ALICE MADE WIFE

Wedding of Miss Roosevelt and Congressman Longworth.

ELABORATE WEDDING OF PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER.

Complete Account of Important Society Event Celebrated at National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Alice Lee Roosevelt, daughter of the President of the United States, was married in the White House at 12:13 o'clock yesterday to Hon. Nicholas Longworth, Representative in Congress from the First Ohio District.

The wedding was the largest and most important ever celebrated in America, a most distinguished assembly of guests being present.

The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Henry Yates Satterlee, Bishop of Washington, according to the rites of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of which the bride is a member.

The bride was unattended excepting by her young sister, Ethel Roosevelt, who held the bridal bouquet of orchids during the ceremony. Mr. Longworth had as his best man Mr. Thomas Nelson Perkins, of Boston, a life-long friend and college mate. The ushers were also his personal friends.

The bridal gown was one of the most beautiful that was ever worn by an American bride, and was entirely of American manufacture. The material was of exquisite brocade satin made princess style, with a long court train of silver and white brocade. Rare point lace was used as trimming and soft effects were obtained by the use of chiffon and tulle. A long tulle veil completely enveloped the slight figure of the youthful bride. The veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms, and the brocade slippers had tulle bows caught with orange blossom clusters. She wore as her only

TO DISCUSS FRUIT

The ceremony and all events connected with it transpired exactly as planned, the only incident which happened out of the ordinary being the temporary indisposition of Mrs. Wayne McVeigh, one of the distinguished guests, who fainted just before the wedding party appeared. Instead of closing the historic old East Room and having the ceremony performed by the light from the magnificent cut glass chandeliers, the doors and windows were thrown open to admit the glorious sunshine, which beamed down on Washington all day long.

No ceremony of a similar kind was ever witnessed by so distinguished an assembly. Personal representatives of kings and potentates of all the civilized powers of the world and the most eminent representatives of America's Government, high officials in every walk of life, literary, artistic and social lights, captains of industry and many plain, stalwart American citizens were present as guests. The brilliant uniforms of the foreign Ambassadors and Ministers mingled with the gorgeous gowns of the women and the dainty colors of the floral decorations made the scene a memorable one.

Nellie Grant Satoris was the one guest in whom the interest centered, she having been a White House bride herself 32 years ago.

A buffet wedding breakfast was served to the 1100 guests and the bride's health drunk in wine a century old, made by the groom's great-grandfather, whose name he bears. The guests left the White House at 2 o'clock.

Late in the afternoon the bride and groom entered an automobile and were driven to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean, "Friendship," a few miles out of Washington. This is one of the most beautiful residences around the capitol and the locality was first made popular by President Grover Cleveland building a country home there during his administration, where he spent many weeks with his own White House bride.

The White House was beautifully decorated for the occasion of the wedding, care being taken not to use any space that might be utilized by guests.

Over 1000 wedding gifts were showered on the fortunate bride. While their value has been greatly exaggerated, the fact remains that a small fortune was expended in them. Tiffany, the New York jeweler is said to have filled more than $100,000 of orders for the occasion, and the Washington jewelers had to send rush orders to New York a week before the wedding to replenish their stocks.

No bride outside of royalty has ever received presents from so many crowned heads or notable personages. The King of Spain, King of Italy, Emperor of Germany, Emperor of Austria, President of France, Empress of China, Mikado of Japan, Republic of Cuba and Pope Pius X all remembered the young daughter of the President, sending her rare wedding gifts through their representatives at the capital, and with them their best wishes for the happy life that will surely be hers.

The diamond dog collar presented by Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid is presumably the most costly gift of jewels received by the bride. The pearl necklace given by the Republic of Cuba is known to have cost $25,000, and other pieces have been mentioned as costing $15,000 and $18,000. The private view of the gifts permitted intimate friends was given two days before the wedding, and they consisted chiefly of jewelry and rare bric-a-brac. There are necklaces, brooches, rings, bracelets, fans of unique design, clocks, watches, vases, loving cups, punch bowls, pictures, rare laces, exquisite silks and embroideries from the Orient, delicate carvings in ivory, and the precious metals, handsome rugs and tapestries, rare silver and china table services, most of them manufactured from special designs, and every other gift which possibly could make glad the heart of a bride.

