We Have Real Nuggets in Clackamas

There was considerable uneasiness felt in town the first of the week lest we should lose one of our prominent young business men, as the indications seemed favorable for his closing out his interests here at sacrifice with a view of going into the poultry business in Clackamas county. The unfavorable symptoms were brought about by a visit to the home of his parents when his mother, out of the kindness of her heart, sacrificed one of her hens for the Sunday dinner, and behold, a shining nugget was found in the craw. On his return to town Monday, the specimen was shown to several of his chums and all that prevented a veritable Klondike rush to Clackamas was a visit to a jeweler whose test was disappointing. It is evident that some designing person had "salted" the hen.—Newberg Graphic.

Hayward-Vigelius

A pretty home wedding was celebrated in this city Sunday afternoon, February 18, when at the home of the bride's father, John Vigelius, his daughter, Miss Emma Vigelius, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred B. Hayward, of Salem. Rev. W. R. Kraeber, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of this city, performed the ceremony, in the presence of only a small company of invited friends of the contracting parties. The Vigelius home was beautifully decorated in Oregon grape and fern for the event. Miss Edna Hilgers, of Portland, was the flower girl and preceded the bride party into the parlor where the ceremony was performed. She was followed by Mr. C. Farrow, of Salem, the best man, and then came the bride and groom and the bridesmaid, Tillie Diekel, of Portland, whose gown was of white chiffon and she carried pink carnations. The bride was gowned in white silk muslin de sole and carried an arm bouquet of white carnations. Miss Stella Powell caught the bride's bouquet. Following the ceremony refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward left Sunday night for Salem where they will reside. They take with them the hearty best wishes of numerous friends here for much happiness.

THE LIVER QUARANTINE

Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destroying process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver balks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.

A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness.

In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

Death of Olive Howlett

Olive Howlett, the 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Orange L. Barbur, died in this city last Thursday morning after a lingering illness. Death was due to tuberculosis. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, and the interment was in Mountain View Cemetery. Services were held at the grave, Rev. E. S. Bollinger, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating.

Steps May Not Be Disturbed

A re-survey of the bounds of the perpetual franchise recently granted the Southern Pacific Company by the city on Railroad avenue in this city, discloses that the Sixth street steps do not encroach on the rights of the railroad company save but about two inches at their base. The construction force of the railroad company that made the improvements for the company in this city, proceeded to tear down these steps several days ago but were restrained by order of Mayor Casfield until the rights of the city could be determined. It is believed the matter can be amicably adjusted to the end that the steps will be allowed to remain for the accommodation of a considerable part of the city's population residing on the bluff. The matter will not be finally passed upon until a conference is held between the railroad authorities and the city officers.

Says Husband Gambles

Alleging that her husband is a habitual gambler, a fact that she did not know prior to their marriage, and that he obliges her to work and then squanders her earnings at the gaming table are the grounds upon which Maud Clays asks for a divorce from Henry Clays, and the right to resume her maiden name, Maud Cook. The parties were married at Mountain Home, Idaho, in October, 1902. The suit for divorce was filed here Monday.

Ask For More Stationery

When their supply of stationery becomes exhausted, correspondents of the Enterprise will confer a favor on this office by including with their weekly letter a request for another supply, at the same time giving their name and postoffice address. The Enterprise congratulates itself on its able corps of correspondents by whom the news of the county is thoroughly reported every week. With between thirty and forty of these correspondents in the county, it is a difficult matter to remember the names and addresses of the large family and the sending of supplies will be materially facilitated if our reporters will comply with the request that is made herewith.

Let's Have Band Concert

More than a hundred couples attended the second dancing party that was given by the Milwaukie Band at the Armory Hall last Saturday evening and a most enjoyable evening was the product. The band expects to give another dance in this city within a few weeks. J. E. Wetzel informs the Enterprise reporter that if the people of Oregon City will furnish a hall some evening he will bring up the full band numbering more than 20 men and give a free concert. This is a matter the music loving people of the city should take up. Milwaukie has one of the best bands in the state and it would be a treat to hear such a concert as this organization is capable of presenting.

Election of Fire Chief

E. L. McFarland, of the Cataracts, and C. D. Hartmann, of the Fountains, are the rival candidates for election as chief of the Oregon City volunteer fire department at the annual election that will be held on March 5. Fredricks, Fountains. Only members of the volunteer fire department of the city, numbering in the aggregate about 150 men, are entitled to participate in this election which is annually the occasion for an exciting contest. Mr. McFarland, one of the candidates for chief, is the present chief of the city's fire department, having been elected by the Council to fill the unexpired term of Frank McGinnis, the former chief, resigned.

Looking For His Daughter

A special dispatch to the Portland Journal from Seattle under date of the 19th inst., says: "Under circumstances which the police believe to be strange, Anna Vogel, who left her home at Oregon City, December 8, last, is missing in this city. She is 26 years of age, but had seen but little of the world until she left her home. Her aged father is now in Seattle looking for his lost daughter. While in this city he is staying at the Colonnade hotel, on First avenue. The young woman said when she left home that she intended coming to Seattle to go to work. Until February 2 her relatives received no word from her. Then they received a letter, in which she stated she had secured employment in Seattle. Although the letter was put in the postoffice, it was written December 20, and she spoke of the coming Christmas, which would be one of the few she had spent away from her home. Immediately after receiving the letter the father of the young woman came to Seattle and has enlisted the aid of the police to find his daughter."

A Brother of R. Kelland

George Kelland passed away at his home, 2 Spencer street, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the age of 71 years. He went into a small shop in the rear of his house, and as he did not return at the dinner hour his family went to the shop and found him unconscious. A physician was called and pronounced it a case of paralysis. Mr. Kelland lingered until about 5 o'clock, when he passed away. He was born in Bristol, England, the son of George Kelland, and came to Lynn about 50 years ago. He carried on the manufacture of edge irons and other shoe tools for many years, and retired from business about four years ago, was succeeded by his son. He was a member of West Lynn Lodge, I. O. O.

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate Nurse from the Bloctley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizziness. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would swoon after eating, and frequently become nauseated. I had pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad as a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant for many years before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is strictly confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

FRIGHTFULLY BURNED.

NATURE'S WARNING.
Oregon City People Must Recognize and Heed It.
Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously. But nature always warns you through the urine. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlements and sediment, Passages too frequent, scanty, pain-

Deserves Your Patronage.
The growth of a community and the success of its local institutions depends entirely on the loyalty of its people. It is well enough to preach "patronize home industry" but except the service gives at a home institution equals that of out-of-town enterprises, this argument carries no weight and is entirely disregarded, as it should be. But with Oregon City people it is different. A few months ago E. L. Johnson established the Cascade Laundry. It is equipped with the latest improved machinery and is daily turning out work that is equal to any and superior to much of the laundry work that is being done in Portland. Being a home institution and furnishing employment for many Oregon City people it is enjoying an immense patronage. The high standard of the work being done commends it to the general public. Laundry left at the O. K. barber shop will be promptly called for and delivered to any part of the city. Telephone 1204. E. L. Johnson, proprietor.
"Dr. Thomas Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whitacre, Buffalo, New York.
