TERSELY-TOLD TALES OF THE WEEK'S DOINGS.

Cascade Laundry Sold—E. L. Johnson has disposed of the Cascade Laundry, the purchasers being D. C. Heistand and Mr. Winninger, both of Corvallis, who took charge of the property Monday morning. Mr. Johnson installed this laundry plant in the city about two years ago. He will now resume his old place and be found at the O. K. Tonsorial parlors.

Fell From Scaffolding—While engaged in painting the pulley building at the local plant of the Oregon City Manufacturing Company, Fred McCausland, of this city Friday afternoon fell from the scaffolding on which he was working, sustaining a fracture of the left leg just above the ankle. The fracture is considered a serious one, and will incapacitate Mr. McCausland for several weeks.

Monument Unveiled—Sunday about 30 members of Sola Circle, No. 167, Women of Woodcraft, held their annual memorial day services by going to Winona cemetery, near Tualatin, and unveiling a monument that was erected over the grave of Miss Grace Smith. The exercises were conducted by the members of the Circle from this city and the visitors from this city were provided with entertainment by the members of the Tualatin Circle.

Sunday School Class Picnic—F. Leighton Kelly, of the St. Paul's Episcopal Sunday School, entertained the members of his class of boys with an outing on Clear Creek last Friday evening and Saturday. The time was passed in fishing and visiting the hatchery, the party returning home Saturday morning. The guests of Mr. Kelly were: Thornton Howard, Gerald Warner, Don McGlashan, Melton Nobel, Roland Forsberg, and Harold Kelland.

Death at Logan—Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Louisa J. Cromer, who died at her home near Logan, Thursday night, were held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Logan Baptist church and interment took place at Arthur's Prairie cemetery. Mrs. Cromer was aged 66 years and death resulted from kidney trouble, after an illness of two weeks. Besides a husband, the deceased is survived by nine children, five sons and four daughters.

Annual German Picnic—Rain materially interfered with the good time that had been planned by the Germans of Oregon City and vicinity Sunday, when they entertained the German veterans, of Portland. But a good time was had, in spite of the inclement weather. A band from Portland furnished music and dancing was indulged in. Several hundred persons attended the picnic that would have been an immense success had the weather been at all favorable.

Won Prizes at Bench Show—Dr. M. C. Strickland is happy over the result of the awards made at the bench show in Portland. The doctor had only one dog entered, his famous collie, Westland Duke, which took three first prizes and two special cups in the collie class. He won the cup offered by J. C. Ainsworth for the best collie owned in Oregon, the cup offered by W. Friedlander, for the best tri-colored collie, first prize in the winner's class, first prize in open dogs' class and first prize in limit dogs' class.

West Side Teachers—The board of directors of the West Oregon City schools met Saturday night and elected the following teachers for the next school year: T. B. Kindell of Portland, principal; Miss Thibett, Miss Jessie Blank, Miss Grace Robinson; Miss Martha Koerner, Bolton school. The teaching staff has been entirely changed from last year. Miss Bessie Grant, who has been instructor in the primary department for several years past, resigned her position in order to pursue her musical studies.

Acknowledges Contribution—Mayor E. G. Caulfield is in receipt of an official receipt from Jas. D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee of the Relief and Red Cross funds at San Francisco, accompanied by a letter from that gentleman, acknowledging the thanks of the people of that city for the generosity of the people of Oregon City so substantially expressed. In thanking the people for their $1000 cash contribution, Mr. Phelan, says in his letter: "In acknowledging this gift, we appreciate the true spirit of neighborly feeling exhibited by your entire state, during this period of temporary distress."

Buried at St. Johns—Several Oregon City people, on Saturday afternoon, attended the funeral, at St. Johns, of the late James H. Tufts, uncle of J. A. Tufts, of this city. The deceased was 76 years of age and was known to a great many people in this city. He was a native of Maine and went to the State of Wisconsin when a young man, engaging in the lumber business, which he followed until he removed to Oregon a year ago. He is survived by a wife, four sons and a daughter, as follows: Henry and James Tufts, of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Frank and Mose Tufts, of

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST

"Speak for it!" she cried to doggie. For she knew in her little heart, That German Syrup, home's great treasure, Could health and joy impart.

