IT'S WORTH DEMONSTRATED.

As the worth of a garment is determined by its wear, so is the value of an advertising medium to be judged by the patronage it receives. In order to accommodate our large number of generous advertisers and at the same time furnish our readers with all the local and county news, the Enterprise this week obliged to add two extra pages.

The enlarged Enterprise, consisting of ten pages, while not a permanent change, will be continued as long as the enterprising merchants of Oregon City aid us in filling up the columns of the paper with their bright, attractive and readable advertisements.
