Double Wedding—
Judge Livy Stip officiated at a double wedding Saturday afternoon. Hazel Commons and Noble Charles, of this city, were married in his office, and while the ceremony was in progress J. P. Preston and Ursula Kenyon of Portland, came in on a similar errand. Each acted as witnesses for the other, and all went on their way rejoicing.

The Oregon City Band rendered sweet music at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Scripture, where Solo Circle, Women of Woodcraft gave a social on the spacious lawn on the corner of Eleventh and Adams streets, Saturday night, and the event was enjoyed to the fullest degree by the Woodmen and their friends.

Burned by Exploding Lamp—
In removing from his residence at Gladstone a lamp, that had exploded, C. A. Nash, leader of the Oregon City Band, was painfully burned late Friday night. While the injuries, which consist of the burning of the right hand and the side of the face are most painful, they will not prove serious, but Bert was prevented from donning his pretty band suit and assisting in celebrating the Glorious Fourth.

Convicts as Minstrels—
About 20 convicts at the Oregon Penitentiary gave a minstrel show in the prison dining-room this evening, with about 500 residents of Salem as an audience, says a Fourth of July dispatch from Salem. The prisoners were accorded generous applause. The most popular participants were the end men—Farker, from Portland, and Stokes, from Pendleton—and the leader of the orchestra, Walton, the young man who held up a street car in Portland. A collection was taken up and $33 received, which sum will be used for the purchase of instruments for the prison orchestra. This is the first public entertainment that has been given at the prison in 15 years, but private entertainments, to which only convicts are admitted, are given twice a week.

Dougherty-Shaver Wedding—
A pretty wedding took place at the Glad Tidings M. E. church on June 28, 1905, at noon. Miss Zoe B. Shaver, and Mr. George E. Dougherty, a popular young couple of Clackamas county, were united in marriage by the Rev. F. S. Clemons, pastor of the church. The church was very prettily decorated and was well filled with the friends of the contracting parties. Lunch was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Shaver, and a large company sat down to enjoy the occasion. The newly wedded pair have the well wishes of a host of friends.

Portland Domes Want Divorces—
Two unhappy Portland wives have instituted divorce proceedings in the Clackamas county Circuit Court. Lilly W. Wessels charges Curtis F. Wessels with adultery. They were intermarried at Portland in October, 1903. Plaintiff asks for $40 a month temporary alimony, $100 attorney's fees, and $35 costs. Jennie M. Barber wants to be divorced from Emmons Barber, who among other unkind things directed her to "go straight to —." They were also married at Portland four years ago. Plaintiff desires to resume her maiden name, Jennie M. Steele.

Calvin Howell Dies—
Calvin Howell, a well-known citizen of Springwater, died suddenly at his home last Sunday morning. Mr. Howell, who had been in poor health for some time, walked from his house to the barn and while there fell dead. Heart disease was the cause of his death. Mr. Howell was about 75 years old and had resided in Clackamas county for a number of years. He is survived by a widow and 12 children, nine sons and three daughters. The funeral was held from the residence Wednesday morning and the interment was at the cemetery at Springwater.

Lauth's Petition Filed—
The petition for the commutation of Lauth's sentence was presented to the governor yesterday afternoon by Mayor Grant R. Dmick, of Oregon City, in person, who also made a strong plea for the life of the condemned man. The petition is an unusually strong one in that it bears the signatures of all of the county officials of Clackamas county as well as the most prominent business men of Oregon City. There are many features in the Lauth case which the governor feels inclined to look upon with favor, but before he will commit himself in either case he proposed to conduct a searching investigation to assure himself that the ends of justice will be fully met. —Tuesday's Salem Statesman.

Addresses by Young Collegians—
At the regular evening services at the First Congregational church last Sunday there was a departure from the regular order of service. In lieu of the usual sermon by the pastor, short and rather spirited patriotic addresses were made by two Oregon City boys who have just returned home from College. Will Shively, a 1905 graduate of Pacific University, spoke on "Character," and Trafton Dye, of Oberlin college talked of "The Civic Duties of a Young Man." Both young men are fluent and pleasing speakers and their talks showed a careful study of the subjects selected for them. The speeches were fully up to the standard of college boy graduation day orators. The pastor, Rev. Bollinger, made a speech before and after each address.