The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive. But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup.

We know by the experience of over thirty-five years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders.

Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

Charman & Co., City Drug Store

St. Johns, and Mrs. Williams, of Vancouver. Those going from this city to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tufts, Mrs. McFarland, Mrs. W. E. Niles, Mrs. H. Montour and Mr. and Mrs. Ward.

Smith Was Noted Wisconsin Outlaw

Frank Smith, the outlaw, who recently killed an officer of the law in Oregon City and two in Woodburn, and was himself killed by a posse near New Era, is probably the same desperado who killed Harry Harris, a deputy sheriff of St. Croix County, Wisconsin, two years ago. A picture of the dead outlaw was sent to his old home, and a deputy sheriff of St. Croix county is of the opinion it is the same desperado that gave that county trouble. While Smith was in Wisconsin, Sheriff Harris received instructions from the officers of Montana to look out for a man answering Smith's description wanted for killing a marshal of a Montana town. Sheriff Harris found Smith on a train. After sitting beside him and engaging the suspect in conversation until convinced that he was the man wanted, the Sheriff undertook to arrest Smith and was shot. He made his escape and was afterwards surrounded by a posse, but through the aid of a sister made a second get-away and

To Parents, Teachers and School Officers of Clackamas County

A letter has been received from the Superintendent of Schools of San Francisco, stating that in the recent disaster that city has lost 34 school buildings which will cost about $6,000,000 and that the teachers who have taught in these buildings cannot be employed, nor the buildings replaced for some time to come, without aid from other sources.

In order to help the children of San Francisco in their great misfortune it is suggested that the children of Oregon be allowed to make contributions of small sums to be used for the erection of school buildings. Many cities all over the United States are interested in this movement, foremost among them the school children of Galveston, Texas, whose public schools were rebuilt and maintained after the storm of 1900 by voluntary contributions from the school children of the United States.

A circular letter from the State Superintendent, endorsing such contributions, has also been received. I therefore suggest that parents and teachers allow children below the high school to contribute not more than 5 cents each, those above that age not to exceed 10 cents each. The Bank of Oregon City and the Commercial Bank have kindly consented to receive such contributions.

Very truly yours,
J. C. ZINSER,
Superintendent of Schools,
Oregon City, Oregon, May 4, 1906.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Howell & Jones, druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

THE BUSINESS COLLEGE OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY.

The fact that a business education, equaled only by the best, is offered by an institution of Clackamas county, is becoming known. Many graduates of the school are now employed in business houses of Oregon City, Portland and in other cities of the Willamette valley. Business men who are employing these young people give the college their hearty endorsement.

A twelve months' course of study is offered. It includes book-keeping, business methods and accounting, arithmetic, penmanship, commercial law, correspondence and applied English. The shorthand course qualifies for office work, reporting, and for passing the Civil Service examinations. The equipment of the college is being added to, and facilities for giving instruction improved. The increased attendance necessitates moving into larger quarters, which have already been arranged for.

A number of persons have planned to enter for the summer course. Special inducements are offered to teachers to fit themselves for teaching the commercial branches in High Schools. Expenses for attending this school are reasonable. Special information given to all who write or apply in person at the office.

THE ALLEN BUSINESS COLLEGE,

Corner 7th and Main Sts., Oregon City, Oregon.

Deserves Your Patronage.

The growth of a community and the success of its local institutions depends entirely on the loyalty of its people. It is well enough to preach "patronize home industry" but except the service given at a home institution equals that of out-of-town enterprises, this argument carries no weight and is entirely disregarded, as it should be. But with Oregon City people it is different. A few months ago E. L. Johnson established the Cascade Laundry. It is equipped with the latest improved machinery and is daily turning out work that is equal to any and superior to much of the laundry work that is being done in Portland. Being a home institution and furnishing employment for many Oregon City people it is enjoying an immense patronage. The high standard of the work being done commends it to the general public. Laundry left at the O. K. barber shop will be promptly called for and delivered to any part of the city. Telephone 1294. E. L. Johnson, proprietor

COLOR OF THE SUN.

