

Constipated All His Life.

MR. and MRS. WILBERT THOMPSON,
801 Main St., Peoria, Ill.
MULL'S GRAPE TONIC CURED HIM.

Wilbert Thompson never knew a well day until last June—he had been constipated all his life—many doctors treated him, but all failed to even help him—his health failed rapidly and on January 21, 1903, Mrs. Thompson asked us to suggest a treatment for her husband—We thought the case too serious and recommended that a specialist be consulted—but he also failed to help the patient—NOW HE IS WELL.

Mull's Grape Tonic Cured Him

Mrs. Thompson first wrote us as follows: "My husband, aged 28, suffers from sharp pains in his stomach and sometimes thinks it is his heart. Let me know by return mail what causes the pain, if you can. Mr. Thompson has been treated by several doctors, but they have given him up."
We promptly advised that a first-class specialist be consulted. We quote: "We want to sell Mull's Grape Tonic, because we know it will cure constipation, but do, a bottle is no object to us when a human life is at stake, and if your husband's case is as serious as you state, we suggest you consult a reliable specialist, not the advertising kind, promptly." At the same time, knowing that Mull's Grape Tonic could do no harm, we advised its use until a physician could be consulted. January 22 Mrs. Thompson wrote that a physician had been consulted. He diagnosed the case as being chronic constipation and dyspepsia. His treatment was followed faithfully, but there was no perceptible improvement in Mr. Thompson's health. Then he began taking Mull's Grape Tonic and on Sept. 3, 1903, we received the following letter from Mrs. Thompson:

"You will remember that I wrote to you last January in regard to my husband's health. It is four months since he quit taking Mull's Grape Tonic for constipation, which he suffered from since birth. He took just 24 bottles of it and is perfectly cured. He is much stronger and has gained considerably in flesh. I cannot thank you enough for Mull's Grape Tonic. It is worth its weight in gold. Just $12 cured him and he has spent hundreds of dollars with doctors who did him no good. Now I want to state my case to you and expect your early reply. I also have constipation, have had for three years. Kindly let me know as I am sure it will cure me if you say it will, as it did all you claimed it would in my husband's case. I await an early reply."
Very respectfully yours, MRS. W. H. THOMPSON, 801 Main St., Peoria, Ill.

OSWEGO.
Last Friday our public schools closed another successful year. In the afternoon the pupils gave a very interesting entertainment at the school building. The program consisted of songs, drills and dialogues, and every number showed the thoroughness of the training and discipline. Lena, Mary and Elizabeth Pugm Brock, Edna Waldorf, Tony Pollard, Gladys Nelson and Fred Rosenreiter, having been present every day during the term received certificates of perfect attendance. Eighth grade diplomas were presented to Sylvester Prosser, Mabel Elston, Della Nixon, Rudolph Erickson, Roy Fox, Henry Nagel and Lester Chinsfelder. Addresses were made by the school directors and Mr. Russell. At the close of the entertainment the pupils of the higher grades presented Principal F. T. Evans with a valuable oak chair. The exercises were thoroughly enjoyed by the very large number of parents and friends present, and all felt, as one of the speakers said, that "the Oswego school is second to none."

BARTON.
Rev. Levi Johnson held services at this place last Sunday.
The park is being nicely fitted up for the celebration.
Rural free delivery business is now in a flourishing condition. All we need now is a rural telephone.
Did you observe that smile of Ward's—it's a five pound girl.
Mr. Breithaupt has had his house repainted and the roof tarred. This house is one of the best and largest in the county.
Mr. Kerr will soon commence the erection of his new house.

ELDORADO.
C. and C. Smith and John Helvey have gone on the Columbia fishing.
Road Boss Darnell was in our burg over Sunday.

MULINO.

