HUMANE SOCIETY MEETS.

Much Good Accomplished by Clackamas Organization.

The Clackamas County Humane Society held its annual meeting Wednesday night. The work of the year was reviewed, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Miss Anita McCarver, president; Geo. A. Harding, vice-president; Mrs. E. G. Caulfield, secretary; Mrs. E. M. Burmeister, H. L. Kelly, Mrs. Matilda Deute, directors.

From the treasury $2.50 was subscribed for Miss Loubet, the unfortunate French girl, who was injured in a fire in Portland.

The annual report of Miss Anita McCarver, president of the Society, follows:

"In closing seven years' work of the Clackamas County Humane Society, we find much good has been accomplished during its brief existence. Especially in respect to elevating the public morals regarding humane treatment of birds and dumb animals. I think I am safe in saying it has been most effectual in protecting these.

"The time was in our city when to interfere in a case where a dumb animal was being abused by its owner was resented by many as an act of interference with the rights of the owner. It is not so now. But while it is a recognized fact that far less open cruelty is observed on our streets than before the organization of the society there is enough to reflect on us as a civilized people and make every humane person glad of an opportunity to contribute toward repressing it. The fountain erected on Main street for the purpose of supplying water continuously for both individuals and dumb animals stands as an evidence and monument of the good work being done by the Clackamas County Humane Society.

"The society is doing all in its power to carry out the object for which it was organized, but could do a great deal more were the financial conditions more favorable. We feel compelled to ask of the benevolent men and women of Oregon City their assistance both by money and influence.

"In protecting our dumb animals against cruelty we are not only protecting ourselves against violence, but we are teaching the young a moral lesson which holds the secret of happy living and true citizenship. The indirect and silent influence of such an organization accomplishes a great deal more than can ever be shown in the reports of its officers."

WILL SET ASIDE.

Judge Ryan in the probate court Wednesday afternoon sustained the contest, instituted by certain heirs of the late Wm. Lichtenthaler, and set aside the will bearing the date 1902 which was recently probated, and admitted to probate an instrument of later date, executed in March, 1904. In the will first filed the estate which is valued at $5000, was willed to a brother, F. M. Lichtenthaler, of Portland, with the exception of bequests of from ten to fifty cents to the other heirs. By the second will the estate is divided equally among a half-a-dozen heirs.

afternoon, Jacob Enne, of Clackamas, was that afternoon sentenced by Judge McBride to five days in the county jail for contempt of court. Friends of the disturber raised the funds necessary to pay a fine equivalent to the jail sentence but the offer was refused.

HIS RISE.

The east of thought was on his brow, A dreamy look was in his eyes;

"I wonder" he kept musing, "how" I may contrive to rise?"

A lady in the flat below Uncorked a gallon of benzene;

Her gloves were sadly soiled and so She sought to make them clean.

He stood there Hamlet-like and mused; "To rise," he said, "above my foes" The fumes from what the lady used Ignited, and he rose.

NO POISON IN CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

From Napier New Zealand Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by Geo. A. Harding.
