

OREGON CITY—CONTINUED.

Oregon City Foundry. One of the leading industries of this city is the Oregon City Foundry, Mr. A. J. Roake, proprietor. Mr. Roake has been engaged in the business here for the past three years, and has built up a most satisfactory business. He has a well equipped foundry, fitted with modern improved machinery, and gives employment to a number of skilled men. His plant is most complete and he is prepared to do all kinds of machinery and structural castings in copper, brass and iron. Mr. Roake is a gentleman who thoroughly understands the business, and during the time that he has been located here he has built up a reputation for high class work at reasonable prices. Satisfaction is always guaranteed when doing business with this gentleman.

C. H. Dye. In reviewing the legal lights of the Clackamas County Bar a prominent place must be accorded Mr. C. H. Dye. Mr. Dye was admitted to the bar in the state of Iowa, and some fourteen years ago he cast his fortunes with the people of Oregon City, and has been most successful in his practice. He is a splendid type of the able, vigorous practitioner, fully abreast of his profession, and during the many years that he has practiced here has always observed the highest standard as an attorney. He practices in all courts, and has been identified with much important litigation in this section of the state. He has served the people of this county in the capacity of Deputy District Attorney with marked distinction. Mr. Dye prepares abstracts, makes loans, and writes insurance in the leading companies. Mr. Dye was the originator of the Chautauqua, and has been prominently identified with it since.

Cascade Laundry. As cities progress and grow, and as business increases in volume, the old slow foggy methods of conducting the same are through necessity supplanted by more modern and perfect means. Oregon City has a steam laundry fully equipped with all modern machinery, and operated by a gentleman who thoroughly understands every detail of the business. Mr. E. L. Johnson, proprietor of the Cascade Laundry, has conducted this plant since last April, and has met with splendid success. He contemplates further improvements and the addition of more new machinery in the immediate future. He employs only competent and experienced help and the work turned out by the Cascade Laundry is equal to that of any in the state. Work is called for and delivered in a prompt and satisfactory manner and at reasonable prices.

Charman & Co. The public has a right to demand that the drug business be conducted by the most capable representatives. This leads us to say that Charman & Co., proprietors of the City Drug Store, have been in business here since 1882, and their store is one of the most attractive in the city, and occupies a store room in the Charman Bros. block, the finest building in the city. It is presided over by a competent pharmacist, and the prescription department is given full consideration, exercising the most discriminating intelligence and skill in compounding medicines. They carry the largest and most complete stock of drugs in the city, and during the time that they have been in business here they have always enjoyed the fullest confidence of the public. In addition to a full line of drugs and chemicals this firm handles books and stationery, cutlery, paints, oils and glass, and their prices are as low as first class goods can be sold for.

The Portland Flouring Mills Co. Nothing affects the health and happiness of mankind more than the bread they eat, and as good bread is impossible without good flour it is safe to say that the miller is more closely identified with the source of human enjoyment than any of the many who contribute to it. The Portland Flouring Mills is a splendid example of what has been accomplished in the milling profession within the last few years. These mills are modern throughout and equipped with the latest improved machinery and have a capacity of 600 barrels of flour per day, in addition to other mill stuffs. The flour manufactured by these mills is highly recommended by bakers and other experts, and when they put "Patent" on a sack of flour it may be depended upon that none better is made. The Portland Mills is one of the chief enterprises of Oregon City, and pays out large sums of money for wages, taxes and running expenses, to say nothing of affording the highest cash market for grain. A warehouse in connection with the mill has a storage capacity of 250,000 bushels of wheat. Mr. R. C. Ganong is managing agent for the mills here, and a gentleman of wide experience in the business.

Pacific Soda Water Works. An important industry of this city is the bottling works owned and conducted by Bigham & Bauer, known as the Pacific Soda Water Works. They have a large plant thoroughly equipped with all the latest and most modern improved machinery for filtering, sterilizing, charging and bottling purposes. They manufacture and bottle soda water of all kinds and flavors, champagne cider, ginger ale and all kinds of carbonated drinks. The products of this plant are strictly pure and find favor wherever introduced for their purity, flavor and general excellence. The bottling is done under the careful supervision of experienced bottlers, and the strictest sanitary regulations. This firm is composed of G. W. Bigham and W. I. Bauer, two well known business men of this city. They succeeded in this business some three years ago, and have built up a splendid trade.