Rain! Still it is raining, and cold rain at that. If we don't have sunshine soon, the green aphid will injure grain. Corn is making very slow growth and is reported to have rotted in the ground. All kinds of garden truck are making slow growth and need warmer weather.
Albert Erickson, Chas. Bowman, Hal Howard and Ora Davis left for down river points to be engaged in fishing during the summer.
Tom Fish and wife visited at the Wallace home last Sunday.
Whooping cough is prevalent around here at present.
Mrs. Daniels and daughter, Kate, took dinner with her son, Oscar, last Sunday.
Mrs. Ashby and children have returned home from Salem where she has been visiting her mother who has been quite ill.
Several from this neighborhood attended the Fair last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Erickson enjoyed the company of several friends at dinner last Sunday.
A meeting has been called by the Molalla Mutual Telephone Association at Molalla, Monday, June 12 to transact business of importance. All members are requested to attend.

DIGESTION DECIDES IT.

Good Digestion More Than Half the Battle.
Life is a ceaseless struggle for success. Competition is everywhere. Everybody wants to reach the top. Success is sought for because it is supposed to insure happiness.
Ambition and ability make for success, but without health too, failure is more than probable.
If the digestion is poor, the nerves unsteady, the blood thin, the weight less than it should be, and ambition and energy at low tide because of stomach trouble, failure is almost a certainty.
Whether you make much or little of life, whether you fail or succeed, your digestion largely decides it. So confident are Huntley Bros. Co. that Pepsicola tablets will renew your energy, steady your nerves, drive away that tired feeling, give tone to the digestion, improve your appetite, bring up your weight to where it should be, put new life into your stomach, that they continue to sell this grand dyspepsia remedy on the money back plan.
Have confidence. The guarantee absolutely protects you. Huntley Bros. Co. will gladly pay back your money if at the end of the ten days' treatment you have not been cured or decidedly benefited.

BEAVER CREEK.

The long lasting rain is causing a great deal of the hay and grain to lie down this season.
Wm. Daniels and Chas. Jones are busy hauling hay this week.
All telephone discussions will be settled Saturday night.

EXPOSITION IN FULL SWING.

Something About the Opening Day, Last Thursday.

Portland, June 7.—The most auspicious ceremonies ever witnessed on the Pacific Coast accompanied the opening of the Lewis & Clark Exposition, June 1. Nearly 40,000 people were present. The program was carried out without interruption from the parade in the morning to the firing of the Centennial salute and the formal opening of the exposition. Never in the history of Portland was so representative and distinguished a body assembled. Vice-President Charles Warren Fairbanks was present as the personal representative of President Roosevelt. Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the House of Representatives and an important party of United States Senators and members of the House of Representatives.
The weather was ideal. The skies were immaculate, the sun shone warm and the atmosphere was pleasing. The natural attractiveness of the exposition site was greatly enhanced. Guild's Lake, the great natural water basin of the Centennial, was akin to a huge mirror and upon its placid surface were reflected the graceful outlines of the imposing government buildings on the peninsula. To afford all an opportunity to view the exposition at its best, the ceremonial platform was located in Columbia Court at the top of the Grand Stairway.
As early as 8 o'clock people began to enter the grounds and sought the benches surrounding the rostrum. At 11:30 Vice-President Fairbanks, accompanied by President Goode, of the exposition, the congressional party and a body of representative Portland business men, and escorted by both cavalry and infantry of the United States Regular Army, entered the grounds. The soldiers made a most impressive pageant. Upon their arrival the distinguished guests were driven to the New York building, where preparations had been made for their reception. Then they repaired to the ceremonial platform.
At noon a vice-presidential salute of nineteen guns was fired, after which President Goode called the assemblage to order. The divine invocation was delivered by Right Reverend David H. Moore, D. D., S. S. D. The inspiring strains of "Imperial Oregon," composed by Innek, was then rendered by Innes' famous band. President Goode addressed the huge gathering. In rapid succession Gov. Geo. E. Chamberlain, of Oregon; Hon. Jefferson Myers, chairman of the Oregon State Exposition Commission; Mayor George H. Williams, of Portland; Senator Clarence D. Clark, of Wyoming; Hon. James A. Tawney, M. C., of Minnesota; Hon. H. A. Taylor, First Assistant of the Treasury Department; Vice-President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon delivered speeches.
An amusing incident accompanied the introduction of Speaker Cannon. He was about to deliver his opening words when a message was received from President Roosevelt stating he was waiting to press the golden key which would start the machinery of the exposition. "Uncle Joe" made the following impromptu remarks: "Mr. President, gentlemen and citizens. I am informed that the President of the United States, 3000 miles away, with his riding horse at the door, has been waiting an hour and a half to touch the button. I wouldn't mind talking to you an hour and a half and making him wait that much longer. But I want to say that I am not such a fool as I look to be and I am going to stop right here and now." (Applause and cries of "go on.") "The time limit is five minutes at the best," he responded, "So I'll wait until the button is touched and then I'll sing you a song."

