WHAT THE LAW COST

IT TOOK $1710.52 TO ADOPT DIRECT PRIMARY MEASURE.

Law May Be Tested at Municipal Elections This Fall in Cities Having Population of 2000.

It cost the friends of the Direct Primary Nominations law $1710.52 to have the measure presented to the people and conduct the effective campaign that resulted in its adoption by a majority of 39,852, says an Oregon City special to the Oregonian. There were cast $5,205 votes in favor and 16,354 against the law. But the friends of the measure feel amply compensated for their work and the sacrifice made at the expense of the law. The total cost of this legislation, about $700 has been paid in and of the balance there is subscribed $500, leaving a deficit of nearly $200 that must be provided for by the friends of the law that was formed at the beginning of the campaign.

One of the principal items in connection with the cost of educating the people as to the proposed law and conducting the campaign in its behalf was the circulating of literature explanatory thereof. The total expense of $1710.52 was made up of the following items: Postage, $284.35; legal services to E. C. Bronaugh, S. B. Huston and V. R. Hyde, $199; stenographer, $111.20; telephone and telegraph services, $45.76; traveling expenses, W. S. U'Ren, $29.35; traveling expenses, C. F. Lockwood, $11.39; printing, $358.25; 25,000 envelopes, $67; canvassers for signatures for initiative petition, $483.55; 1000 folders from Michigan league, $8.95; mailing folders and circulating, and folding 12,000 circulars into the primary bills for Multnomah county, $106.75; office and miscellaneous expenses, $25.15.

"The first opportunity for a practical test of the new law will be presented in the annual municipal elections that will be held this fall," said W. S. U'Ren, of this city, secretary of the Direct Primary Nominations League of the state. "During the fall and early winter months, elections for city officers will be held at Salem, Albany and Oregon City, and there will be a chance to employ the provisions of this law and determine as to whether or not it contains any defects. If there are any serious objections to the measure in its present form, the bill can be corrected at the session of the legislature next winter and be made available for a more general use at the hands of the people in selecting candidates for county, district and state offices at subsequent elections. The provisions of the law apply to all cities having a population of 2000 or more, and will aid in regulating the management of municipal affairs."

ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS.

Sketches of the Republican Nominees for President and Vice President.

Theodore Roosevelt.
Theodore Roosevelt was born in New York City on October 27, 1858, entered Harvard college in 1876, and graduated in 1880; took up the study of law, but in 1881 was elected to the New York legislature, and was twice re-elected, in 1884 to choose delegates to the Republican national convention, and was selected as one of the four delegates at large from New York to the national convention; later in the same year he went to North Dakota and engaged in cattle raising for several years; in 1886 was the Republican nominee for mayor of New York City; was appointed a member of the United States civil service commission in May, 1889, by President Harrison; resigned this position in 1895, in order to accept the presidency of the police commission of New York City under Mayor Strong; in April, 1897, was appointed by President McKinley assistant secretary of the navy.

Upon the outbreak of the war with Spain in 1898, resigned this post and became lieutenant-colonel of the First United States Volunteer cavalry; was promoted to the colonelcy of the regiment; was in the fight at Las Guasimas and San Juan; was mustered out with his regiment at Montauk, Long Island, in September, 1898; was nominated shortly afterwards as the Republican candidate for governor of New York and elected in November, 1898; was unanimously nominated for vice president of the United States by the Republican national convention of 1900, and elected; succeeded to the presidency upon the death of President McKinley, September 14, 1901.

Charles Warren Fairbanks.
A little more than 10 years ago Charles Warren Fairbanks was hardly thought of as a factor in political life, yet in 1892 he was made chairman of the Indiana Republican convention, and one year later received the entire vote of his party in the legislature for the United States senatorship. The vote, however, was not large enough to elect. In 1897 his election came, and scarcely seven years after his appearance in Indiana politics he was talked of for the highest honors in the gift of the people of the United States.

Senator Fairbanks is a native of Ohio, having been born at Unionville Center, that state, in 1852. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university at the age of 20, and began his career as a newspaper man. Through the influence of his uncle, William Henry Smith, president of the Associated Press at that time, he secured a position with that organization at Pittsburgh. He found time to practice journalism and read law at the same time, and soon after he became a graduate of law his ability secured for him the position of solicitor for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. His success in corporation law gave him a wide reputation, and at the time of his election to the senate he was known as one of the most skillful railroad attorneys and financiers of the West.

Soon after his election to the senate a high compliment was paid to Mr. Fairbanks by his appointment as chairman of the United States branch of the Anglo-American joint high commission. The questions that the commission was expected to consider were of the highest importance, and their nature was such as to demand not only a profound knowledge of law, but the theory and practice of diplomacy. Throughout the trying negotiations of the joint high commission, Senator Fairbanks conducted the case of the United States in such a way as to command the respect of the British and Canadian commissioners and to retain their cordial personal regard and good will.

Mr. Fairbanks' home is in Indianapolis. He also occupies a large house in Massachusetts avenue, Washington, when congress is in session. Mrs. Fairbanks is one of the most prominent clubwomen in the country, and through that medium is almost as widely known as her distinguished husband.

CHAUTAUQUA IN SESSION.

A large number of people attended the opening session of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua at Gladstone Park Tuesday morning. The attendance for the succeeding days has been in excess of all expectations and there is even greater interest being taken in the program that is yet to be presented. Among the prominent speakers to address the Chautauqua this week were Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, of Greensburg, Pa.; Rev. Geo. White, D. D., San Francisco; Captain R. P. Hobson, Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Thos. McClary, of Minneapolis. In the initial baseball game Oregon City was defeated by the Willamettes, of Portland, score 5 to 4.

