SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCIL

Various Street Improvement Matters To Be Considered.

A special meeting of the City Council has been called for to-night when bids for the improvement of John Quincy Adams street between Sixth and Seventh streets will be opened. The matter of awarding the contract for city printing for the ensuing year and other important matters will engage the attention of the city fathers.

The improvement of Washington street as originally contemplated, extending from Seventh street to the Abernethy bridge, seems to have been abandoned. Property owners desiring this improvement are now circulating another petition asking that this street be improved from Seventh street northerly to Fourteenth street.

Another petition is being circulated among property owners asking for the improvement of Eleventh street back to Jefferson street, Jefferson street from Eleventh to Twelfth street and Twelfth street to Jackson street.

The operation of a party of surveyors, whose mission is a mystery, in making a circuitous survey around Oregon City, has aroused not a little interest as to what is actually contemplated. The surveying party initiated its survey at a point on the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company's Portland-Oregon City line just north of this city and extended its lines easterly following the Abernethy to Newell Creek, thence in a southwesterly direction into the Mt. Pleasant district where the party is now engaged. Nothing of the purpose of the survey or its probable termination can be learned here which serves only to deepen the mystery attending the operations of the party.

Percy R. Caulfield, for the last three years utility clerk in the Oregon City postoffice, has resigned to accept a clerical position in the Bank of Oregon City. As successor to Mr. Caulfield, Postmaster T. P. Randall has appointed Carl Joehnk, who will assume his duties next Monday. The new appointee is a native Clackamas county boy, his home being at Mount Pleasant. He was a member of the crew of the battleship Oregon on its memorable trip around the world. His appointment is subject to the sanction of the postoffice department at Washington.

Saturday night the Milwaukie Band gave its concluding dancing party for this season at the Army. The attendance was large and the party proved the most successful of the winter's series. This musical organization is one of which the people of Milwaukie as well as Clackamas county, have abundant reason to feel proud. J. E. Wetzler is the manager of the organization and he has demonstrated the fact that he is the right man for the place. Manager Wetzler assures the Oregon City people that in appreciation of the very liberal patronage the band has received from the people of Oregon City, it is the purpose of the organization to come to this city and give some open air concerts during the summer. Oregon City people hope the band may find it possible to give more dancing parties next winter.

EXAMINATION FOR RURAL CARRIERS.

Postmaster T. P. Randall has been directed to conduct an examination in this city next Saturday afternoon of applicants for appointment as rural free delivery carriers on any of the routes operated in Clackamas county. The Department desires that at least ten candidates take the examination which will be held in the postoffice building in this city. This is an unusually large number of prospective appointments and may mean that additional routes to those already in operation are to be established.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN IS COMING.

That favorite historical drama, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is always welcome by the American people and endorsed by the pulpit and people of every nationality, will be presented at the Shively Opera House on Wednesday, May 23, by Beeson's Big Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company, a first class company of twenty-five, white and colored.

It is unnecessary to re-tell the pathetic story of the book that immortalized Harriet Beecher Stowe. This portrayal of life of the slavery day will linger as long as the youth of the land reads the history of the days gone by. The new appointee is a native Clackamas county boy, his home being at Mount Pleasant. He was a member of the crew of the battleship Oregon on its memorable trip around the world. His appointment is subject to the sanction of the postoffice department at Washington.

Coroner R. L. Holman yesterday morning received a letter from Elias Smith, of Shenandoah, Iowa, informing him that he, Smith, had found his son, Frank Smith, well and hearty, at Seattle. Mr. Smith is the gentleman who thought perhaps Smith, the desperado, was his son and came to this city and caused Coroner Holman to disinter the remains of the outlaw, but he was unable to identify the body as that of his son. In his letter, Mr. Smith takes occasion to thank Coroner Holman for the consideration he received while in this city on his unpleasant errand.

There is plenty of State School money to be had at 6 per cent interest. Loans can be had from one to ten years. Gordon E. Hayes, agent.

With but few exceptions, all of the candidates nominated by the Republican and Democratic parties for legislative and county offices at the primary election, have qualified by filing with County Clerk Greenman their formal acceptances. The Socialists, who at a convention, named a complete ticket, have filed acceptances for their candidates as well. There will be no Prohibition ticket represented on the official ballot in Clackamas county this year, the members of that party having waived the formality of naming a ticket this year. There are less than 100 registered Prohibitionists in the county.

Eller's Big Show, presenting that famous play Rip Van Winkle with high-class specialties. You make no mistake by going May 19.

The first strawberries of the season produced in Clackamas county, are being retailed in the local market. These come from the fruit tracts of Mrs. F. A. Sleight and W. H. Mandeville, of Canby. They are of the Clark Seedling variety and in quality are second to none, not excepting the Hood River product. These berries find a ready market now at two boxes for 35 cents. Canby is acquiring an enviable reputation for the growing of strawberries of exceptional quality and several carloads are marketed annually from that point. The soil and climatic conditions seem especially adapted to the culture of this luscious fruit.

The operation of a party of surveyors, whose mission is a mystery, in making a circuitous survey around Oregon City, has aroused not a little interest as to what is actually contemplated. The surveying party initiated its survey at a point on the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company's Portland-Oregon City line just north of this city and extended its lines easterly following the Abernethy to Newell Creek, thence in a southwesterly direction into the Mt. Pleasant district where the party is now engaged. Nothing of the purpose of the survey or its probable termination can be learned here which serves only to deepen the mystery attending the operations of the party.