The gift which Mrs. Longworth prizes the most highly, aside from those of her husband and parents, is that of her Grandmother Lee, who gave the old family lace and jewels which would have been the bride's own mother's, had she lived.

A private car awaits orders to carry the couple to the South after their honeymoon at "Friendship." The wedding trip will not be a lengthy one, the groom's duties in Congress necessitating an early return, but later in the year a trip abroad is planned.

The bride was showered with rice as she left the White House, and the sunshine, which is said to be so lucky for brides, shone full upon her. As the big auto car wheeled away an old slipper was thrown and landed squarely on the back of the car, where it remained.

GIVE THE COUNTRY A CHANCE.

D. R. Dimick, Who is Qualified and Deserving, Would be Sheriff.

In all political campaigns it is invariably the case that a great majority of the aspirants for nomination to public office come from the city. But it is not to be inferred from this condition that the members of any party organization who may reside in the interior of the county are any the less competent and deserving of these favors. Such is not the case. Men amply qualified, and in every way entitled to ask for nomination and election to any of the offices within the gift of the people are to be found scattered throughout Clackamas county. In the pending campaign this is especially true with respect to the lively scramble that is taking place among the many candidates for the nomination for Sheriff on the Republican ticket.

Among the candidates seeking the nomination to this office is D. R. Dimick, of Canby. Having removed to

D. R. DIMICK, OF CANBY, Candidate for Republican Nomination for Sheriff.

Clackamas county from Marion with his parents when he was but five years of age and having resided in this county ever since, Mr. Dimick may almost be considered a native of this county. In the pursuit of farming and the livery stable business Mr. Dimick has resided in both the Macksburg and Needy precincts, at Wilhoit, Oregon City, and Canby. He has never before asked for county office and in no sense of the term is he an office-seeker, having become a candidate for this nomination at the repeated earnest solicitation of his many friends. He at one time served as constable and he was also town marshal at Canby.

Mr. Dimick cast his first vote for the nominees on the Republican ticket and he has ever since been found a staunch Republican, at all times working for the success of the entire ticket. He has a wide acquaintance of influential friends throughout the county who will exert their every effort to land this nomination for him, feeling that he is entitled to recognition at this time. Mr. Dimick is a man of the strictest integrity whose word is the equivalent of his bond. He is capable of satisfactorily filling the office to which he aspires. If he is nominated and elected to this office, it may be depended upon that his pledge for an efficient and economic administration of the affairs pertaining to that office will be carried out to the letter. In his canvass of the county Mr. Dimick is receiving much encouragement from among Republican voters who will take pleasure in promoting the candidacy of so competent and deserving a man.

Besides being an enthusiastic supporter of every movement calculated to promote the interest of the county, Mr. Dimick has for years been identified with several fraternal orders, among them being the Knights of Pythias, the Red Men and the A. O. U. W.

ORCHARD MAKES CONFESSION.

Implicates Prominent Miners in Steu- enburg Assassination.

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 19.—The special train bearing President Moyer, Secretary Heywood and former Executive Committeeman Pettibone of Western Federation of Miners, made the run from Denver without a single stop at an important station. Changes were invariably made at sidetracks, where in one was advised of the change, and water was taken at tanks on the desert, rather than at the cities and towns passed through.

Representatives of the press were restrained from talking to the prisoners, and not a word, either of denial or confession, could be obtained.

The three men were rushed at once to the State Penitentiary, where they were placed in separate cells, and will be kept there till their preliminary hearing which is not yet decided upon.

Harry Orchard, upon whose alleged confession they were arrested, is also confined there. It is said that Orchard was worked upon after being removed from Canyon County Jail, at Caldwell, to the Penitentiary, until he finally broke down and confessed that it was he that exploded the bomb that killed Steuenberg.

Orchard said it was all arranged that he was to kill Steuenberg on Christmas night, instead of December 30, and he went to the Steuenberg residence with a shot gun to shoot him. He could not kill the Governor that night, however, without also killing members of his family, and the attempt was abandoned.