Geo. A. Harding. No more valuable business is to be found in any community than a well regulated drug store, and more especially so if presided over by a competent pharmacist. The accuracy of compounding medicine is equal in importance to the prescribing of the right kind of medicine. Mr. Geo. A. Harding is a pharmacist with years of experience and his competency in this line is well known. Mr. Harding sold drugs in Oregon City as early as 1861, and for the past thirty-one years he has been engaged in the drug business in Oregon City for himself. He carries a large stock of pure drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, toilet articles, paints, oils, glass, etc. By liberal dealing, personal competency and close attention to the wants of customers he has built up a large and growing trade. Mr. Harding is a pleasant, courteous gentleman and a citizen who stands high in this community.

C. S. Seamann, A. M., M. D. The profession of medicine is one of the noblest callings in existence, as the man who adopts it must be at once learned, classical, of sound judgment, untiring energy, a kind philanthropist and an indefatigable worker. Day and night he must be ready to respond to the calls of the sick and distressed, and his reward is not always money, but his work of silent charity lends an additional charm and dignity to a profession that cares for the whole human race. One of the scholarly representatives of the medical profession of Oregon City is Dr. C. S. Seamann. Dr. Seamann is a graduate of the medical department of the State University of Oregon, and has practiced his profession in this city for the past six years. Dr. Seamann makes a specialty of diseases of the eye, fitting glasses and examining eyes. He is especially well prepared for this line of practice, having taken a special course under Prof. Eaton, of the Cooper Medical College, of San Francisco. Dr. Seamann commands a large practice here and is the medical examiner for several insurance companies. Despite the exacting nature of a busy professional life Dr. Seamann finds time to take his full part as an enterprising and public-spirited citizen.

Wm. McLarty. This gentleman is one of the best tailors that ever threaded a needle in Clackamas county. He has been engaged in the tailoring trade here for the past two years, and employs none but skilled help to turn out the work that finds its way to his shop. He has a long list of satisfied customers here among the business and professional men of this city, and every garment turned out by him is warranted to give entire satisfaction. He carries in stock a nice stock of the best weaves, and is prepared to supply customers with the best on short notice. Good workmanship, perfect fit and fine finish characterize all the work turned out by Mr. McLarty.

J. Knowland. The occupation of a merchant tailor is an important one in the make-up of a city's resources, and we take pleasure in pointing out where the same may be had in perfection, and at a moderate cost. We refer to Mr. J. Knowland. This gentleman is a workman of skill and ability, and every garment turned out by him is warranted as to fit, finish and workmanship. He carries in stock a nice line of domestic and foreign weaves, which enables customers to make suitable selections at all times. If in need of a new suit of clothes and you want them cut to fit and made to wear, leave your measure with Mr. Knowland. It will please you and pay you.

John Schwikert. Among the newer business men of this city we must mention Mr. John Schwikert, the grocery dealer, located at 211, Seventh street. This gentleman hails from Spokane and has just opened up a nice clean stock of staple and fancy groceries, cigars, tobaccos, confections, etc. His store is neat, clean and inviting, and he is fast securing a long list of most desirable customers. His goods are the best that money and experience can buy, while his prices are as low as the best can be sold for. If you have not had the pleasure of doing business with Mr. Schwikert by all means try the experiment. It will please and pay you.

M. C. Strickland, M. D. Oregon City is fortunate in the possession of able professional men, and among them are found many of high educational attainments, who secured their training in the modern schools of our metropolitan cities. No science has advanced so rapidly during the past decade as that of healing and the discoveries of learned chemists, and the many mechanical and electrical inventions, together with the lessons learned by the wisest physicians after years of study and experiment have all gone to modernize and perfect this, the oldest profession existing. Among the professional men of this city, Dr. M. C. Strickland ranks high and commands a large practice. Thoroughly equipped with natural ability and medical training he located here eight years ago, and soon rose to prominence. He is a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia, graduating in 1889, and also of the Post Graduate School of New York City, and several other medical institutions. The equipment of his office is modern and includes all of the latest appliances for diagnosing obscure diseases and treating the many disorders. Dr. Strickland was County Coroner for four years and is well known in medical circles throughout the state.