The signal of President Roosevelt was received amid much enthusiasm. After a benediction by Most Reverend Alexander Christie, D. D., and the formal declaration of the opening of the Centennial by President Goode, with cheers and a general merry-making the people rushed for the buildings, the Grand Esplanade, the Government Peninsula, and last, but not least, the Trail. As a matter of fact the gallery boulevard proved the most popular feature of the day.

But the most agreeable surprise for the visitors did not come until eight o'clock at night, when the electric lights burst forth.
ALFALFA CAN BE CULTIVATED.
Work of Food Commissioner Bailey Upsets Old Theory.
Alfalfa growing in the Willamette Valley bids fair to prove a success, and that alfalfa will eventually excel all other crops now produced on Valley farms as a satisfactory crop and as a money-maker. It is the forecast of some of Oregon's leading agriculturists. Reports received by State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. W. Bailey from the different localities in the Valley, where experiments with alfalfa-growing are being conducted, indicate that the experiments will prove successful, and that alfalfa will be shown to be a practicable and profitable crop in the Willamette Valley.
Though alfalfa is grown extensively in Eastern Oregon, which is a natural alfalfa country, it has never been raised in the Willamette Valley, for the reason that the natural conditions are not particularly adapted to its culture, and it has always been supposed that the crop would not prove satisfactory. To determine the truth of this supposition, State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bailey began a system of experiments. He sent out alfalfa seed last fall to four different parts of the Valley, and personally superintended the preparation of the ground and the planting of the crop in Linn county, which is in the center of the Valley, and which he selected as the base of the principal part of the experiments.
Three different farmers in the vicinity of Harrisburg, three at Shedd's and two at Halsey, all in Linn county, agreed to devote a limited amount of ground to give the experiment a thorough test. The ground was carefully prepared and the seed planted, and Mr. Bailey stated that reports received indicate that the alfalfa is doing splendidly. To test the experiment in all parts of the Valley, seed was planted near Sherwood, in Washington county; near Woodburn, in Marion county; and near Cottage Grove, in Lane county. A few farmers in different parts of the state also began the experiment of raising alfalfa during the past two years, independent of the supervision of the State Dairy and Food Commissioner, and they are also reported to be making a success of the venture.
Soil Inoculated.
The ground in the Willamette Valley is not naturally adapted to the raising of alfalfa, and before planting the seed it is necessary to inoculate the soil with alfalfa bacteria. This bacteria is furnished free by the United States Department of Agriculture, and even if it were not, the process is not at all expensive. In Eastern Oregon no inoculation of the soil is necessary, for that country is admirably adapted for raising record-breaking alfalfa crops.
"Will it pay?" repeated Mr. Bailey in amazement, when asked this all-important question regarding alfalfa-growing in the Willamette Valley. "Why, it will excel anything. It is the best crop in the world for dairying, and the beauty of it is that the longer it grows the better it grows. Clover must be reseeded every two years, but when alfalfa once gets a stand it will grow for 15 years without reseeded. In California, some fields of alfalfa have been growing for 25 or 30 years, and getting better every year, too. The chief advantage in the growing of alfalfa is that two or three crops can be harvested off the same ground every season. In Eastern Oregon, three yields are secured every summer and the ground is then good for pasture in the fall. Mr. Bailey is of the opinion that two crops and a pasture can be secured in the Willamette Valley.