One of the most interesting programs of the entire Chautauqua session was the concert under the direction of Mrs. Walter Reed, of Portland, Wednesday night. This event will be rivaled in its entertaining worth by the beautiful sacred cantata "Queen Esther," that will be presented tomorrow evening, with Prof. M. E. Robinson as director.

A brief summary of the program for the remaining days follows: Saturday, July 16, lecture, Mrs. Marian A. White, Chicago; cantata, "Queen Esther;" Sunday, July 17, lecture, Rev. Geo. W. White, of San Francisco, and Rev. T. J. McClary, Minneapolis; Monday, W. C. T. U. gold medal contest and lecture by Rev. Geo. W. White, of San Francisco; Tuesday, lectures, Heret Bashford, Oakland, Cal., and Dr. Thos. McClary; Wednesday, lectures, Mrs. Marian A. White and Lou J. Beauchamp, Columbus, Ohio; Thursday, lecture, Lou J. Beauchamp, and musical and elocutionary entertainment under direction of Mrs. Harriett Colburn Saunders, Seattle; Friday, address, Hon. J. F. Caples, Portland, and lecture, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn; Saturday, lecture, Dr. Hillis, and cantata "Belshazzar;" Sunday, sacred band concert and two sermons by Dr. Hillis.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many An Oregon City Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Oregon City readers. Mrs. Painter, wife of J. W. Painter, expressman living at 219 East Seventh street, Portland, says: "I have had more or less kidney trouble all a severe spell of sickness and all who knew me thought I was going to die. I finally recovered but ever after my kidneys bothered me and I have suffered at times terribly. I could no more lie on my left side than I could fly, and could not stoop to pick up anything off the floor without working myself up gradually by placing my hands on my hips. In addition to this there were headaches, dizziness and trouble with the kidney secretions, for all of which I doctored and used more than one remedy said to be a sure cure for such annoyances. Nothing rought me relief compared with that received from Doan's Kidney Pills. The results stamp that remedy as one fully up to representations made for it."

WILL UTILIZE WATER

A REMARKABLE DEVELOPMENT OF INTERIOR OF THE COUNTY.

Several Water Rights Have Been Filed—Will Be Used for Manufacturing and Irrigating.

Clackamas county is experiencing a growth in the development of the interior of the county that was perhaps never dreamed of.

This work was initiated by the building of the Oregon Water Power & Railway company of an electric street railway to Estacada. Simultaneous with the building of this railway began the extensive settlement of the rich section of the county that is penetrated.

Numerous companies have been formed for utilizing the great water power of the mountain streams for manufacturing and irrigation purposes. Recently there were filed in the county recorder's office the plats and notice of the proposed appropriation of water from four different streams within the county. G. W. Waterbury, representing Portland capitalists, proposes to utilize the water in the Big Sandy for the purpose of operating an electric plant.

Fred P. Hurst, an officer of the Molalla Power & Irrigation Ditch company, has taken the right to appropriate water from the Molalla river, with which to operate an electric plant which furnishes Canby, Hubbard, Woodburn and other valley towns with electric lighting. Two similar water rights have been taken on the same stream by B. F. Giesey, of Aurora, who will use the water for irrigating purposes.

Since it was founded a few months ago the town of Estacada has experienced a large growth. Plats covering two separate additions to this town were filed today. C. W. Morrow, of the Oregon Water Power Townsite company, filed a plat for the first addition to Estacada. The other plat is designated as Zoberist's addition to Estacada.

PHOTO SHOWS COMING.

Monster Circus Scheduled for Oregon City July 26.

The Enterprise is authorized to announce the coming of the great Photo Shows, known from coast to coast as the Circus Beautiful. This wonderful tented aggregation will exhibit in Oregon City July 26, and exceptionally low rates will be made on all railroads. The Photo Shows are bigger and better than ever this year, and it is expected that thousands of residents of this community will attend. The Circus Beautiful has many attractive features. In fact, too many to individually enumerate here. The crowning attraction is Alexia, the Dare-Devil Dane, who daily flirts with death by looping the loop on an ordinary wagon wheel. Many men have looped the loop in the old way, but none have attempted to duplicate the act of Alexia.

Other features include the St. Leon Family of Acrobats, imported direct from France by the Photo Shows, La Belle Leonie, the only woman bare-back rider in the world, who turns a somersault while dashing at full speed around the ring; John Carroll's thrilling 72-horse act; Hier Litten's funny Dutch elephants; Mile. Arline, the Girl in Red; Professor D. G. Markle's wonderful dog, pony and monkey circus; the Ben Hur herd of spotted Arabian stallions, known in Arabia as the steeds of Black Eagle Feather, in remarkable exhibitions of equine intelligence—a real horse ballet; the Priekorn Brothers in an extraordinary bicycle act; the famous Sugimoto's Troupe of Japanese; the Ellett Troupe of Gymnasts in the Aerial feats, and Mile. Valletta, the fearless Jungle Queen, who performs a half dozen lions, tigers and leopards. Then there will be funny clowns galore, twenty or more.

The monster free street parade, a mile of opulent ornamental splendor, is given at 10 a. m. daily, and is followed by two performances, at 2 p. m. and at 8 p. m.

One of nature's remedies; cannot harm the weakest constitution; never fails to cure summer complaints of young or old. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.
