived by a widow and eleven children. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon and burial took place in Mountain View cemetery.

MORE PATENTS.—Patents have been received this week in favor of the following named persons: Hiram H. Brown, Joseph S. Goularte, Frank E. Brown, Mary Jane Robnett, cash patents; Jessie Bradshaw, Mand Bradshaw, Eva Curtis, William Clapham, Oliver I. Curtis, David C. Currie, Josephine Gay Godbey, Oscar Gehrig, Kate Martin, Walter K. Montagne, Mary J. Mack, Albert L. Parker, Cecilia F. Spencer.

DANCE WAS A SUCCESS.—The dance given at the Armory hall Saturday evening by the '04 class of the Oregon City High School was a pleasing success. A very enjoyable dance programme was provided, Turney's orchestra furnishing the music. About $15 was realized for the athletic fund for which benefit the dance was given. Mrs. C. H. Canfield, Mrs. G. A. Harding, Mrs. T. F. Ryan, Miss A. E. Clark and Mrs. C. O. Albright were the patronesses.

GAVE CAKE SOCIAL.—The Saturday Club of the First Congregational church gave a cake social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McGiechie last Friday evening. Each person present represented some cake and much fun was derived from a guessing contest. Mrs. T. L. Charnas was the most successful in solving the identity of the cakes represented while Mr. Chase received the nooby. An informal programme of music and recitations preceded the guessing which was followed by the serving of refreshments.

PLEASED WITH THE SYSTEM.—J. W. Cairns, councilman; Fred Ditt, superintendent and engineer of water works; and S. C. Armstrong, a member of the Board of Trade, visited this city recently as a committee appointed by the city council of Colfax, Washington, to investigate the local water system. These gentlemen visited the filterer and examined its operation and also inspected the reservoir, taking samples of the water home with them. They were agreeably pleased with the system in use here. The Oregon City Water system is owned and controlled by the city.

WILL STOP COCK FIGHTING.—Representatives of the Oregon State Humane Society were in the city recently to invoke the aid of the Clackamas county authorities in an effort to suppress the series of cock fights that are being held at Oswego, near this city. This form of entertainment was recently prohibited in Portland and the sports have transferred the arena of their contests to Oswego. Unless the practice is abated, the Humane Society threatens to cause the arrest of those encouraging and patronizing the fights. This would include a number of prominent sportsmen of Portland and Oregon City.

ANOTHER RURAL ROUTE.—Word has been received by Postmaster Thomas Randall that a third free rural mail delivery route will be started from the Oregon City post-office on May 16. This is the last route that was petitioned for and its establishment was highly recommended by the government inspector of routes. It is about twenty-two miles in length and will serve a section of the county contiguous to Oregon City and the Carns and Boyer Creek localities. Since the territory covered by the route is probably the largest and most important operated from this city. The establishing of this route will probably result in the discontinuance of the post offices at Beaver Creek and Carns.

DO NOT APPROVE OF DANCING.—The fact that the 1904 class of the Oregon City High school gave a dance at the Armory hall in this city last Saturday night for the benefit of the athletic fund of the school association, has provoked some comment among the members of the city. Consent was obtained from the members of the Board of Directors and the City Superintendent of Schools to give the dance which was generally attended by the people of Oregon City, about $15 being raised from the dance. In fact the wives of the Board of Directors of the schools in company with the city superintendent served as patronesses at the party. The local ministerial association may present the matter to the Board at its next meeting.

MANY VISITORS HERE.—Sunday was the first pleasant day the Willamette Valley has experienced in a number of weeks. As a consequence Oregon City was filled the greater part of the day by a throng of visitors from Portland. The crowd was augmented somewhat from the fact that the O. W. P. Ry. Company has resumed its Sunday excursion rate of 25 cents for the round trip between this city and Portland. It is announced that Canemah Park will be opened for the summer months on Sunday. A great many local fishermen spent the day in the interior of the county at some favorite fishing point and of course, all returned with well filled baskets. It is yet a little early for good fishing in the mountain streams. Local pictorial artists report that the streams are still carrying a volume of cold snow-water while the much sought trout is distinguished to bite. Some fair catches, however, were made.