Orchard then told where the shot-gun was cached, and there officers found it. He also told, it is said, of an attempt to assassinate by bomb one of the Justices of the Colorado Supreme Court some time ago. The bomb failed to explode, saving the Justice's life. Orchard is said to have told officers where they could find this unexploded bomb, and it was found there.

Orchard's confession, it is said, implicates Moyer, Heywood and Pettibone, who were arrested in Denver; St. John, arrested at Burke, Idaho, and Jack Simkins, still at large, and one other man.

The Confession.

With the arrest of Charles H. Moyer and W. D. Heywood, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Western Federation of Miners, and G. A. Pettibone, a member of the executive board, in connection with the assassination of ex-Governor Frank Steuenberg, of Idaho, comes the report of a sensational confession made by Orchard, now in the

According to the rumor, Orchard has made a complete expose of the alleged "inner circle," or Dynamiters' Club, of the Federation. His statement makes the sweeping charge that the Dynamiters' Club has perfected plans to assassinate all who have opposed the Federation. The list of proposed victims includes the members of the State Supreme Court of Colorado, Adjutant-General Bell, ex-Governor Peabody and others. Dynamite bombs are said to have been found planted as traps for the marked official and these have been removed since their whereabouts was made known through Orchard. Several of these infernal machines were to have been exploded some time ago, but those delegated to operate them retreated at the last minute, preferring to wait until the agitation over the Steuenberg case subsided.

The further allegation is made that Orchard and other conspirators were liberally supplied with funds to carry out their plans, and that this money was supplied from the treasury of the Federation. According to the Idaho authorities working on the case, the officials of the Federation must have been aware to what use the money was placed by the dynamiters' Club. This theory of the Idaho people accounts for the arrest of the Federation president and vice-president Saturday. Orchard's confession explains the mystery connected with the dynamite outrage at Independence, the attempt to derail a train and the murder of several prominent mining men.

Moyer, Heywood and Pettibone were seized Saturday night and spirited out of Colorado on a special train Sunday morning, this action being taken to prevent the prisoners from resorting to habeas corpus proceedings. All three suspects have been watched for several days, and they were arrested simultaneously in different parts of Denver when wanted.

WOULD MAKE LAWS

Huntley and Jaggard Will Ask for Re-nomination.

JAGGAR WOULD HAVE INDIVIDUAL APPROPRIATION BILLS.

More Candidates File Notice of Candidacy for Various County Offices.

Frank Jaggard, of Carus, Saturday afternoon filed with the County Clerk notice that he will be a candidate for the nomination as one of the three Representatives from Clackamas county on the Republican ticket. Mr. Jaggard represented Clackamas county in the Lower House of the Oregon Legislature at the last session.

Responding to the urgent solicitations of many Republicans, C. G. Huntley, of this city, who served in the House of Representatives at the sessions of 1903 and 1905, has authorized the statement that he will this week file formal notice that he will also be a candidate for nomination to one of the places on the Republican legislative ticket from this county as Representative.

Mr. Jaggard subscribes to Statement No. 1 of the Direct Primary law and agrees to vote for the people's choice for United States senator without regard to his individual preference. In addition Mr. Jaggard pledges himself to advocate and work for the passage of a bill requiring the enactment of a separate appropriation bill for each item of expenditure of the public funds. He also favors the passage of the law known as the State Grange Bill, taxing express, telegraph and telephone companies on their gross earnings and will labor to secure the amending of the present law regulating the burning of slashings.

The entrance of Jaggard and Huntley into the legislative scramble, although not unexpected, has materially modified the situation and greatly added to the feeling of uncertainty prevalent among the several other aspirants for places on the legislative ticket.

Among the other candidates for places on the legislative ticket are: Gordon E. Hayes, former county judge; George Randall, Henry Stevens, present County Recorder; W. W. Smith, for years door-keeper of the State Senate; E. P. Carter and ex-Representative J. L. Kruse.

For State Senator there are to date but two candidates for this nomination, viz: Senator Brownell, who asks for a re-nomination and a re-election, and L. L. Porter, ex-State Senator, who is conducting a vigorous campaign in hopes of relieving Brownell of the Senatorial toga. Rumor that other candidates for this nomination would enter the race has not yet materialized. But the indications are that the contest will be left to Brownell and Porter.