What Would Happen if it Were Other Than What it is.

A German astronomer has published some interesting observations on the theoretical effects of a change in the color of the sun. It is amazing to consider the possibilities if our sun were green, blue or red instead of what it is. If it were blue, there would be only two colors in the world—blue and black. If it were red, then everything would be red or black. If it were yellow, everything would be yellow or black. Every one knows that the light at our sun consists of six colors, and the reason things are different hues is that some swallow up five of the colors and reflect only one. Thus we have primoses yellow because they absorb all but the yellow, roses red because they absorb all but the red, violets purple because they absorb everything but red and blue, a mixture of which two colors forms purple.

In the event of the sun being red, roses, blood, red ink and all other things that are now red would reflect it. So also would snow, the lily and all things that are now white, but these would, of course, be red. Everything else would swallow up the red light and appear quite black. Grass, for instance, would be black as ink, and so would the blue of the sky, but the white clouds would be red. The same kind of thing would happen if the sun were blue. Everything now blue or white would be blue and everything else black. The whole sky, clouds and all, would be blue. The grass this time would be blue, not black, for it reflects both blue and yellow. Hair would be all black, the red of the lips would be black, and the rest of the face would be a cloudy blue. If the sun were green, we would have a little variety. Things that are now yellow would still be yellow, things that are blue would be blue, and things that are green would still be green, but there would be no reds, purples, orange, pinks or any of those cheery hues that make the world look so bright.—New York Herald.

THE BAYEUX TAPESTRY.

An Extraordinary Work of Art of Great Historic Value.

Few besides those who have visited Bayeux or have especially studied the subject have any idea of what this extraordinary work of art is really like or have any authentic knowledge of its history. It tells the story of Edward, Harold and William and of the conquest of William in a series of pictures, so that its value is great as a chronicle as well as a relic of needlework 800 years old.

The vicissitudes of the treasure have been many. It is a curious fact that from 1476 until 1724 it seems to have dropped entirely out of the world's knowledge. It was preserved with care among the treasures of the Bayeux cathedral and was brought out for eight days every summer and hung about the nave of the cathedral. No one but the peasants ever saw it, and the cathedral authorities cared for it only as a decoration. In 1724 an old drawing of part of the tapestry came into the hands of a learned antiquarian, who tried without success to find the original. The Pere Montfaucon also tried to find it and at last succeeded and told the world about it in his great book, "Monuments de la Monarchie Francaise."

The church had no power to protect such a treasure in 1724, and the ancient length of linen with its quaint embroidery was dragged out of the cathedral and used to cover one of the military wagons belonging to the local battalion. M. le Forestier rushed to its rescue and substituted a canvas to cover the wagon and brought the tapestry to his study till he was relieved from his self appointed mission by a commission that undertook the protection of the work of art. Now the tapestry has been restored and may be seen framed under glass in a museum of its own.

Breaking Eggs For a Living.

A correspondent of a contemporary who has been searching for the most monotonous method of earning a living decides in favor of that of cracking eggs. "I met a man who said he was a biscuit manufacturer on a large scale and was rather inclined to boast about the number of eggs—continental eggs—which his firm bought in the course of a year. Now, it seems that to avoid calamity five eggs are broken into a bowl at a time before being added to the common stock. There are men, he told me, who do nothing else but crack eggs. They become so expert that a man can dispose of 1,000 an hour, or 10,000 a day."—London Star.

Discouraged.

"Mamma," remarked Dottie, "if I get married when I grow up will I have a husband like papa?"

"I suppose so, dear," said mamma.

"An' if I don't get married I'll be an old maid, like Cousin Charlotte, won't I?"

"I guess you will, pet. Why?"

"Oh, nothin'—only I wish I was a boy!"—Cleveland Leader.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Finkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Finkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Finkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Finkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Finkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Finkham: "I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female troubles and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.
