MANY ATTEND TALK.

ing Life, is being daily attested by countless proofs, and "by their fruits ye shall know them." A noted physician states that ninety per cent of all known diseases are the result of fear. Then a religion whose fundamental Principle and only acknowledged demonstrates harmonious and unfeigned power is Love, that is capable of casting out all fear, surely has strong claims to recognition as a factor in the realm of therapeutics.

Though not given to statistics we can say without exaggeration that many hundreds of thousands of so-called incurable diseases have been healed through Christian Science. Notwithstanding this astounding statement its worth is by no means confined to the cure of physical ills—rather is this incidental to the vastly greater mission of healing sin and leading in all matters of genuine reform. It reclaims the sinner, not through fear of punishment nor anticipation of reward, but by the supremacy of Mind that is good, dispelling the illusion of his love of sin, and by so uplifting his sense of good and enlarging his affection for it, that he ceases to find satisfaction in anything but the way of holiness. Hosts of people have been and are being healed of the appetite for intoxicants, tobacco and opium through this sort of temperance work—proving it to be a prohibition that actually does prohibit the sin itself instead of spending its energies in the fruitless attempt to prevent the consequences of sin.

Christian Science is broad-spirited. It is public-spirited. It serves the human race for good in an ever ascending scale and in a constantly expanding field of usefulness. The query sometimes arises, does not this idea breed indifference to human needs, by dulling the sensibilities and checking the sympathies? It dulls the sensibilities only by causing people to become less sensible of evil as they grow more and more sensible of good; to cease looking forever on the dark side, forever prophesying and prognosticating evil, but rather to look up with fearless, blameless glance into the face of the Father-Mother, God, and see the graces and glories of that face reflected in all His people and things. It teaches us to sympathize with good far more than with evil, and by that very fact helps to bring good to pass.

It will have to rest with those who oppose Christian Science to prove wherein it has ever done harm or shown itself a menace to the health or safety of any community. It has rather been a check upon contagion, a preventative of epidemics and various calamities that afflict the race. With all due regard to existing civil law and its behests our appeal is always to the higher code of spiritual law, wherein God is Legislator, Executor and Judge. Under this benign ruling all human rights are duly subserved.

It must be remembered that this movement has been inaugurated but a short time comparatively, but all things being considered, the rate of its advancement is, beyond question, without precedent since the apostolic times. If we were to look back beyond the beginning of the last quarter century, we should not see a single Christian Science church on the face of the earth, for the original one, the Mother church of the denomination, was organized in 1879. Now there are not less than 900 organizations, many of which are suitably housed in beautiful and costly buildings, dedicated free of all financial incumbrances and filled at services with hosts of earnest, devoted people, bent on knowing more of God, and on doing more of good. The Christian Science text-book, published first in 1875, has reached more than 357 editions of 1000 copies each, and the sale of Bibles has correspondingly increased. What does it all mean? It means that deep down in the human consciousness is being laid the foundation of that eternal Truth, the knowledge of which was promised to make us free and that upon this firm substructure is being reared with solid masonry of Spirit the superstructure of purer thinking, of more righteous living. It means that there is a large and rapidly increasing body (a peculiar people indeed) who are really learning how to become a little child and walk in willing, implicit trust and obedience wherever, through their divinely appointed Guide, God is pointing out the way. It means that this Way of righteousness is proved to be exemption, not only from snares of sin, but from the pains and frailties of the body as well; a Way of salvation in the fullest sense to health, wholeness or holiness, harmony, heaven.

Finally we who have had experimental knowledge of the value of this advice do not hesitate to recommend most earnest study of this vital subject and association with those who have made some progress in its lore. We especially advocate the daily perusal of the text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," in connection with the Bible, pondering deeply and applying as far as possible its wonderful precepts, thus coming into closer acquaintance and fellowship with its inspired Author. Then you will find that you, too, can demonstrate the spiritual power of the undaunted thought of Truth, to supplant any and every suggestion of evil; can prove that Divine Mind is Omnipotent, to heal and save to the uttermost.

Progression is the inevitable outcome of all honest endeavor. So if we are sincerely seeking Truth, for Truth's own sake, we must all move along under this impartial ruling, gaining continually a greater sense of peace and of power, "till we all come into the unity of faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measures of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

TWO MILLION MARK IS PASSED.

Exposition Attendance Better Now Than Ever Before—Fair Closes October 14.

Portland, Oct. 5.—With the two million mark passed, and prospects excellent for rolling up another half million before the gates are closed for the last time on the night of October 14, the Lewis and Clark Exposition is an assured financial success. The remarkable attendance demonstrates also that the Fair has pleased the people, and that another source of gratification. It is evident that the enormous attendance could not have been rolled up unless the Fair had received frequent testimonials from early visitors.

It is evident now that the Fair will be, in point of attendance and in every respect, the most successful Exposition ever held. Comparisons with the records made at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha, an Exposition of about the same magnitude as that now drawing to a close, and which has been generally conceded to have been the most successful of all fairs, show that the Exposition will outdo the showing made by the eastern enterprise. This is considered more remarkable when the statement is made that Omaha had a population of 13,000,000 within a day's journey, while there reside within a similar radius of Portland not more than 1,800,000 souls.

The stock show, which opened on September 19th for a period of ten days, proved the crowning feature of the Fair. It was a notable success, being by far the biggest show of the kind ever held in the west, and by far the best attended. During the time it was running, the attendance at the fair showed a daily increase over the average of about 5,000, and the week ending September 24, was the largest in point of attendance of any during the Fair period. The past week, with the stock show as an attraction during the first five days, and Portland Day on Saturday showed a total of over 200,000 admissions for the seven days. On Sunday September 24, the Sunday attendance record was bettered by several thousand, when the turnstiles registered 17,168 admissions.

In spite of the fact that there are more people in Portland now than at any time since the Fair opened, there has been no complaint on account of lack of hotel accommodations, or due to exorbitant charges by landlords. This happy state of affairs, it is certain, will continue right up to the close of the Fair, because there is
