We are much pleased with the work of our competent staff of country correspondents this week. Every section of the county is represented by these active news gatherers on our correspondence page. The fact that all the people in these localities read the Enterprise accounts in a large measure for the worth of this paper as an advertising medium through which to reach the people of Clackamas county. The Enterprise hopes its faithful correspondents will continue their good services throughout the winter.

The certainty of the result of the Presidential election in Oregon this year is largely destroying popular interest and enthusiasm in the contest. The curbstone orator appears to be without employment and with a prosperous contentment the people of this section await the returns and the announcement of an unprecedented Republican majority in Oregon. The demand for campaign buttons, badges, lithographs and other evidences of political preference is discouraging to the dealer in novelties. We would not boast, but the Enterprise possesses and is displaying in its office windows the only portraits of Roosevelt and Taft, the Republican nominees. So far as we have observed these are the only pictures of the Republican candidates being exhibited in Oregon City. We have as yet to see the first portraits of Parker and Davis. At any rate the conditions attending the 1904 Presidential campaign are in striking contrast with the memorable scenes of the two preceding national contests.

Charged with the larceny of a horse, Lester Lewis, when arraigned before Justice Stipp Wednesday, waived an examination and was held to the circuit court under bonds of $500, which he was unable to furnish. Lewis, who is only 19 years old and an ex-convict, is accused of the theft of a horse and buggy from a farmer residing near Sherwood. The stolen property was disposed of in Portland.

Little recognition is given by many S. P. train crews to the provisions of the city ordinance which prohibits the blocking of a street for more than three minutes. Monday evening shortly before eight o'clock, a freight train of great length for twenty minutes interrupted the passing of pedestrians from the Seventh street steps. More than a score of pedestrians were detained until the train crew pleased to pull out of the station.

Tuesday evening the Portland Evening Telegram issued at considerable expense a special edition advertising the Lewis & Clark Fair and exploiting the resources of the state. The issue included a bird's eye view of the Exposition grounds and the buildings with a comprehensive write-up of the coming fair. Oregon and its many resources received full attention. The edition will do much toward advertising the coming fair and acquainting Eastern people with Oregon and what we have in this section, since the publication will be largely distributed among the Eastern states.

The story in the Argonaut for September 25th is by Frances Charles, the well-known novelist author of "The Country God Forgot." "A Child and Dog of Bohemia" is the title of the story, and is wonderfully well told. Pathos, humor, and character study are skillfully interwoven, and interest is sustained to the last word.

Geraldine Honner, writing to the Argonaut of September 25th from Florence, gives an attractive picture of the country surrounding that Italian town, and devotes much space to the city itself. She visited the principal picture galleries, and her comments on what she saw there are bright, witty, and informative.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING.

Major and Mrs. Charman Receive Their Friends in Honor of the Event.

Major and Mrs. Thomas Charman received a number of their friends at the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Walker, Tuesday evening in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The natural beauty of the Walker home was enhanced by the beautiful decorations, which consisted of autumn leaves, mountain moss, carnations and roses. The venerable couple received many beautiful presents from the guests, among whom were many representatives of the pioneer families in this section of the state, a large number of prominent people from Portland being in attendance. County Judge Ryan officiated at the wedding ceremony which was carried out and short talks were made by a number of the guests, to which Major Charman made response.

Major Charman is a native of Woking, county of Surrey, England, where he was born September 8, 1859. He came to the United States in 1883, locating at Oregon City in 1885, where for forty-six years he was prominent in the business life of the community. Mrs. Charman, nee Sophia Diller, was born at Baden Baden, November 28, 1834. She was the daughter of Joseph and Magdalena Diller, with whom she came to the United States when 8 years of age. She crossed the plains to Oregon in 1852, and on September 27, 1854 was united in marriage with Major Thomas Charman. Of the five children that blessed the union, three are living, as follows: Frederick Ross Charman, of Portland; Mrs. J. H. Walker, and Mrs. J. P. Lovett, both of Oregon City.