SOCIALISTS NOMINATE TICKET.—The Socialists of Clackamas county held a convention in this city at the Woodmen hall last Saturday afternoon and named a complete legislative and county ticket. There were in attendance about thirty delegates. Nominations were made as follows: Representatives—W. D. Hill, Shabel A. Luelling, Oregon City; A. J. Mendel, Oregon City; Sheriff, M. P. Graves, Mackburg; clerk, C. S. Howard, Mullino; recorder, C. E. Hilton, Needy; commissioner, M. V. Thomas, Sandy; treasurer, G. K. H. Miller, Oregon City; school superintendent, Robert Guther, Needy; assessor, Wm. Beard, Ely. The nomination of coroner and surveyor was left to the county central committee. W. W. Meyers was elected chairman and organizer of the county central committee. The Socialists expect to conduct an active campaign in Clackamas county this year but it promises to be a decent, clean one for at the convention Saturday a resolution was adopted instructing the party's candidates to refrain from personal abuse while on the canvass.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.—Henry Meldrum, of this city, former surveyor general for Oregon, has been indicted by the federal grand jury at Portland on the charge of forgery. Mr. Meldrum is accused of forging petitions for surveys in Harney county, that he might collect fees from the government. It is charged that these petitions were manufactured in Mr. Meldrum's office and that he forged fictitious names to them. It is alleged further that through these false petitions he was enabled to let contracts for the surveying and collect the fees allowed him for such services by the government. Mr. Meldrum was arraigned Monday morning pleaded not guilty to the charge and was released. His trial will take place some time subsequent to April 25 when the federal trial jury has reported. The many friends of Mr. Meldrum in this city were surprised to learn of his indictment. They do not think that Mr. Meldrum has committed any intentional fraud against the government, and that if there has been disclosed any irregularity in connection with his administration of the office, it is the result of outside schemers, who have taken advantage of his generosity and led him to make technical breaches of his official trust.

WERE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED.—Charivari parties and many of them have been tendered Mr. and Mrs. Thos. P. Randall since their return to this city last week. Hardly a night elapsed for a week following their return to this city but this popular couple was serenaded in some form or other. Monday night the Oregon City Drum Corps called at the Randall home on the hill and after giving a selection or two, the members of the Corps were invited in and the evening was most delightfully passed. Tom and his wife were quite prepared for the disturbers of the peace who were treated in a royal manner. Later the Macabee quartet arrived and gave a number of its best selections. Toasts were proposed in the discussion of a delicious lunch and at a late hour the company disbanded assuring the host and hostess that their arrival, noisy as it was, was none the less sincere than was their expression for much happiness for them both. It was an occasion that will be ever pleasantly remembered by both disturbed and disturbers.

THEY GOT SIX YEARS.—William Mills, George Willis and Hugh Carpenter, who pleaded guilty to charges of raising and altering postal money orders, were sentenced to six years at hard labor in the State Penitentiary by United States District Judge Bellinger this morning. Before sentence was passed each prisoner was asked if he had anything to say and in response made a sworn statement. Willis, who is a young man, with cadaverous features, said he was a salesman by occupation, and had lived in Portland some time. He had been in trouble before, but not for altering postal orders. Asked by District Attorney Hall if he had not attempted to pass a raised money order in Vancouver, he replied in the negative. Mills, who is a short, heavy set man, with tricky eyes, admitted that he had been guilty of altering the orders, but said he had never passed any of them. Like Willis he denied having attempted to pass raised orders in Vancouver. Carpenter almost whispered his statement to the court and his only words that were audible to the spectators were that he had never been in trouble before. Judge Bellinger sentenced the men to six years in the penitentiary, the lowest penalty prescribed by law.—Telegram, April 8.—These are the three young men who were detected in this city by Officers Shaw and Noblett one night last winter. The forgers were attempting to pass some of their forged paper when caught.

HOW TO TREAT A REPORTER. Just a Few Suggestions Having No Local Application, of Course.

As the Enterprise reporter was glancing over some exchanges recently, his eye was attracted by a half column contribution with the caption: "How to Treat a Reporter." After digesting the appropriate suggestions contained therein the reporter was inspired to add a number of other suggestions and they are herewith respectfully submitted to a thoughtless and oft-times unappreciative public.

In the first place get angry if he fails to mention your name in each issue of the paper. Become indignant if he tells the truth about you. If he should misrepresent you, innocently or otherwise, do not give him a chance to apologize or explain, but make him look like a vanquished pugilist. Supply him with about $8 worth of advertising for a church social, concert, athletic entertainment, etc., which you expect will be published gratis, then neglect to remember him with a complimentary ticket, remind him that he should be public-spirited enough to patronize such an enterprise and then wonder why the next issue of the paper does not contain a half-page write-up of the social function. Work the reporter—he's easy—for all the hot air you have the nerve to apply for and then when you have any job printing or advertising, in which a mere profit is to be made, be sure to direct the work to the office of his contemporary.

Tell him every time you see him that he should get in and whoop it up for the community, and then when he asks you to put a six inch ad in the paper or subscribe for the sheet tell him that you can not see that there is anything to be gained by advertising and you are too busy to read his paper. If you are a public officer it is your duty to jump onto him and severely criticize him for anything that appears in the paper concerning city or county affairs that is not gospel truth. When you find that he is not the author of the article to which you object, do not apologize for he would not know how to act. You must make it your business to give him with or without cause.

When he fills up the local and editorial columns with baked atmosphere in an attempt to explain high taxes and remove the blame from the county officers for the existing condition of affairs, if you are a county officer you must hold him up and give him the devil because he does not have more to say in his paper for the good of the party. Give him an interview, political or otherwise, and then deny that you ever said it. Never give him any encouragement in his work—he would not know what to do with it.
