Will Make Better Time.

S. P. Company To Reduce by Nine Hours Portland-Frisco Schedule.

From Portland to San Francisco in 27 hours, cutting down by nine hours the present running time of the Southern Pacific between the two points, is a service shortly to be placed in operation through the addition of an extra train, says the Telegram. The matter has been under consideration for some time, and while the details have not been settled, they will be arranged on the return of General Manager O'Brien.

The reason for placing the fast train on is the immense travel which has been carried over the road since the opening of the Lewis & Clark Fair. The trains both north and south bound have been laden to capacity, and a number of times it has been found necessary to operate them in two sections. A week ago an order was sent forth from San Francisco office abolishing the use of passes on trains 15 and 16 south of Ashland, the aim in this being to make more room for through business, but even the cutting off of the gratuitous transportation did not afford a remedy.

The reduction of nine hours in the running time will not place the train on an equality with the record-breakers of the East, and the speed will not exceed that made in many places on the lines of the O. R. & N., and on the mountain division of the Southern Pacific, but it will travel quicker than any other fast train ever placed on a regular schedule on the Oregon & California division of the road.
