AN UP-TO-THE-HOUR POULTRY FARM.

The poultry business is rapidly outstripping in importance the wheat raising industry in the United States. Each year sees more attention paid to it, and although comparatively new in Oregon the business of raising poultry for market has taken a firm root here and is destined to have a good fortune, says a Benton county exchange. Benton county men are going at this business in earnest and we have many among us already who are greeding the finest poultry in the world. However, every one, save one exception, who has entered the field to make the business a side issue. The exception to this rule is S. H. Moore, proprietor of the College View Poultry Farm. This farm is situated on the outskirts of Corvallis and comprises fifteen acres of ground. Any person who expects to go into chicken culture will be well repaid for the time taken to visit Mr. Moore's farm. On the place are good substantial buildings of every description, but what is of greatest interest is the variety of convenient arrangements for handling chickens of all kinds and ages. Let us look into the matter closely and follow the methods of Mr. Moore. We will begin with placing eggs in the incubator. After this is done the best results are obtained by not touching the eggs for the first four or five days. After this time they are to be turned once or twice a day. A recent incubator test made at this farm gives some interesting results. Three incubators of the following kinds were tested under like conditions, under hygrometer test: Hot air incubator stood at twenty, hot water tank machine at fifty, while hot water pipe incubator stood at ninety; outside moist temperature (in the house) was 120. Hot air incubator hatched ninety-two chicks from 126 eggs. This was the best result, with hot water tank second and hot water pipe last and the latter so poor that Mr. Moore condemns it severely. The brooding house is newly built; it is 14x40 feet in size and hot water pipes run entirely through the length of this building and touch each of the six pens. The pens nearest the furnace have four pipes traversing them; while farther away there are but two pipes. The youngest, or last hatched chicks are placed in the pens nearest the furnace and have the heat of the four pipes. As each brood comes from the incubators they are placed in pen No. 1 and each preceding brood is moved out one pen. Connecting with the pens inside the building are outside pens and the little chicks are at liberty to go outside at any time they like. This they do and Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

soon learn that as soon as they become chilled there is warmth awaiting them inside.

The inner pens are littered with fine sand and this is frequently sifted and kept clean. Everything is looked after for the health of chickens and his action and general demeanor on this farm sets a hot pace for the proverbial busy bee. The main house on this farm is 125 feet long by 10 feet in width. Running and connecting with this house are five double yards in which the birds may run at large. These yards are twenty-five feet wide by 200 feet in length, but each may be closed in the center, by which arrangement there are ten yards 25x100 feet.

In the chicken house will be found everything in the way of convenience to facilitate handling the chickens and cleaning the pens, roosts, etc., and even the chicken itself. Some of the contrivances are beyond description.

For a lousy hen there is a barrel fixed on a crank and in this barrel said hen is placed, together with an abundance of louse killer powder, and given a spin for her life. For setting hens there are a number of prisons. The chicken roosts have blocks nailed on those used by the larger and heavier breeds to keep them from crowding. These blocks are nailed on the roosts just far enough apart for a chicken to set between them. The roosts themselves are about one and one-half or two inches square, not nailed down, and may be turned for cleaning. In cleaning the roosts Mr. Moore uses louse killer powder and kerosene oil, mixed. This spring Mr. Moore will incubate about 700 chicks. He raises at present Brown Leghorns and Barred Plymouth Rocks, but after this year he will keep only the latter breed, as he finds they are fully as good layers as the Brown Leghorns and are much better for marketing. Every egg Mr. Moore can hope to have by May 19 is already spoken for. This is certainly a great farm and we are informed as it stands today it could have been attached to the O. A. C. experimental farm a year ago, and there was strong talk of it a that time and much was advanced in favor of it doing so, but for some reason the matter was dropped. Had the college accepted Mr. Moore's proposition to establish an experimental poultry farm the latter would have put far more money into the business and the place would have been even better than it is today. Mr. Moore can boast of nine years practical experience in poultry raising. His place indicates his experience to be practical. Everything is up-to-the-hour on the College View Poultry Farm.

KIDNEY DISEASES CAUSE ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL DEATHS.

When the Kidneys fail to perform their functions properly by not straining out the poisonous waste matter from the blood as it passes through them, the poisons are carried by the circulation to every part of the body, deranging the different organs. This causes heart trouble, stomach trouble, sluggish liver and a host of other ills, all due to deranged Kidneys.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE. Mr. Robert G. Burke, Elnora, Saratoga Co., N. Y., writes:—I am glad to have an opportunity of telling what magnificent results I have had from using FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE after having tried other advertised medicines and several physicians. Before I began to use it I had to get up from my bed so many times each night that I was almost unable to get to sleep, and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. In fact, I was so badly used up that I had given up hope of living when I was urged by a friend to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders, and before I had taken the third bottle the superfluous flesh had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Kidney trouble. My friends were surprised that I was cured, as they all thought I was going to die.
