from Portland to this city.
 "The promoters of the plan do not propose to build and operate the line, but expect to gather statistics as to the amount the proposition would pay the investor, and then overtures will be made to capitalists. The residents of Clackamas are now ready to listen to a promoter who has the necessary coin to put the proposition through, and would like the address of such a one. If Portland-Salem line shall become an assured thing, they would like to have the road run through Clackamas."
 "The proposed route of the line is a very pretty and rich farming section, settled throughout by prosperous farmers. Should the line be built from this city to Portland, it would probably sooner or later be extended into the rich Molalla country and on to Wilhoit."

<h1>The Great Green Tag Sale Begins Saturday</h1>
If you'll visit our store during this sale you'll find hundreds and hundreds of articles marked with a green tag. A green tag on an article means that we are anxious to get rid of that particular article and that we are going to sell it at a price utterly regardless of cost or value. Not that there is anything wrong with the various articles on sale. But we have made it an invariable rule never to carry goods over from one season to another. Hence these extremely low prices on the very best of Summer merchandise.