The reports received by Mr. Bailey that the experiment is proving a success will be gladly received by those interested in the agricultural development of the state, for the successful culture of alfalfa will displace the old theory that it is not a profitable crop in Western Oregon, and will tend to revolutionize diversified farming in the Willamette Valley.—Telegram.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Passed O. & C. Franchise and Transacts Large Grist of Business.
Besides passing by unanimous vote the franchise asked by the Oregon & California Railroad Company to Railroad avenue, council at its regular meeting Wednesday evening disposed of an enormous amount of business. The railroad franchise was passed as it had been amended to meet the objections that were raised against the measure as it was originally presented. In return for the concessions that have been made by the city, the Southern Pacific Company will immediately begin the making of improvements, consisting of team crossings and pedestrian overhead crossings that will cost approximately $20,000.
Briefly mentioned, among the most important matters disposed of were the following:
The improvement of Fourth and Fifth streets between Railroad avenue and Water street; the appropriation of $100 to be expended to the best advantage in connection with the Fourth of July committee with a view to providing for a permanent band stand in the park on the hill; an ordinance licensing meat peddlers was ordered prepared; the sum of $53 was appropriated towards defraying the expenses of Oregon City Day at the Lewis & Clark Fair; Jos. Kuersten was elected water commissioner to succeed T. L. Charman; the members of the council accepted the invitation of the Fourth of July celebration committees and will participate in the parade on the Fourth, occupying carriages that will be provided by the committee.

LAUTH IS RE-SENTENCED.

Oregon City Murderer To Be Hanged On July 13, Next.
Circuit Judge T. A. McBride on Monday made an order directing the return to Oregon City of George W. Lauth to be re-sentenced to be hanged for the murder of his mistress, Mrs. Lenora B. Jones in this city last September.

Lauth was convicted of first degree murder in the Clackamas county circuit court and sentenced to be hanged January 27, last. An appeal being taken, the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. Thursday morning Judge McBride sentenced Lauth to be hanged at Salem, July 13, next.

As a last resort, Lauth's counsel and his friends will present his case to Governor Chamberlain in hopes of having the sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Florence Rainford Peel, of Portland, and Mr. John Brandon Lewthwaite, of this city. The wedding will take place at the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Portland at 8 p. m. Thursday, June 15.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

Saturday, June 10, is Traveling Men's Day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Indications are that the attendance will be very large.

A substitution of the Portland post-office has been established on the grounds of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, near the main entrance for the accommodation of visitors at the Fair. The station is equipped completely, and visitors may receive their mail there, purchase money orders and stamps, and mail letters.

Early visitors at the Fair have been surprised to find that the hotel and boarding house keepers are making very reasonable rates for Fair visitors. The charges in most cases are but little above those ordinarily in effect. Portland is unusually well supplied with restaurants, and the prices for food have not gone up at all.

BLOOD WILL TELL.

It takes lots of vitality, nervous force and strength to win a race. Blood must be pure and good.
Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in men and young women, and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough good oxygen in their lungs, consequently have too many white blood corpuscles.
Keep the nerves nourished, the heart strong, the head cool, the stomach vigorous, the liver active with a tonic which has stood the test of time and has a wide reputation, such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
Tonics consisting of large portions of alcohol, iron or cod liver oil, do not bring the desired changes in the blood, because they do not enter the system and are not absorbed into the blood, with the exception of the alcohol, which shrivels up the red blood corpuscles when it does come in contact with them. Therefore do not allow the dealer to mislead your intelligence by telling you he has something better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.
The cost of waiting only. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," 1008 large pages, is sent free on receipt of twenty-one one-cent stamps, for the paper-covered book, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
For constipation, the true scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure. No other pill can compare with them.