Voters of the county are very generally registering the total registration to date amounting to about 2100, or nearly one-half of the voting strength of the county. Republican leaders are conducting a great many meetings throughout the county and explaining the details of the Direct Primary. These speakers are accompanied by a notary public and at each meeting many voters, who would, perhaps, otherwise remain unregistered because of the inconvenience of making a special trip to Oregon City, during the rush of farm work, take advantage of the opportunity that is offered and register.

Another Candidate for Sheriff. D. R. Dimick, of Canby, has filed a declaration announcing that he will be a candidate for the nomination of Sheriff on the Republican ticket. This office is being much sought after by the Republicans, of whom there are not less than a dozen aspirants for the nomination. Among those making a vigorous fight for the nomination, besides Mr. Dimick, who is considered one of the strong candidates, are: E. C. Maddock, R. L. Greaves, J. K. Morris, R. E. Woodward, all of this city; W. H. Counsell, of Milwaukie; R. H. Snodgrass, of Meadowbrook.

Candidate for Coroner.

Coroner R. L. Holman has announced that he will be a candidate for re-nomination and reelection on the Republican ticket at the Primary election. Mr. Holman has been coroner for two successive terms and will be opposed for the nomination by the other two undertakers of the city, Frank Newton and W. M. Shank, who have already filed their declarations. If nominated and elected Mr. Holman says that in conducting the affairs of that office he will comply strictly with the law as he has in the past, in an economical manner; that he will use his best judgment regarding the cause and manner of death, that he will investigate thoroughly before holding an inquest and that he will not incur more expense to the taxpayers than is absolutely necessary.

L. E. Jones for Representative.

Linwood E. Jones, member of the drug firm of Howell & Jones, of this city, has announced that he will be a candidate for nomination as State Representative on the Republican ticket. Mr. Jones agrees to support the people's choice for United States Senator, declares for the taxation of franchises, favors the State Grange Bill taxing corporations and stands for a reformation of the normal school system.

Mr. Jones' platform on which he asks this nomination is as follows: "I believe in the people as the source of all political power and in Statement No. 1 as mandatory of their will; I believe in the taxation of franchises; I stand for reformation of the normal school system; I believe that railway passes enter deeply into the corruption of laws regulating railways and I am in favor of an act prohibiting the giving of passes to public servants; I am in favor of the State Grange Bill; I believe that conservative economy should prevail in public service; I am in favor of an act that will improve our country roads; I believe the interests of Clackamas county are essential to its welfare and should not be overlooked; and in the interest of these principles I will continue to work whether elected or not."

WILL BUILD HALL

Milwaukie Grange Accepts Offer of Sellwood Site.

The offer of a building site for a Grange hall in Milwaukie has been accepted by Milwaukie Grange, No. 286, definite action being taken at last Saturday's meeting, says the Telegram.

The Grange has had three propositions under consideration for some weeks past, one of which was an offer of Richard Scott for a tract 100x100, near the schoolhouse, for $400, the debt to run indefinitely at 5 per cent; a second offer was of a tract 200x100, east of the schoolhouse, for $600, of which amount was to be paid in cash. The proposition of the Sellwoods embraced a gift of a lot 90x100 feet, fronting on Washington street, with the sole conditions that the Grange should commence the construction of the hall within six months from the time the transfer is made. The Grange also agrees to pay to the Sellwoods $280 in case the property is ever sold. By a vote of 52 to 2 the donation was accepted. A few members favored the acceptance of one of the other offers because the location was more central and nearer the car line.

Steps will be taken at once by the Grange for the construction of the hall, which will probably be a two story building. John Kelso, Maggie L. Johnson, Mrs. Mary L. Roberts, T. G. Starkweather and J. H. Reid were appointed a finance committee to solicit subscriptions and act in conjunction with the committee on plans, which will be named by the master, Mrs. Julia Casto, to report at the next meeting, showing the size and probable cost. More than $500 is already in sight. Milwaukie Grange has elected Mrs. Mary L. Roberts, H. G. Starkweather and Mrs. J. H. Reid delegates to the county convention, which will meet in Oregon City in March. The alternates are John Kelso, John Freytag and Mrs. Getchell.
