A LIVING NET.
Peculiar Method of Fishing Used by Natives of Oceania.

A peculiar method of fishing is indulged in by the natives of Tetulla, one of the Islands of Oceania. At a given signal the inhabitants of the village assemble on the seashore to the number of about 200 persons, each of whom carries a branch of cocoa palm. With these in their hands they plunge into the water, and at a certain distance from the shore turn toward it, forming a compact half circle, each one holding his palm branch perpendicularly in the water, and thus forming a sieve.

The leader of the party then gives a signal, and this living net approaches the shore gradually in perfect order, driving before it a multitude of fishes. Surrounded by this living wall and entangled in the cocoa palm branches many of the fishes are cast on the sand by the waves, while others are killed with sticks. After being cooked over hot coals the fish are served with bananas and cocoanut milk.

The scene as described by a Frenchman who visited the island was interesting and picturesque in the extreme, the effect being immensely heightened by the appearance of the natives, whose costume consists of a short tunic of seaweed or leaves. Their hair is powdered with chalk, while the warriors are distinguished by the hair being powdered red. Wreaths of gardenias or red hibiscus are worn on their heads, also round their necks.

AN EXPERT ON LYING.

He Was Allowed to Testify in Court and Won the Case.

A Kansas City lawyer tells of the use of expert testimony on lying. He says: "I was prosecuting attorney for Finney county in 1881, and had a fellow up before Squire N. C. Jones on the charge of horse stealing. He hired Mike Sutton to defend him, and when the case was called I proved beyond question by a witness who witnessed the theft that we had the right man. After the prosecution had rested Sutton introduced 'Buffalo' Jones as a witness and gravely informed the court that he intended to prove by him that my witness had lied. 'Buffalo' took the stand and swore that, while he had never seen or heard of the witness before and knew nothing at all about the crime committed, he had had a great deal of experience with men and could tell pretty certain when they were lying. Then he proceeded to tell how men acted when they were lying, and gave the expert opinion that my witness had sworn to lies from the word go. I protested against such performance, but Sutton made the judge believe he had as much right to introduce an expert on lies as he would have to introduce an expert on medicine or any other science, and the result was the thief was dismissed from custody."

What's in a Name?

Names are nothing, my dear, my dear. Oh, names are nothing the birds declare; The rose if known as a snidge would spread Its fragrance far on the ambient air, And money would still our wants fulfill. If we called it a griffle or named it a space, And the swan if known as the doodle-snock Would always gladden us with her grace. Names are nothing, my dear, my dear. Would the day be dark if we named it night? The loves that lies in maiden's eyes Would still be love, though we called it spite. There's naught in the names that men invent; Call the rose a snidge and t'will still be fair, But think of electing a President who bore the name of Robin Adair.
