the discussion which followed. Miss Ruegg, of Milwaukie ably responded. We then listened to an able discussion by Dr. Robert C. Yenney, Secretany of the State Board of eHalth, on the subject of School Hygiene-the causes and symptoms of contagious diseases, and the necessity of prompt and rigid quarantine. Eighty per cent of our children die of contagious diseases, hence it is the duty of teachers to instruct children regarding the causes of diseases, and to endeavor to enlist the hearty co-operation of par-ents and school officers in checking the spread of such disaster. All school rooms should be fumigated at least once a month by competent persons. We then adjourned for dinner and were treated to a most sumptuous spread of the hospitable ladies of Canemah. The afternoon session was opened by a half-hour program by members of Canemah school, under the direction of Principal W. A. Schmidt. This was followed by vocal selections by Mrs. R. C. Ganong and Miss Grace

Marshall, all of which was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Principal W. W. Dixon, of West
Oregon City, then presented the subject of spelling. This subject should be taught principally through composition. Have children first understand the word, then have them spell it and use it. The spelling-book is a necessary adjunct. Fifty words a week is Use both oral and written spelling.

James Edward reached the required age, and, being a sober and industrious ordered. citizen received his share of the estate amounting to $1750. But John T. McNamara, the other lad, became the prodigal son, his idle and dissolute life landing him in the Oregon state penitentiary where he was serving a sentence when he reached the age of 25 years. Mr. Meldrum, as trustee, did not know of what disposition he should make of the remainder of the trust fund, which, less expenses of administration, amounted to $1378.51, the sister of the deceased having died. He brought the case into court in an ac-tion against James Edward McNamara et al, and after hearing the testimony in the case, Judge McBride decreed that the money be paid over to the son, James Edward, who had lived up to the terms of the will by which he had received his share of the estate several years ago. By the decree of the court the one grandson gets the

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT ing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a womana woman whose experi-ence with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years underherdirection, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing them-selves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation. Women suffering from any form of female weaknessare invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if the does not take advantage of this if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Secretary, pro tem. | Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham. Lynn. Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

SITE FOR NEW MILL.

Plans of Local Company to Build at Willamette Have Been Abandoned.

The Oregon City Planing Mill Co. has acquired the Broughton property, consisting of six acres near Green Point, and will commence the construction of a new plant there at once says the Telegram. The property was formerly the site of the Broughton saw mill, which was abandoned many years ago. The Bank of Oregon City obtained possession and sold the land a few months ago to the Crown Columbia Pulp and Paper Co. It was the original intention of this concern to hold the property as a possible site for a new mill, but a flattering offer was made by the Planing Mill Company which brought about its acquisition.

Some months ago the Oregon City Planing Mill Company was reorganiz-ed, and its capital stock increased. Negotiations were entered into with the Willamette Falls Company, and it was planned to move the mill to Willam ette, where inducements were offered in the shape of light, electric power and a free site. The company planner to build a new planing mill, a sawmill Circuit Judge McBride on Monday, and a dry kiln at Willamette, and was made an order directing the payment about to close a deal when its officers were approached with a proposition um of $1378.51 to James Edward Mc- that involved the abandonment of the Willamette scheme. After a few weeks' consideration, they decided to ing an estate consisting of about $3500 accept the Broughton site, keeping the

The deal will not necessitate the construction of a sawmill as arrange ments have been made to handle the product of local mills. The planing mills will utilize from 40,000 to 50,000 feet of lumber daily, and will build a dry kiln with a capacity of 10,000

The main building will be 40x20 feet, and the plant will involve the expenditure of $20,000. Between 30 and 40 men will be employed. Workmer are already laying out the ground, and the lumber and machinery have been

The main reason for the abandon ment of the Willamette proposition was the advantage of railroad facili ties in Oregon City. Spurs will con nect the mill with both the Souther Pacific and the Oregon Water Powe & Railroad Company.

Steam power will be used, and arengine of 150 horse power has been purchased. A blower system will be installed and the mill will save the cost of fuel, burning its own refuse It is probable that the present mill will be used for storage purposes