Electric Cash Grocery. The grocery trade is well represented here, but a neater, nicer or better place to trade than at the Electric Cash Grocery would be hard to find. Mr. D. M. Kiems, the proprietor of the Electric Cash Grocery, has been in business here for the past three years, and has met with splendid success. He carries a full line of staple and fancy groceries, flour, cured meats and provisions, and his prices are always in accordance with the times. Mr. Kiems keeps his stock fresh and well assorted, and patrons who have patronized him during the time that he has been in business here have never had just cause for complaint. He sells for cash and cash only, and customers are not charged a little more on each article to make up bad bills. If they trade at the Electric Cash Grocery, in addition to a full line of groceries, Mr. Kiems handles queensware, granite-ware, tinware and house furnishing goods. This store can be safely recommended to the favorable consideration of the buying public.

J. M. Price. In our business review of Oregon City we feel called upon to make favorable mention of Mr. J. M. Price, the well known clothier. This gentleman commenced business here some seven years ago, and by fair and square dealing with the public he has built up a reputation for selling strictly high grade goods at the lowest possible prices. He carries a large and complete stock of ready to wear clothing, embracing the latest fashions and styles and the best weaves from the leading looms of this country and Europe. Every novelty of fashion is secured as soon as it makes its appearance on the market. His stock embraces furnishing goods, hats, caps, trunks, valises and everything new, fine or fashionable in footwear. His large and well selected stock enables customers to make suitable selections at all times and his reputation for fairness is a sufficient guarantee that you will get full value for every dollar expended with him.

Electric Hotel. Good hotel accommodations add as much to the advantages of a town or city as any one thing. Is there a good hotel in town? is one of the first questions a man will ask on reaching a city. Answering this question on behalf of Oregon City, we say, Yes, the Electric Hotel is first class in every particular. It is a handsome, three-story structure, centrally located, and contains 55 nice, clean rooms, comfortable beds, and the table is supplied with the best the markets afford, while the service is first class. The building is modern in every particular, and the only first class hotel in the city. Mr. Cassell, the proprietor of the Electric Hotel, has conducted this house for the past five years, and is well and favorably known to the traveling public. He gives his personal attention to the details of the business and spares no pains to make the stay of guests pleasant while at his house.

H. M. Harnden. One of the attractive places in this city is the ice cream parlor and confectionery store owned by Mr. H. M. Harnden. It is known as the Cozy Candy Kitchen, and is kept neat, clean and inviting. Mr. Harnden manufactures his own candies and ice cream and uses nothing but the purest of ingredients. The reputation of his place for serving the very best in his line is well established, and he has long enjoyed the lion's share of the business. He also carries a nice stock of nuts, cigars, tobaccos and smokers' goods. Mr. Harnden has been a resident of this city for eight years and is well known here.

F. C. Gadke. Of late years the subject of sanitary plumbing has received the careful attention of scientific men, and the perfection to which the science has been brought is the best comment upon the intelligence that has been devoted to it. Mr. F. C. Gadke has earned an enviable reputation in this line during the eight years that he has been in the business here. Those who have entrusted their work to him in the past, which includes some of the best buildings in the city, are pleased with his work and satisfied with his prices. He carries a full line of plumbers' supplies and makes a specialty of heat, plumbing and ventilating. None but skilled men are employed and every job is warranted to give entire satisfaction.

Trimble & Son. Among the foremost blacksmiths of this city is the firm of Trimble & Son. This firm is composed of W. M. Trimble and his son, Robert, two clever mechanics. They have been in business here for about two years and have a large and well equipped shop and carry on a general blacksmithing business. They are workmen of skill and ability and employ none but competent help in their shops. They do all kinds of repairing, wood work, and make a specialty of horseshoeing. The members of this firm are enterprising and progressive, and all work turned out by them is guaranteed first class and at reasonable prices.

Commercial Bank. Few financial institutions so completely enjoy the confidence and esteem of the general public as does the Commercial Bank of Oregon City. A good and safe bank is a great convenience and benefit to any town or city, and the people of this city daily show their appreciation of this institution by their patronage. The Commercial Bank was established in 1889, and has an authorized capital stock of $100,000. This bank has been a strong factor in the advancement and upbuilding of this city and county, and is always identified with all moves intended to benefit the same. Careful and conservative, it is an institution that can be safely recommended to all who may have occasion to open or carry accounts, or any loan, deposit or collection requiring the care, protection or advice of a safe and competent banking institution. The officers of this bank are well known men of affairs, of the strictest integrity, and of known financial responsibility, and are as follows: D. C. Latourette, president; C. D. Latourette, vice president; and F. J. Meyer, cashier.

