The death of several head of horses from stomach staggers has resulted in this vicinity during the last few days. This trouble is said to be due to feeding too much dry food stuffs. Experienced farmers recommend the feeding of carrots along with the regular feed as the best preventive of such disorders. This vegetable is considered especially good for feed during the warm weather. Carrots as a food are to the horse what beets are to the human race, it being a well-known saying that if people ate more beets they would have fewer drug and doctor bills to pay.

With the addition of five new arc lighted Oregon City is a much better lighted city. The lights, which have been placed on Fifth and Center, Seventh and Washington, Seventh and Jefferson, Seventh and Monroe and Molalla avenue, show much improvement. The citizens in these respective localities have for a long time been in need of these lights and when they were turned on for the first time last night they were much pleased, as the light proved most most satisfactory. Oregon City might now boast of having the best lighted city in the Valley compared with her size.

Frank Millatski, a Russian, found employment at the Oregon City wool-mills a few days ago. Millatski can speak but very little English and through Mr. Price, who understands the language thoroughly, it was found that he had escaped from the Russian army. He claims that he was in the battle of Mukden, which lasted 42 hours, and was wounded three times. After the battle the Russians retreated and he was left on the field for dead. He was taken to Japan and was confined two weeks in the hospital. He was then taken aboard a Russian ship bound for Russia and when the vessel entered an African port he escaped on an American ship bound for the United States.

Mrs. Julia Loveace Woodworth, of Oklahoma, I. T., who is working in Oregon in the interest of the women's suffrage amendment, passed through the city this morning en route to Portland, but will go to Marion county in a short time to work for the cause. Mrs. Woodworth is deeply interested in the work, and is arranging a route for Miss Laura Clay, of Kentucky, a niece of the illustrious Henry Clay, and a daughter of General Cassius M. Clay. Miss Clay spoke at Springfield several days ago, and at Barlow last night. Partial arrangements have been made for her appearance in almost every precinct of the county, and she is scheduled to talk in about 22 out of the 39 precincts. Her itinerary for the next two weeks follows: Molalla, Monday, February 5; Marquam, Tuesday, February 6; Mulino, Wednesday, February 7; Macleburg, Thursday, February 8; Harding precinct Monday and Tuesday, February 12 and 13. Campaign committees have been formed in the various parts of the county where Miss Clay has been, and the attendance has been very fair, considering the inclement weather. During the latter part of the month she will speak in the southern part of the state, whether she will remain for some time. The advocates of women's suffrage in this county are sanguine of the result at the June election.

Otto Deute has sold his business to Mrs. Fannie Neppach, who will take charge during the first part of March. Mr. Deute has been in business for eleven years and has built up a very successful trade. While he is not making an extensive closing out sale, he has a number of remnant and broken lots, which he is closing out. Mr. and Mrs. Deute are very thankful to the public for the patronage they have received during their time of business, and ask that the same kindness be shown their successor.

REGISTRATION PROCEEDS SLOWLY.

Great Majority of the Voters Registering Are Republicans.

Registration of voters in this county to date is about 1300 of a total voting strength of 4500. Of the first 1000 electors to register, four-fifths are Republicans.

The Republican organization of this county is arranging for meetings to be held in practically every precinct of the county during the month of February when the provisions of the Direct Primary Law will be explained and an opportunity given voters to register.

Such a meeting will be held tomorrow, Saturday, night when Grant B. Dimick, of this city, candidate for the Republican nomination for County Judge will address the voters of Macleburg and vicinity in explanation of the Primary Law. On the same night a similar meeting at Eagle Creek will be addressed by C. Schuebel, of this city, secretary of the Republican County Central Committee. In this way it is expected that registration will be stimulated to the extent that a representative vote of the county will be cast at the Primary election in April.

Injured Workman Sues Crown-Columbia Pulp & Paper Co.

G. C. Etchison this week brought suit against the Crown-Columbia Pulp and Paper Company for $7000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained while in the defendant company's employ last October.

Etchison was employed in the blow pit and claims that in the bursting of the pipe that is used to convey the pulp in a highly heated state of 310° from the digester to the blow pit, he sustained injuries to the head and face by reason of which he alleges that he is permanently disfigured and disabled.

Plaintiff charges that the pipes about which he was working were in a dangerous condition, that he so advised the management of the mill which proceeded to repair the same. Etchison claims that the section of the pipe that burst was a joint that the management failed to replace, knowing it to have been in a dangerous condition.

SOCIALISTS WILL MEET.

The regular monthly meeting of the Socialists will be held in Knapp's hall Sunday, February 4. The members will meet at noon for dinner and the afternoon session will open at 1:30 p. m. The program will consist of music on graphophone and songs out of the Socialist song book. Extensive plans for the coming campaign will be discussed and a vote will be taken on the question of levying an assessment on each member for campaign funds. An important measure will be taken up, which will be the purchasing of literature, to be sold by members who are financially unable to pay their dues, and applying the profits on the same.

BODY OF SUICIDE FOUND.

J. Steel Ends His Life on Branch of Beaver Creek.

Last Saturday afternoon two young men named Waldron and Marley, while hunting on Beaver Creek about four miles from Oregon City, came upon the badly decomposed body of a man whose identity has been established as that of J. Steel, who was until a few weeks ago employed on the Southern Pacific construction gang in this city.

The body was found in a sitting posture beside the creek, under an old log, which had fallen across the stream. Lying by his side was a Winchester rifle, and in his lap was a 33 calibre revolver. The case is clearly suicide. The man's head had fallen from his shoulders, and he had been dead several months. He was dressed in a suit of dark clothing, with overalls over his trousers, wore a black shirt and a soft black hat. His shoes were high, with hob nails, and their condition disclosed the fact that he had tramped a long distance.

Coroner Holman made an examination of the clothing, and in a pocket found a pocket memorandum book, with the name of J. O. Irish, or Irish, on the fly leaf. A bullet hole is in the forehead of the skull. Coroner Holman held an inquest, and a jury, consisting of J. L. Waldron, J. C. Bradley, J. E. Jack, D. C. Eby, D. E. Frost and W. M. Midlam, determined that Irish had met death by his own hand. The body was interred in the county cemetery.

On Monday the remains were positively identified as those of J. Steel. Identification was established by J. Irish, who is working on Southern Pacific construction work in this city. Steel had written the name of Irish in a notebook, and in the absence of further evidence the Coroner's jury concluded the dead man's name was Irish. Steel was an unmarried man, but has relatives in the East. Previous to September 15 last Steel was employed on the same construction gang with Irish.
