County Treasurer Enos Cahill says that the issue of county warrants is steadily decreasing. In 1903 he indorsed county warrants to the value of $41,452.47, and in 1904 $34,883.54. This year to date he has indorsed warrants in the amount of $25,372.85, leaving a margin of $9510.69 to go on until the end of the year. He does not expect this amount to be equaled, and in that event last year's record will be broken.

F. Newton, of Oregon City, has the only first-class undertaking parlor and hearse in Clackamas county, through that land.

Evidences of youthful pranks, the product of the Halloween season, were observed everywhere about the city Wednesday morning, but to the credit of those participating, it may be said that only infrequently did the pranks take on an objectionable form. The tendency to damage property in connection with the observance of the Halloween season, seems to have appreciably abated.

R. L. Holman, leading undertaker. Next to Harris' grocery store, Oregon City, Oregon.

If the voters of Oregon do not have an opportunity to vote on the proposition to amend the constitution to provide for woman suffrage, it will be no fault of the women of Clackamas county. Mrs. Clara B. Colby, editor of The Women's Tribune, of Washington, D. C., and of Portland, is in Oregon City, circulating an initiative petition for that purpose. The Clackamas county women have organized flourishing equal suffrage societies at Oregon City, Canby, Parkplace, Gladstone, Milwaukie, and other points in the county. They give out the statement that there is no longer any doubt that the necessary signatures will be secured to have the amendment voted upon.

Buckeye Extracts—Many smiles.

Deputy District Attorney C. Schuebel has filed informations on transcript of judgment from justice court against the following named defendants: Clarence Green, criminal assault; Isaac Gratton and M. G. Nease, proprietors of the Milwaukie Country Club, conducting a gambling resort, and maintaining a nuisance (two informations); J. W. Potter, burning a permit. There are a number of other criminal cases pending, including the sale of liquor without a license, sale of liquor to minors and minor assault and battery cases. These will all be disposed of at the regular November term of the circuit court which will be convened in this city next Monday.

Master Fish Warden VanDusen was in the city Wednesday preparing for the term of circuit court which will be convened here next Monday when there will be heard some cases for illegal fishing. The successful take of 2,000,000 salmon eggs at the McKenzie station this season is considered abundant evidence of the success of the fish ladder that was installed at the Falls in this city by the state last year. Mr. VanDusen predicts that the catch on the McKenzie next season will easily reach 5,000,000. Alterations have only recently been completed in the fish ladder by which the upper apartments of the contrivance are made more easy of access to the fish which ascend the ladder with ease.

Lichtenthaler, Nellie Squires, Lucinda F. Sloan, Grace Pearce and Josie L. Slater. This will was signed March 31, 1904. A previous will was filed a few days ago and signed August 18,

A Bank Book is Evidence of what? It's evidence of thriftiness as well as the various sums that have been placed to the credit of its owner. Any person you know to have

AN ACCOUNT AT OUR BANK is raised in your estimation. It's because you associate a man with a bank account with those who do things.

A WORD TO A WISE YOUNG MAN IS SUFFICIENT.

THE BANK OF OREGON CITY

1902, gave the bulk of the estate to F. M. Lichtenthaler and gave the other legatees small sums varying from 10 cents to $1. As a matter of fact, it is alleged, Mr. Lichtenthaler had not been in mental condition for several years to make a will. For a considerable period a guardian was appointed by the court to look after his property.