Chas. Albright. The cut of the meat decides the dinner. Many fine steaks and juicy roasts have been spoiled in cooking, but more have been spoiled in the cutting. The proprietor of this market learned his trade in the severe school of experience, and has actively followed the butcher business for many years. He conducts the leading market of Oregon City, and does the lion's share of the business. He does his own slaughtering and carries in stock at all times a full line of fresh salt and cured meats, as well as fish, poultry and game in season. Mr. Albright is wide awake and up-to-date in his methods and fully deserves the patronage enjoyed. His shop is located at the corner of Fifth and Main streets.

Scripture & Beaulieu. Blacksmiths are plentiful here, but few if any equal Scripture & Beaulieu in knowledge of the business. This firm is composed of S. F. Scripture and A. C. Beaulieu. Mr. Scripture began business here sixteen years ago, and about six years ago Mr. Beaulieu was admitted as a partner in the business. They are clever mechanics and do a general blacksmithing and repair business, making a specialty of horseshoeing. They also do wood work, and use nothing but the best of material and employ none but skilled workmen to turn out the work that finds its way to their shop. All work is warranted and is done at reasonable prices.

Lamb & Sawyer. The bicycle has become such an important means of conveyance that the city that has not an agency or repair shop for this twentieth century vehicle is an exception. At the bicycle repairing and general jobbing emporium conducted by Lamb & Sawyer in this city will be found all of the leading makes of wheels for sale at the lowest possible prices. They handle such high grade wheels as the Rambler, Crescent and Columbia. They also handle a full line of guns, ammunition, fishing tackle and sporting goods generally. Their repair shop is equipped with all necessary machinery and labor-saving devices and work is turned out promptly and at reasonable prices. This firm is composed of W. H. Lamb and J. C. Sawyer, and during the three years that they have been in business here they have built up a splendid trade.

Miss Wisner. None of the arts come nearer our homes and affections than does photography. By this means the poor as well as the rich are enabled to preserve the pictured semblance of loved ones and to adorn their walls with pleasing reproductions of the best works of the masters. One of the skilled members of the profession is Miss Wisner, of this city. She is a true artist of talent and attainment, and her heart is in her work. She does all kinds of photographic work, including groups, and is prepared to take from the largest to the smallest photographs, and at reasonable prices.

Miss Edith Cheney. The desire to preserve the pictured semblance of loved ones and familiar scenes is as natural as life, and the people of Oregon City now enjoy special facilities in this line by reason of the recent location here of Miss Edith Cheney. This lady stands among the leaders in her chosen profession, and is fully equipped with a first class gallery. She is a lady with marked artistic taste and is prepared to do any and all kinds of work pertaining to the art of photography. While her work leaves nothing to be desired, it must not be supposed that her prices are high, for on the contrary they are most reasonable.

Oregon City Planing Mill Co. One of the important manufacturing enterprises of this city is the Oregon City Planing Mill Co. This institution has been established some four years, and by fair and square dealing with customers they have built up a large and growing trade. They manufacture window sash, doors, blinds, interior finish, turning, scroll work, and in fact any and everything usually manufactured by a first class planing mill. Their plant is equipped with the latest improved machinery, and they are prepared to fill all orders, large or small, promptly and at the lowest possible prices. Mr. F. S. Baker, the manager of the business, is a gentleman who understands the work from A to Z, and gives his personal attention to details, and satisfaction is guaranteed in every case. Mr. Baker is a wide-awake business man and a public-spirited citizen, and has done his full part to advance the best interests of this city.

Oregon City Machine Shop. A manufacturing enterprise noteworthy for its complete equipment and excellent product is the Oregon City Machine Shop, owned by Bucklein & Kleinshmidt. These gentlemen have been in business here together for one year, but Mr. Bucklein established the business a year previous to that time. They build engines and carry in stock a full line of engine and machine supplies, cold rolled and turned shaftings of assorted sizes, also boxes and pulleys, babbitt metal of all grades, rod and bar iron, machine bolts and screws, and in fact anything used by the sawmill man, the factory or logger. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not."
