Jos. Goodfellow opened his bowling alley for the season Monday night. The initial game was a match contest between the Garde boarding house team and a picked team, the result being the defeat of the former. Interest in the game is good and with the convenient arrangements the proprietor has provided for the accommodation of his patrons, it is certain that the resort will prove even more popular than last season, if possible.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city has arranged for another lecture on Christian Science. This lecture will be given at the Congregational Church on the evening of October 3, by Miss Mary Brookins, C. S. B., of Minneapolis. The lecture is free and the public is cordially invited to attend. These lectures are given for the purpose of correcting mistaken ideas of Christian Science, and being free, all may avail themselves of the opportunities thus afforded of becoming informed on this subject.

R. L. Holman, leading undertaker, Next to Harris' grocery store, Oregon City, Oregon.

At the Shively Opera House, on Wednesday, September 27, "Sweet Clover" the beautiful wholesome comedy drama will hold sway. It is a charming story of the Charly Ball, Caprice and Hazel Kirke order. It is the first dramatic work of two clever newspaper and magazine writers, the Misses Pauline Phelps and Marion Short. They have been successful far beyond expectation. It is a pretty story cleverly told and with the original cast headed by Otis B. Thayer and Miss Gertrude Bondhill, should be an entertainment of much merit.

had not been posted in public places, and the defense at once held that there had been no election and that Montavilla was not a prohibition precinct.

It was contended by Attorney Mendenhall who defended Schneider, that the law was mandatory in directing how notices should be posted and that its provisions had not been complied with.

The question then hinged on a question of interpretation of the law. If the clause in regard to the posting of notices were mandatory, the election was void, but if directory the election was legal. Judge Sears ruled that, while the posting of notices would not have been sufficient for a special prohibition election, it was sufficient at the time of a general election.

The decision of the Supreme Court will have an effect on contests in other parts of the state, as the manner of posting notices and ordering the election has been the basis of disputes over the legality of elections in other counties besides Multnomah.

Unmerited!

Wherever they go, English and American travelers are conspicuous by their linguistic ignorance.—London Times.

"The Times" writer has evidently been listening to Americans and Englishmen trying to talk French to Parisians. Nevertheless his statement is altogether too broad. The American traveler, at least, is able to keep his linguistic ignorance from making him conspicuous at a soda water fountain.