Previous to the reception of friends Tuesday evening, the members of the Charman family had a short reunion at which Major Charman related the circumstances that began with the event of fifty years ago and incorporated in his remarks a brief review of what has taken place since. His remarks were addressed to his faithful help-mate and he said:

"Through you I will give a sketch of a circumstance that took place in Oregon City many years ago, in which you took a part."

"Fifty years ago—on the 27th of September—we were united in bonds of holy matrimony by Rev. Dr. G. H. Atkinson, in this city, at the home of your parents and in their presence and in the company of your brothers and sisters, my true friend Mr. Arthur Warner, and many of our associates and friends."

"We have lived together happily and enjoyed each other's company; have shared each other's sorrows and disappointments and tried to multiply each other's joys and pleasures during this time. On this occasion we are surrounded by our children, their husbands, our grandchildren, relatives and friends to greet us on this fiftieth anniversary with friendship and congratulations, which we so much appreciate."

"We feel that we have been guided by Divine Providence up to this time and have great cause to be thankful to Almighty God for His mercy in sparing us to be present on this occasion. Our future happiness will largely depend on our children, grandchildren and friends, and pray they all will be guided by principles of Friendship, Love and Truth and ever be a consolation and comfort to us in our declining years, and an honor to our memory."

"I find but two now living who were with us at our wedding—Dear Mother Diller and Sister Mary Charman—the rest have passed away to the other shore to their eternal rest. Still their memory is dear to us and deeply engraved on our hearts and affections, but oh how sweet and happy the thought to us that when we shall pass away and cross the River, they will meet us on the shore to greet and welcome us to their Heavenly rest."

"Friends and relatives: We congratulate and thank you all for your presence and congratulations on this occasion and assure you that it will ever be a source of pleasure to us through our journey of life."

Social Events

The members of the First Congregational church substituted a real good social at the church parlors for their annual picnic this year. While the substitution was made necessary by the inclement weather, a none the less enjoyable time was had by the participants.

A reading circle has been organized by the intellectual people with the following officers: President, Mrs. Estella Salisbury; vice-president, Mrs. Emily Shaw; secretary, Mrs. Grant Olds. Meetings will be held every Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Emily Shaw by the club, which will first read "The Lady of the Lake," and then study Shakespeare.

The Fifty-second anniversary of Rebekah Odd Fellowship was celebrated by the Local Rebekah Assembly Friday evening by an informal entertainment. Miss Grace Marshall sang a solo and music for dancing was furnished by Cooke's orchestra. Ice cream and cake were served by the ladies. Mrs. H. E. Straight and J. C. Bradley won the prizes for whist playing, the consolation prizes going to Mrs. F. A. Sleight and H. E. Straight.

Wednesday evening, October 5, at Willamette hall, will occur the public installation of the newly elected officers of the local lodge of the Knights and Ladies of Security. Following the installation, dancing will be indulged in. The following are the officers who were elected at a meeting of the lodge last Wednesday night: Mrs. Augusta Lutz, president; Mrs. Schwartz, first vice-president; Abraham Maville, second vice-president; Mrs. Ross, prelate; Miss Beattie Woods, corresponding secretary; Miss Ella Lutz, conductor; Mrs. Cross, guard; Mr. Harris, sentinel; Mrs. Osborne, musician; Eli Deck, Mr. Bower and Mrs. White, trustees.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Charman were pleasantly surprised at their home by about seventy of their friends in celebration of their twentieth wedding anniversary which was observed a few days before. Friday was Mr. Charman's birthday and the friends decided to jointly observe the two anniversaries. Accordingly the members of the company assembled at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Bollinger and then went in a body to the Charman home. Mr. and Mrs. Charman were presented with a beautiful Haviland China dinner set. Mr. and Mrs. Charman and daughter June, will leave in October for California, where they will remain for the winter.