Baseball at Chautauqua—
The athletic committee of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association this week arranged the tournament of baseball games to be played during this year's Chautauqua meeting, July 11-23. As was the case last year, there will be five competing teams, of which three are from Portland. The five teams are Steven's Addition Baseball Club, Brainard's Maroons, and Y. M. C. A., all of Portland; Vancouver and Chemawa. At a meeting of the Board of Directors Wednesday, several matters of importance, pertaining to this year's Assembly were considered. The Chautauqua management has this year installed its own lighting plant on the grounds. Gas has been substituted for electricity and with an increased number of lights of the same capacity as those formerly used, the management expects to much more completely and satisfactorily illuminate the buildings and grounds.

Work at Ogle Mountain—
Tom Fairclough, just returned from Ogle Mountain, has brought with him some gold ore of exceptional richness. The ore is of porphyry and quartz formation and the deposit is both extensive and general. The owners of this property are now building a road into the mine which is located near the headwaters of the Molalla. Five miles have been constructed and there remains but two more miles to build and this will be completed during July. The purpose of the road is to enable the hauling of machinery to the mine, the management expecting to have a mill in operation early this Fall. Until a thorough test has been made of the ore, it is not known what kind of machinery will be purchased but the 1000 feet of tunneling that has been made gives great promise. The proceeds of two seasons' tunneling awaits the installation of the machinery.

Reception to New Pastor—
Last Friday evening a reception was given in the First Baptist Church to Rev. Henry B. Robins, the new pastor of the church, and to Mrs. Robins. Fully 250 people were present, and the church was beautifully decorated in honor of the event. The reception took place in the auditorium of the church, and was opened by singing and scripture reading by Rev. W. H. Wettlaufer, pastor of the Evangelical church followed by a prayer by Rev. J. R. Landsborough, pastor of the Presbyterian church. After the rendition of an anthem by the choir, Rev. E. S.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Stella Kellogg for the Sunday school Clarence Eaton for the Canemah Mission School, Maud Booker for the Juniors, A. S. Dresser for the choir, Kenneth S. Latourette for the young people and Mrs. T. E. Gault for the women of the church. Mr. Robins responded with a fitting speech, and after singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," an adjournment was taken to the refreshment room, where delicious edibles were served, and the people met the new pastor, who has created a very favorable impression during his short stay here.

Head Ranger Hurt—

Adolph Asthoff, head ranger of the Western Oregon District, lies at St. Vincent's Hospital recovering from terrible injuries sustained in an accident a few days ago that came near costing him his life, says the Oregonian. Alone near Lost Lake, in the vicinity of Mount Hood, Mr. Asthoff was following a new trail through the forest. He had with him his riding horse and packhorse, as has been his practice when going any considerable distance away from his home making examinations in his district. At present great effort is being made to stop any incipient fires that may be started so as to preserve the clearness of the atmosphere. And so Mr. Asthoff was out on one of his trips of investigation. As he mounted the horse he had been riding preparatory to following the new trail, the animal suddenly reared upward and threw himself backward, pinning Mr. Asthoff underneath. The horn of the saddle was driven through the fleshy part of his thigh on the inside, causing a most painful wound. The horse struggled to the ground, the blood pouring from the wound in his leg. Fortunately the bones of the thigh were not crushed. Realizing his imminent danger should the blood continue to flow, Mr. Asthoff managed to drag himself down to a little stream where he bathed his thigh, and with the aid of some shoe strings he managed to stop the bleeding. Then slowly and painfully he dragged himself back to the horses and camp. He was then six miles from Lost Lake and about 25 miles from his home at Asthoff's Hotel. Suffering intensely, Mr. Asthoff waited awhile in the hope some of the other rangers might come along. He changed the saddle to the packhorse, a safe animal, and mounting him started homeward, which he reached the next day, and was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital a few days ago. Mr. Asthoff has been head ranger for several years. Ranger Anderson has taken his place while Asthoff is getting well. It will be about two weeks before he will be fully recovered. Only about a month ago Mrs. Asthoff was seriously injured in a runaway accident near Sandy, and is now slowly recovering.
