Somebody has unearthed from the files of the Scientific American this little item of present interest, which was printed in the issue of September 2, 1863: "In cutting some timber in Omaha, a few days since, a bullet was found embedded in the trunk of a rock elm. The grains which had overgrown it show that it must have been deposited there sixty-two years ago, a time when the country had not yet been visited by any white men except the explorers Lewis and Clark."

The skull and horns of a rocky mountain sheep were found some time ago by an Idaho man, firmly imbedded twenty feet from the ground in the trunk of a large tree. The section containing the curiosity has been taken to the Lewis and Clark Exposition where it is attracting much attention. It is presumed that, when the tree was a sapling, the sheep got entangled in its branches, and died. As the sapling grew into a tree, the sheep was lifted heavenward and its skull and horns became imbedded in the trunk.

Deserves Your Patronage.

The growth of a community and the success of its local institutions depends entirely on the loyalty of its people. It is well enough to preach "patronize home industry" but except the service given at a home institution equals that of out-of-town enterprises, this argument carries no weight and is entirely disregarded, as it should be. But with Oregon City people it is different. A few months ago E. L. Johnson established the Cascade Laundry. It is equipped with the latest improved machinery and is daily turning out work that is equal to any and superior to much of the laundry work that is being done in Portland. Being a home institution and furnishing employment for many Oregon City people it is enjoying an immense patronage. The high standard of the work being done commends it to the general public. Laundry left at the O. K. barber shop will be promptly called for and delivered to any part of the city. Telephone 1204. E. L. Johnson, proprietor.

BRODIE—HARDING.

One of the most elaborate weddings ever held in Oregon City was that of the marriage of Miss Jennie Imogen Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Harding to Mr. E. E. Brodie, both of this city. This event was celebrated at St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 12, 1905. Rev. P. K. Hammond officiating, in the presence of about 200 assembled relatives and friends.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Walter Reed, of Portland, sang, D'Hardelot's "I Know a Lovely Garden," at the conclusion of which, the bride party, preceded by a chorus of ten voices, entered the church. CRUSHED TO DEATH BY HORSE.

Martin Boyles Victim of Mishap on the West Side.

Martin Boyles, aged 54 years, of this city, was instantly killed Monday afternoon by the backing of the horse he was driving, over a 25-foot embankment. The scene of the accident was on the West Side and within a mile of this city. Two lads, named Clark and Murphy, who were riding with Boyles, escaped with only slight scratches by leaping from the buggy as it started over the precipice.

The horse became fractious and the driver was unable to manage the animal which backed the vehicle over the rocky embankment. The horse fell upon Boyles who was crushed to death instantly, the buggy being entirely demolished. Coroner Holman took charge of the remains, but did not conduct an inquest.

Besides a wife, the deceased, who had resided in this city for a great many years, is survived by three children, Harry Boyles and Minnie Boyles, of Oregon City, and Alice Boyles, of Portland. Burial services were held Wednesday.
