TEST NEW LAW.

Statute Exempting Householders From Certain Tax is Questioned.

Grants Pass, Or., Sept. 1.—A suit of much interest to this state, and which may result in the repeal of the $300 household tax exemption law, passed by the state legislature, has been filed here, and will be heard at the next term of the circuit court. Ex-Representative W. C. Hale of this city, is plaintiff, and Judge J. O. Booth, Assessor W. H. Fallin and County Clerk S. F. Cheshire are made defendants in the case.

In substance, the complaint alleges that the law passed by the Oregon Legislature in December, 1903, exempting from taxation of certain effects of householders to the amount of $300, is contrary to the constitution of the state and is therefore void.

In his complaint ex-Representative Hale who is a practicing attorney of this city, argues that the act of the legislative assembly is in violation of section 1 of article 9 of the constitution. The complaint further states that said section of the constitution provides for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation, and that the law shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, real and personal, excepting such only for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious, or charitable purposes, as may be specially exempted by law. The case will be presented by Attorney A. S. Hammond of this city, representing Mr. Hale.

PORTLAND DOGS DOOMED.

Igorrotes Arrive at Last and Begin Their Canine Carousals.

PORTLAND, Sep. 7.—After many vexatious delays, the band of head-hunting, dog-eating Igorrotes from the Island of Luzon has arrived at last, and the Lewis & Clark Exposition is now the scene of daily tom-tom dances and frequent dog feasts. Poor Fido and his brother Carlo are hiding out, but the Igorrotes will get them sooner or later, for they have less than six weeks in which to devour all of Portland's surplus dogs.

The Igorrotes, forty in number, male and female, arrived at Vancouver, B. C., aboard the United States steamship Athenian, direct from Manila. They were taken to Manila from their homes in the remote hills of the island, never before having seen a civilized city. These Igorrotes are not the ones who were at St. Louis last year; they are quite new to America, and their first taste of United States dog was enjoyed in their village at the Portland Exposition a couple of days after their arrival.

The village awaited them in what may be called skeleton form, and they set to work and covered the framework of their houses with material which they brought along. An Igorrote would not feel at home in a house entirely made by other hands.

The Igorrote village is located next to Homer Davenport's pheasant farm at the edge of the Trail, where the weird music of the tomtoms is heard every day and every evening.
