BURNED

OREGON CITY VISITED BY $7200 FIRE LAST FRIDAY.

New Furniture Factory of Frank Busch's Practically Wiped Out .--Also Old Brewery

Las Friday night the old Oregon City Brewery building was burned to the ground and the furniture factory, .ecently established by Frank Busch, was practically reduced to ashes. Mr. Busch estimates his loss at $6000 with only $2000 insurance, while the brewery building, which is the property of the Weinhard estate, was valued at $1200 and was not insured. Slight damage also resulted to the Weinhard brick block.

The fire started in a part of the brewery building that was occupied by a Chinese janitor, and resulted from faulty chimney connections. The blaze was discovered shortly after 8 o'clock when ar alarm was promptly turned in. All three of the volunteer hose companies and Columbia hook and ladder company responded and worked faithfully until a late hour in the night, managing to save a number of residences that were for a time in great danger because of a south wind.

The old brewery building was a land mark in Oregon City, having been built in 1856. For a number of years it has been used for a stable and store house for the Weinhard brewery. The loss to Mr. Busch is especially unfortunate. The plant for the manufacture of furniture had scarcely been established and in good operation when it was wiped out by a fire. Coming as it did just before the holidays, Mr. Busch's loss is even greater. Besides a great amount of raw material that he had on hand. Mr. Busch also suffered the loss of a great amount of partially manufactured furniture.
